Reading To Write A Practical Rhetoric:

Reading to Write Kathleen A. Kelly, 1990-01-01 Reading, Writing, and the Rhetorics of Whiteness Wendy Ryden, Ian Marshall, 2013-03 In this volume Ryden and Marshall bring together the field of composition and rhetoric with critical whiteness studies to show that in our post race era whiteness and racism not only survive but actually thrive in higher education As they examine the effects of racism on contemporary literacy practices and the rhetoric by which white privilege maintains and reproduces itself Ryden and Marshall consider topics ranging from the emotional investment in whiteness to the role of personal narrative in reconstituting racist identities to critiques of the foundational premises of writing programs steeped in repudiation of despised discourses Marshall and Ryden alternate chapters to sustain a multi layered dialogue that traces the rhetorical complexities and contradictions of teaching English and writing in a university setting Their lived experiences as faculty and administrators serve to underscore the complex code of whiteness even as they push to decode it and demonstrate how their own pedagogical practices are raced and racialized in multiple ways Collectively the essays ask instructors and administrators to consider more carefully the pernicious nature of whiteness in their professional activities and how it informs our practices

The Rhetoric of Videogames as Embodied Practice Steve Holmes, 2017-09-11 The Rhetoric of Videogames as Embodied Practice offers a critical reassessment of embodiment and materiality in rhetorical considerations of videogames Holmes argues that rhetorical and philosophical conceptions of habit offer a critical resource for describing the interplay between thinking writing and rhetoric and embodiment The book demonstrates how Aristotle's understanding of character ethos habit hexis and nature physis can productively connect rhetoric to what Holmes calls procedural habits the ways in which rhetoric emerges from its interactions with the dynamic accumulation of conscious and nonconscious embodied experiences that consequently give rise to meaning procedural subjectivity control and communicative agency both in digital game design discourse and the activity of play Resources in Education, 2001 to this work by offering strategies for sustaining reading and cultivating writing in this landscape of changing digital literacies The book is essential for the professional development of beginning teachers who will appreciate the historical and bibliographic overview as well as classroom strategies and for busy veteran teachers who will gain updated knowledge and a renewed commitment to teaching an array of literacy skills It will be ideal for graduate seminars in composition theory and pedagogy both undergraduate and graduate and teacher education courses and will be key reading for scholars in rhetoric and composition interested in composition history assessment communication studies and literature pedagogy

Reading and Writing for Civic Literacy Donald Lazere, 2017-07-05 Lazere's book is heaven sent and will provide a crucial link in the chain of understanding how conflicts are structured and most importantly how they can be rationally addressed a healthy antidote to the scepticism that has become so pervasive in academic life Alan Hausman Hunter College This innovative book addresses the need for college students to develop critical reading writing and thinking skills for self defence in the contentious arena of American civic rhetoric In a groundbreaking reconception of composition theory it presents a comprehensive critical perspective on American public discourse and practical methods for its analysis Exercises following the text sections and readings help students understand the ideological positions and rhetorical patterns that underlie opposing viewpoints in current controversies such as the growing inequality of wealth in America and its impact on the finances of college students as expressed in paired sets of readings from the political left and right Widely debated issues of whether objectivity is possible and whether there is a liberal or conservative bias in news and entertainment media as well as in education itself are foregrounded as topics for rhetorical analysis

The Practice of Rhetoric Debra Hawhee, Vessela Valiavitcharska, 2022-10-18 Rhetoric broadly conceived as the art of making things matter is both a practice and theory about that practice In recent decades scholars of rhetoric have turned to approaches that braid together poetics performance and philosophy into a practical art By practical art they mean methods tested in practice by trial and error with a goal of offering something useful and teachable This volume presents just such an account of rhetoric The account here does not turn away from theory but rather presumes and incorporates theoretical approaches offering a collection of principles assembled in the heat and trials of public practice The approaches ventured in this volume are inspired by the capacious conception of rhetoric put forth by historian of rhetoric Jeffrey Walker who is perhaps best known for stressing rhetoric's educational mission and its contributions to civic life The Practice of Rhetoric is organized into three sections designed to spotlight in turn the importance of poetics performance and philosophy in rhetorical practice The volume begins with poetics stressing the world making properties of that word in contexts ranging from mouse infested medieval fields to the threat of toxin ridden streams in the mid twentieth century Susan C Jarratt for instance probes the art of ekphrasis or vivid description and its capacity for rendering alternative futures Michele Kennerly explores a little studied linguistic predecessor to prose logos psilos or naked speech exposing the early rumblings of a separation between poetic and rhetorical texts even as it

