Roman Small Towns In Eastern England And Beyond:

Roman Small Towns in Eastern England and Beyond Anthony Ernest Brown, 1995 A collection of 19 papers from a conference held at Knutston Hall in December 1992 Papers include Roman small towns and medieval small towns the plan of Romano British Baldock Hertfordshire and new thoughts on town defences in the western territory of the Catuvellauni

Regional Urban Systems in the Roman World, 150 BCE - 250 CE, 2019-12-16 The focus of Regional Urban Systems in the Roman World is on urban hierarchies and interactions in large geographical areas rather than on individual cities Based on a painstaking examination of archaeological and epigraphic evidence relating to more than 1 000 cities the volume offers comprehensive reconstructions of the urban systems of Roman Gaul North Africa Sicily Greece and Asia Minor In addition it examines the transformation of the settlement systems of the Iberian Peninsula and the central and northern Balkan following the imposition of Roman rule Throughout the volume regional urban configurations are examined from a rich variety of perspectives ranging from climate and landscape administration and politics economic interactions and social relationships all the way to region specific ways of shaping the townscapes of individual cities Towns in the Dark Gavin Speed, 2014-07-28 The focus of this book is to draw together still scattered data to chart and interpret the changing nature of life in towns from the late Roman period through to the mid Anglo Saxon period Did towns fail Were these ruinous sites really neglected by early Anglo Saxon settlers and leaders Beyond the Medieval Village Stephen Rippon, 2008-11-27 The varied character of Britain's countryside and towns provides communities with a strong sense of local identity One of the most significant features of the southern British landscape is the way that its character differs from region to region with compact villages in the Midlands contrasting with the sprawling hamlets of East Anglia and isolated farmsteads of Devon Even more remarkable is the very English feel of the landscape in southern Pembrokeshire in the far south west of Wales Hoskins described the English landscape as the richest historical record we possess and in this book Stephen Rippon explores the origins of regional variations in landscape character arguing that while some landscapes date back to the centuries either side of the Norman Conquest other areas across southern Britain underwent a profound change around the 8th century AD

Roman Infrastructure in Early Medieval Britain Mateusz Fafinski, 2025-10-01 Early Medieval Britain was more Roman than we think The Roman Empire left vast infrastructural resources on the island These resources lay buried not only in dirt and soil but also in texts laws chronicles charters even churches and landscapes This book uncovers them and shows how they shaped Early Medieval Britain Infrastructures material and symbolic can work in ways that are not immediately obvious and exert an influence long after their creators have gone Infrastructure can also rest dormant and be reactivated with a changed function role and appearance This is not a simple story of continuity and discontinuity It is a story of adaptation and transformation of how the Roman infrastructural past was used and re used and also how it influenced the later societies of Britain The Oxford Handbook of Roman Britain Martin Millett, Louise Revell, Alison Jane Moore, 2016

This handbook is currently in development with individual articles publishing online in advance of print publication. At this time we cannot add information about unpublished articles in this handbook; however, the table of contents will continue to grow as additional articles pass through the review process and are added to the site. Please note that the online publication date for this handbook is the date that the first article in the title was published online. Roman Britain is a critical area of research within the provinces of the Roman empire. Within the last 15-20 years, the study of Roman Britain has been transformed through an enormous amount of new and interesting work which is not reflected in the main stream literature.

The Urbanisation of the North-Western Provinces of the Roman Empire Frida Pellegrino, 2020-11-26. This study investigates the development of urbanism in the north western provinces of the Roman empire. Key themes include continuity and discontinuity between pre-Roman and Roman urban systems, relationships between juridical statuses and levels of monumentality, levels of connectivity and economic integration and regional urban hierarchies.

Mapping Landscapes in Transformation Krista De Jonge, 2019-06-19. The relational complexity of urban and rural landscapes in space and in time. The development of historical geographical information systems (HGIS) and other methods from the digital humanities have revolutionised historical research on cultural landscapes. Additionally, the opening up of increasingly diverse collections of source material, often incomplete and difficult to interpret, has led to methodologically innovative experiments. One of today's major challenges, however, concerns the concepts and tools to be deployed for mapping processes of transformation that is interpreting and imagining the relational complexity of urban and rural landscapes both in space and in time at micro and macro scale. Mapping Landscapes in Transformation gathers experts from different disciplines active in the fields of historical geography, urban and landscape history, archaeology and heritage conservation. They are specialised in a wide variety of space-time contexts including regions within Europe, Asia and the Americas and periods from antiquity to the 21st century.

An Archaeology of Identity Andrew Gardner, 2016-09-16. What happened to Roman soldiers in Britain during the decline of the empire in the 4th and 5th centuries? Did they withdraw, defect or go native? More than a question of military history, this is the starting point for Andrew Gardner's incisive exploration of social identity in Roman Britain in the Roman Empire and in ancient society. Drawing on the sociological theories of Anthony Giddens and others, Gardner shapes an approach that focuses on the central role of practice in the creation and maintenance of identities.

nationalist gendered class and ethnic This theory is then tested against the material remains of Roman soldiers in Britain to show how patterning of stratigraphy architecture and artifacts supports his theoretical construct The result is a retelling of the story of late Roman Britain sharply at odds with the traditional text driven histories and a theory of human action that offers much to current debates across the social sciences

Sacred Landscapes in Antiquity Ralph Haussler, Gian Franco Chiai, 2020-07-31

From generation to generation people experience their landscapes differently Humans depend on their natural environment it shapes their behavior while it is often felt that deities responsible for both natural benefits and natural calamities such as droughts famines floods and landslides need to be appeased We presume that in many societies lakes rivers rocks mountains caves and groves were considered sacred Individual sites and entire landscapes are often associated with divine actions mythical heroes and etiological myths Throughout human history people have also felt the need to monumentalize their sacred landscape But this is where the similarities end as different societies had very different understandings beliefs and practices The aim of this new thematic appraisal is to scrutinize carefully our evidence and rethink our methodologies in a multi disciplinary approach More than 30 papers investigate diverse sacred landscapes from the Iberian peninsula and Britain in the west to China in the east They discuss how to interpret the intricate web of ciphers and symbols in the landscape and how people might have experienced it We see the role of performance ritual orality textuality and memory in people's sacred landscapes A diachronic view allows us to study how landscapes were rewritten adapted and redefined in the course of time to suit new cultural political and religious understandings not to mention the impact of urbanism on people's understandings A key question is how was the landscape manipulated transformed and monumentalized especially the colossal investments in monumental architecture we see in certain socio historic contexts or the creation of an alternative humanmade seemingly non natural landscape with perfectly astronomically aligned buildings that define a cosmological order Sacred Landscapes therefore aims to analyze the complex links between landscape religiosity and society developing a dialectic framework that explores sacred landscapes across the ancient world in a dynamic holistic contextual and historical perspective
