Psychological Perspectives on Risk and Risk Analysis Martina Raue, Eva Lerner, Bernhard Streicher, 2018-09-18 This authoritative collection goes beyond economic statistics and probability data to offer a robust psychological understanding of risk perception and risk taking behavior. Expert contributors examine various risk domains in life and pinpoint cognitive, emotional, and personality factors contributing to individual differences in risk taking as well as the many nuances social demographics e.g. culture, gender bring to risk decisions. Coverage takes competing theories and studies into account to identify mechanisms involved in processing and acting on uncertainty. And implications and applications are demonstrated in varied fields from updated risk models for the insurance sector to improved risk communication in health services to considering risk perception in policy decisions. A sampling of the topics: Personality and risk beyond daredevils, risk taking from a temperament perspective, Cognitive developmental and neurobiological aspects of risk judgments, The group effect, social influences on risk identification, analysis and decision making, Cognitive architectures as a scaffolding for risky choice models, Improving understanding of health relevant numerical information, Risk culture as a framework for improving competence in risk management. Psychological Perspectives on Risk and Risk Analysis will be of great interest to researchers in and outside of psychology including decision making experts and behavioral economists. Additionally, this volume will appeal to practitioners who often have to make risky decisions such as managers and physicians. Communication

Perspectives on HIV/AIDS for the 21st Century Timothy Edgar, Seth M. Noar, Vicki S. Freimuth, 2009-04-09 Reflecting the current state of research into the communication aspects of HIV/AIDS, this volume explores AIDS-related communication scholarship moving forward from the 1992 publication AIDS: A Communication Perspective. Editors Timothy Edgar, Seth M. Noar, and Vicki S. Freimuth have developed this up-to-date collection to focus on today's key communication issues in the HIV/AIDS epidemic. Chapters herein examine the interplay of the messages individuals receive about AIDS at the public level as well as the messages exchanged between individuals at the interpersonal level. Acknowledging how the face of HIV/AIDS has changed since 1992, the volume promotes the perspective that an understanding of effective communication through both mediated and interpersonal channels is essential to winning the continued battle against AIDS. Issues addressed here include: Social stigma associated with the disease, social support and those living with HIV/AIDS and the current state of HIV testing, Parent-child discussions surrounding HIV/AIDS and safer sexual behavior and cultural sensitivity relating to developing HIV prevention and sex education programs, The effectiveness of health campaigns to impact attitudes, norms, and behavior as well as the current state of entertainment education and its ability to contribute to HIV prevention, News media coverage of HIV/AIDS and the impact of the agenda-setting function on public opinion and policy making, Health literacy and its importance to the health and well-being of those undergoing HIV treatment, The role of technological innovations, most notably the Internet, used for both prevention interventions as well as risky behavior. The volume also includes exemplars that showcase the diversity of approaches to health communication used to combat the HIV AIDS epidemic These cases include interpersonal and mass communication mediums traditional along with new media and technology research by academics and practitioners individual as well as community based approaches work based in the United States and internationally and campaigns directed at at risk HIV positive as well as general populations With new topics new contributors and a broadened scope this book goes beyond a revision of the 1992 volume to reflect the current state of communication research on HIV AIDS across key contexts It is designed for academics researchers practitioners and students in health communication health psychology and other areas of AIDS research As a unique examination of communication research it makes an indelible contribution to the growing knowledge base of communication approaches to combating HIV AIDS Contemporary Perspectives On needed in the age of barebacking Anyone searching for nondisciplinary ways to slow the spread of HIV AIDS among gay men or interested in new modes of thinking about gay male subjectivity should read this book David M Halperin is W H Auden Collegiate Professor of the History and Theory of Sexuality Professor of English Professor of Women s Studies Professor of Comparative Literature and Adjunct Professor of Classical Studies at the University of Michigan The Oxford Handbook of Environmental and Conservation Psychology Susan D. perspective Coreferential files refer to the same object and present the object under different perspectives Files thus give us a concrete way to capture perspectives with the tools for basic object cognition This book introduces mental files theory in relation to object files and discourse referents and then applies it to the development of perspective taking in early childhood and to brain imaging The theory goes well beyond perspective it is the theoretical tool for representing persisting objects tracking them over time and storing knowledge about them From a leading figure in developmental psychology this book addresses a topic much neglected in the cognitive sciences The Context and Content series is a forum for outstanding original research at the intersection of philosophy linguistics and cognitive science The general editor is Fran ois Recanati Institut Jean Nicod Paris

