photographer and performance artist Nikki Lee and asserts that the depiction of community is a central component to photography Louis Kaplan deploys a number of critical concepts and theories developed by Jean Luc Nancy in The Inoperative Community as well as other philosophers and applies them to the field of photography studies With an original approach to photography from Edward Steichen's Family of Man exhibition to Pedro Meyer and the rise of the digital image Kaplan points to a new way to think about the intimate relationship among photography American life and the artistic imagination Back cover

On the Corner Daniel Matlin, 2013-11-01 In July 1964 after a decade of intense media focus on civil rights protest in the Jim Crow South a riot in Harlem abruptly shifted attention to the urban crisis embroiling America's northern cities On the Corner revisits the volatile moment when African American intellectuals were thrust into the spotlight as indigenous interpreters of black urban life to white America and when black urban communities became the chief objects of black intellectuals perceived social obligations Daniel Matlin explores how the psychologist Kenneth B Clark the literary author and activist Amiri Baraka and the visual artist Romare Bearden each wrestled with the opportunities and dilemmas of their heightened public stature Amid an often fractious interdisciplinary debate black intellectuals furnished sharply contrasting representations of black urban life and vied to establish their authority as indigenous interpreters In time however Clark Baraka and Bearden each concluded that acting as interpreters for white America placed dangerous constraints on black intellectual practice On the Corner reveals how the condition of entry into the public sphere for African American intellectuals in the post civil rights era has been confinement to what Clark called the topic that is reserved for blacks

1971 Darby English, 2016-12-20 In this book art historian Darby English explores the year 1971 when two exhibitions opened that brought modernist painting and sculpture into the burning heart of United States cultural politics Contemporary Black Artists in America at the Whitney Museum of American Art and The DeLuxe Show a racially integrated abstract art exhibition presented in a renovated movie theater in a Houston ghetto 1971 A Year in the Life of Color looks at many black artists desire to gain freedom from overt racial representation as well as their efforts and those of their advocates to further that aim through public exhibition Amid calls to define a black aesthetic these experiments with modernist art prioritized cultural interaction and instability Contemporary Black Artists in America highlighted abstraction as a stance against normative approaches while The DeLuxe Show positioned abstraction in a center of urban blight The importance of these experiments English argues came partly from color's special status as a cultural symbol and partly from investigations of color already under way in late modern art and criticism With their supporters black modernists among them Peter Bradley Frederick Eversley Alvin Loving Raymond Saunders and Alma Thomas rose above the demand to represent or be represented compromising nothing in their appeals for interracial collaboration and above all responding with optimism rather than cynicism to the surrounding culture's preoccupation with color