historicizes the idea of clothed or ornamented speech In an essay on the almost magical properties of writing Debra Hawhee considers the curious practice of people writing letters to animals in order to banish or punish them thereby casting the epistolary arts in a new light Part 2 moves to performance Vessela Valiavitcharska examines the intertwining of poetic rhythm and performance in Byzantine rhetorical education and how such practices underlie the very foundations of oratory Dale Martin Smith draws on the ancient stylistic theory of Dionysius of Halicarnassus along with the activist work of contemporary poets Amiri Baraka and Harmony Holiday to show how performance and persuasion unify rhetoric and poetics Most treatments of philosophy and rhetoric begin within a philosophical framework and remain there focusing on old tools like stasis and disputation Essays in part 3 break out of that mold by focusing on the utility and teachability of rhetorical principles in education Jeanne Fahnestock and Marie Secor update stasis a classical framework that encourages aspiring rhetors to ask after the nature of things their facts and their qualities as a way of locating an argument's position Mark Garrett Longaker probes the medieval practice of disputation in order to marshal a new argument about why exactly John Locke detested rhetoric and the longstanding opposition between science and rhetoric as modes of proof that has lasting implications for the way argument works today Ranging across centuries and contexts the essays collected here demonstrate the continued need to attend carefully to the co operation of descriptive language and normative reality conceptual vocabulary and material practice public speech and moral self shaping The volume promises to rekindle long standing conversations about the public world making practice of rhetoric thereby enlivening anew its civic mission

Jesus, Rhetoric and Law Henderson, 2021-09-06 This study

locates pre gospel orality and gospel literacy within Greco Roman rhetorical norms for education and performance Heavy use of a few basic rhetorical conventions marks the gospel tradition as a marginal yet rhetorically competent attempt to create a Christian public The book identifies gnomic sayings as the thickest available sample of gospel rhetorics an alternative to samples based on chreia and parable Gnome use is central throughout ancient rhetorical theory and practice Gnome is therefore an especially good focus for comparative study particularly of characterisation and legal topicality This work establishes a credible model of interaction among the speech habits of Jesus those of early Christian oral tradition and the innovative rhetorics of gospel and epistolary texts The plurality of rhetorical criticisms current in New Testament studies is also addressed Essays on Classical Rhetoric and Modern Discourse Robert J. Connors, Lisa S. Ede, Andrea A.

Lunsford, 1984 Eighteen essays by leading scholars in English speech communication education and philosophy explore the vitality of the classical rhetorical tradition and its influence on both contemporary discourse studies and the teaching of writing Some of the essays investigate the rhetorical and historical issues Others show the bearing of classical rhetoric on contemporary problems in composition thus blending theory and practice Common to the varied approaches and viewpoints expressed in this volume is one central theme the 20th century revival of rhetoric entails a recovery of the classical tradition with its marriage of a rich and fully articulated theory with an equally efficacious practice A preface demonstrates the contribution of Edward P. J. Corbett to the 20th century revival and a last chapter includes a bibliography of his works

Academic Literacy and the Nature of Expertise Cheryl Geisler, 2013-11-05 The first full length account integrating both the cognitive and sociological aspects of reading and writing in the academy this unique volume covers educational research on reading and writing rhetorical research on writing in the disciplines cognitive research on expertise in ill defined problems and sociological and historical research on the professions The author produced this volume as a result of a research program aimed at understanding the relationship between two concepts literacy and expertise which traditionally have been treated as quite separate phenomena A burgeoning literature on reading and writing in the academy has begun to indicate fairly consistent patterns in how students acquire literacy practices This literature shows furthermore that what students do is quite distinct from what experts do While many have used these results as a starting point for teaching students how to be expert the author has chosen instead to ask about the interrelationship between expert and novice practice seeing them both as two sides of the same project a cultural historical professionalization project aimed at establishing and preserving the professional privilege The consequences of this professionalization project are examined using the discipline of academic philosophy as the site for the author's investigations Methodologically unique these investigations combine rhetorical analysis protocol analysis and the analysis of classroom discourse The result is a complex