Psychosocial Perspectives on Aids Lydia Temoshok, Andrew S. Baum, 2013-05-13 AIDS and the virus that causes it have challenged the world's scientists health care systems and public health policies as much or more than any medical problem in recorded history Perhaps this is so because this particular infirmity constitutes more than a merely medical problem it is enmeshed in psychological social cultural political and economic contexts This book examines the need for pragmatic and research based suggestions on how to address some important problems related to these contexts Although much basic research in virology and immunology can be accomplished within the biomedical domain biobehavioral disciplines such as behavioral medicine offer more opportunities for the comprehensive approach necessary to confront the AIDS HIV problem The editors of this groundbreaking volume suggest that the very nature of this constantly evolving problem encourages an approach to research and intervention prevention efforts that emphasizes flexibility of response to changing knowledge patterns of the pandemic new treatments and shifts in public opinion and behavior A major triumph in dealing with this phenomenon would include a bridging of the gap between research and applied efforts which has been the largest obstacle for progress to date In this book such previously uncharted territory is explored opening a host of new possibilities for dealing with the very real threat of AIDS

Psychodynamic Perspectives on Working with Children, Families, and Schools Michael O'Loughlin, 2012-12-08 With the push toward accountability and test performance in schools there has been a decline in emphasis on creativity imagination and feelings in schools Psychodynamic Perspectives on Working with Children Families and Schools is designed for students and professionals who are interested in restoring such values to their work with children There is an absence of psychoanalytic ways of thinking in conventional professional discourses of schooling With a few notable exceptions the discourses of child development classroom management early childhood education special education school psychology and school counseling have constructed notions of children and schooling that are often behaviorist instrumental and symptom focused Curriculum too often focuses on acquisition of knowledge and behaviors discipline is conceptualized as compliance and symptoms such as anger school resistance etc are pathologized and reacted to out of context children's special needs are often conceptualized instrumentally and children with complex psychological symptoms are delimited depersonalized or simply removed Professionals who work with children psychodynamically draw on diverse frameworks including the work of Anna Freud the long tradition of the Tavistock Clinic in London e g Anne Alvarez Susan Reid Margaret Rustin Frances Tustin etc the writings of Klein Winnicott and their colleagues French analysts e g Piera Aulagnier Didier Anzieu Laurent Danon Boileau Fran oise Dolto Maud Mannoni and Catherine Mathelin and Italian infant child analyst Alessandro Piontelli This work is valuable but often inaccessible to school professionals because the writing is somewhat specialized and because there is no tradition of teaching such work in professional preparation in those fields This collection is theoretically grounded in that the authors share a commitment to valuing children s emotions and understand the usefulness of psychoanalytic approaches for enhancing children s lives It is laden with examples to invite into this discussion those students and professionals who value these ideas but for whom this book may be their first introduction to progressive educational ideals and psychodynamic ways of working with children Psychodynamic Perspectives on Working with Children Families and Schools provides an introductory volume to open the door to the possibility of introducing psychodynamic frameworks to education and human service professors and school professionals and professionals working with children The Bible, Sexuality, and Culture Brian Neil

Peterson,2021-05-26 We are living in a rapidly changing culture Since the 1960s the changes in our sexual ethics have become increasingly problematic How are people especially Evangelicals and other conservative Christians supposed to respond Does the Bible address these seismic changes How is a believer supposed to raise a family in the cultural chaos of the twenty first century If you have asked any of these questions before then this book is for you Peterson argues forcefully that the changes in our culture are a direct result of a postmodern and post Christian cultural rejection of the mandates established by God in the opening two chapters of Genesis The reason Western culture is imploding morally is directly connected to the Enemy s undoing of each of the Genesis mandates established by God for human and cultural flourishing With Western culture s rejection or undoing of every one of God s mandates in Genesis is there any hope for the survival of once thriving Judeo Christian cultures Peterson tackles these and many other issues in a forthright and unreserved manner This book is not for the faint of heart It is a call for a return to cultural sanity rooted in the fear of God and his Word

New Perspectives on Land Registration Amy Goymour,Stephen Watterson,Martin Dixon,2018-02-08 The Land Registration Act 2002 has been in force for almost fifteen years When enacted the legislation which replaced the Land

Registration Act 1925 was intended to offer a clear and lasting framework for the registration of title to land in England and Wales. However, perhaps confounding the hopes of its drafters, the legislation's interpretation and application has since generated many unanticipated problems which demand attention. In this book's twenty chapters, leading land law scholars, Law Commissioners, past and present judges, and Registry lawyers unpick key technical controversies and expose underlying theoretical and policy concerns. Core issues addressed in these chapters include the legitimate ambitions of registration regimes, the nature and security of title afforded by registration, the resolution of priority disputes affecting registered titles, the relationship between the general law and the registration regime, and new challenges presented by modern technological developments.
