Roman Legionary:

Roman Legionary 109-58 BC Ross Cowan,2017-11-30 The Roman centurion holding the legionaries steady before the barbarian horde and then leading them forward to victory was the heroic exemplar of the Roman world This was thanks to the Marian reforms which saw the centurion although inferior in military rank and social class superseding the tribune as the legion's most important officer This period of reform in the Roman Army is often overlooked but the invincible armies that Julius Caesar led into Gaul were the refined products of 50 years of military reforms Using specially commissioned artwork and detailed battle reports this new study examines the Roman legionary soldier at this crucial time in the history of the Roman Republic from its domination by Marius and Sulla to the beginning of the rise of Julius Caesar Legionary Philip Matyszak,2013-10-21 An insider's guide how to join the Roman legions wield a gladius storm cities and conquer the world Your emperor needs you for the Roman army The year is AD 100 and Rome stands supreme and unconquerable from the desert sands of Mesopotamia to the misty highlands of Caledonia Yet the might of Rome rests completely on the armored shoulders of the legionaries who hold back the barbarian hordes and push forward the frontiers of empire This carefully researched yet entertainingly nonacademic book tells you how to join the Roman legions the best places to serve and how to keep your armor from getting rusty Learn to march under the eagles of Rome from training campaigns and battle to the glory of a Roman Triumph and retirement with a pension plan Every aspect of army life is discussed from drill to diet with handy tips on topics such as how to select the best boots or how to avoid being skewered by enemy spears Combining the latest archaeological discoveries with the written records of those who actually saw the Roman legions in action this book provides a vivid picture of what it meant to be a Roman legionary Roman Legionary AD 69-161 Ross Cowan,2013-04-20 Between AD 69 and 161 the composition of the Roman legions was transformed Italians were almost entirely replaced by provincial recruits men for whom Latin was at best a second language and yet the Roman-ness of these Germans Pannonians Spaniards Africans and Syrians fostered in isolated fortresses on the frontiers was incredibly strong They were highly competitive jealous of their honour and driven by the need to maintain and enhance their reputations for virtus that is manly courage and excellence The warfare of the period from the huge legion versus legion confrontations in the Civil War of AD 69 through the campaigns of conquest in Germany Dacia and Britain to the defence of the frontiers of Africa and Cappadocia and the savage quelling of internal revolts gave ample opportunity for virtus enhancing activity The classic battle formation that had baffled Pyrrhus and conquered Hannibal was revived Heroic centurions continued to lead from the front and common legionaries vied with them in displays of valour The legions of the era may have been provincial but they were definitely Roman in organisation and ethos Roman Legionary vs Carthaginian Warrior David Campbell,2018-08-23 The peace that followed the First Punic War was shallow and fractious with the resumption of hostilities in 218 BC sparked by Carthaginian expansion in Iberia seeing Rome suffer some of the worst defeats in her entire history The Carthaginian army was a composite affair primarily made up of a number of levies from Africa and around the Mediterranean augmented by mercenaries and allies and these troops crushed the Roman heavy infantry maniples in a series of battles across Southern Europe. Improvements made to their military however would see Roman revenge visited on Hannibal in full measure by Scipio who would beat him at his own game and bring Roman legions to the gates of Carthage itself. In this study the epic battles at Lake Trasimene 217 BC, Cannae 216 BC and Ilipa 206 BC are explored in detail supported by carefully chosen illustrations and specially commissioned full colour artwork and mapping.

Barbarian Warrior vs Roman Legionary Murray Dahm, 2024-01-18. This engrossing book pits the legionaries of Imperial Rome against their Germanic and Sarmatian opponents in the 2nd century AD. Shortly after Marcus Aurelius came to power in AD 161 the Roman Empire was racked by a series of military crises. While unrest in Britain and a new war with Parthia were swiftly dealt with, the invasion of Roman territory by the Chatti and Chauci peoples heralded a resurgent threat from the empire's European neighbours. Soon the Marcomanni and the Quadi, as well as the Dacians and the Sarmatian Iazyges, would attack the Romans in a series of savage conflicts that continued until AD 175 and would see the first invasion of Roman Italy since the beginning of the 1st century BC. In this book the two sides' objectives, weapons and equipment and fighting styles are assessed and compared in the context of three featured battles: Carnuntum 170 where a Roman legion was vanquished and Italy invaded; the Battle on the Ice 172 where the Romans fought their lighter armed Iazyges opponents on the frozen Danube; and the so-called Miracle of the Rain 174 during which a trapped Roman force facing annihilation was able to defeat numerically superior Germanic forces. Photographs, specially commissioned artwork, plates and mapping complement the authoritative text in this engrossing study of Imperial Rome at war.

Roman Legionary vs Gallic Warrior David Campbell, 2021-04-15. In the manner of many Roman generals, Caesar would write his domestic political ambitions in the blood and treasure of foreign lands. His governorship of Cisalpine Gaul gave him the opportunity to demonstrate the greatness of his character to the people of Rome through the subjugation of those outside Rome's borders. The fact that the main account of the subsequent wars in Gaul was written by Caesar himself is by far the most detailed history of the subject with new reports issued annually for the eager audience at home. It is no accident the Roman Army of the late Republic had long been in the process of structural change moving towards the all-volunteer permanent standing force that would for centuries be the bulwark of the coming Empire. Well armed and armoured, this professional army was trained to operate within self-supporting legions with auxiliaries employed in roles the legions lacked such as light troops or cavalry. The Roman legions were in many ways a modern force with formations designed around tactical goals and held together by discipline, training and common purpose. The armies fielded by the tribes of Gaul were for the most part lightly armed and armoured with fine cavalry and a well deserved reputation for ferocity. As might be expected from a region made up of different tribes with a range of needs and interests, there was no consensus on how to make war though when large armies were gathered it was usually with the express purpose of bringing the enemy to heel in a pitched battle For most Gauls and certainly the military elites of the tribes battle was an opportunity to prove their personal courage and skill raising their status in the eyes of friends and foes alike Fully illustrated this study investigates the Roman and Gallic forces pitched into combat in three battles Bibracte 58 BC Sabis 57 BC and Gergovia Alesia 52 BC Although charismatic Gallic leaders did rise up notably Dumnorix of the Aedui and later Vercingetorix of the Arverni and proved to be men capable of bringing together forces that had the prospect of checking Caesar's ambitions in the bloodiest of ways it would not be enough For Caesar his war against the Gauls provided him with enormous power and the springboard he needed to make Rome his own though his many domestic enemies would ensure that he did not long enjoy his success
