Interpreting Television News Gabi Schaap, 2009 Television news range among the most extensively investigated topics in communication studies The book contributes to television news research by focusing on whether and how news viewers who watch the same news program form similar or different interpretations The author develops a novel concept of interpretation based on cognitive complexity research He strongly argues that qualitative and quantitative research methods work best if they complement one another

The Psychology of Entertainment Media L. J. Shrum, 2003-10-03 The Psychology of Entertainment Media provides a cutting edge look at how entertainment media affects its viewers both in intended and unintended ways and the psychological processes that underlie these effects The collection represents an international multidisciplinary investigation of an age old process persuasion in a relatively new guise which includes product placements brand films television programs and sponsorships The collection covers three broad areas the potential effects of embedding promotions within entertainment media content the persuasive power of the entertainment media content itself and individual differences in the interplay between media usage and media effects Contributions focus on a variety of topics including product placement subliminal perception narrative impact cultivation effects on consumers and individual differences in media use Virtually all the chapters speak to the issue of how entertainment media are processed with the conclusion that media consumers do tend to process entertainment and promotional information differently Providing a broad perspective on how entertainment media may have an effect that goes largely unnoticed or unattended by consumers this volume makes a substantial contribution toward creating a more knowledgeable field as well as a more knowledgeable consumer With its origins in the 21st Annual Advertising and Consumer Psychology Conference the volume represents scholarship from prominent and emerging scholars in psychology marketing and communications It is appropriate for advanced students and scholars in marketing advertising psychology and mass communication for research focused practitioners working in marketing advertising and public policy and for individuals interested in entertainment studies consumer behavior attitudes persuasion media studies and consumer psychology

Talk on Television Sonia Livingstone, Peter Lunt, 2002-09-10 Not only is everyday conversation increasingly dependent on television but more and more people are appearing on television to discuss social and personal issues Is any public good served by these programmes or are they simply trashy entertainment which fills the schedules cheaply Talk on Television examines the value and significance of televised public debate Analysing a wide range of programmes including Kilroy Donohue and The Oprah Winfrey Show the authors draw on interviews with both the studio participants and with those watching at home They ask how the media manage discussion programmes and whether the programmes really are providing new spaces for public participators They find out how audiences interpret the programmes when they appear on the screen themselves and they unravel the conventions debate romance therapy which make up the genre They also consider TV's function as a medium of education and information finally discussing the dangers and opportunities the genre holds for audience participation and public debate in the future Media, Home and Family Stewart M. Hoover, Lynn Schofield Clark, Diane F. Alters, 2012-09-10 Based on extensive fieldwork this book examines how parents make decisions regulating media use and how media practices define contemporary family life Television Courtroom Broadcasting Effects Paul Lambert, 2013-07-05 Court and policy makers have increasingly had to deal with and sometimes even embrace technology from podcasts to the Internet Televised courtroom broadcasting especially remains an issue The debate surrounding the US Supreme Court and federal courts as well as the great disparity between different forms of television courtroom broadcasting rages on What are the effects of television courtroom broadcasting Does research support the arguments for or against Despite three Supreme Court cases on television courtroom broadcasting the common thread between the cases has not been highlighted The Supreme Court in these cases maintains a common theme there is not a sufficient body of research on the effects of televising courtroom proceedings to resolve the debate in a confident manner The Psychology of Journalism Sharon Coen, Peter Bull, 2021 The Psychology of Journalism explores the psychological processes involved in the production delivery and consumption of news With contributions from an international team of scholars with backgrounds in both media and psychology the chapters provide theoretical and empirical evidence drawn from research in key areas in psychology to better understand why and how journalists and audience alike select attend understand and co construct meaning from reported events The Cambridge Handbook of Sociocultural Psychology Jaan Valsiner, Alberto Rosa, 2007-06-04 This book first published in 2007 is an international overview of the state of our knowledge in sociocultural psychology as a discipline located at the crossroads between the natural and social sciences and the humanities Since the 1980s the field of psychology has encountered the growth of a new discipline cultural psychology that has built new connections between psychology sociology anthropology history and semiotics The handbook integrates contributions of sociocultural specialists from fifteen countries all tied together by the unifying focus on the role of sign systems in human relations with the environment It emphasizes theoretical and methodological discussions on the cultural nature of human psychological phenomena moving on to show how meaning is a natural feature of action and how it eventually produces conventional symbols for communication Such symbols shape individual experiences and create the conditions for consciousness and the self to emerge turn social norms into ethics and set history into motion The Handbook of Communication Science Charles R. Berger, Michael E. Roloff, David R. Ewoldsen, 2009-04-30 This revision of a classic volume presents state of the art reviews of established and emerging areas of communication science and provides an intellectual compass that points the way to future theorizing about communication processes In this Second Edition of The Handbook of Communication Science editors Charles R Berger Michael E Roloff and David Roskos Ewoldsen bring together an impressive array of communication scholars to explore and synthesize the varying perspectives and approaches within the dynamic field of communication science After first addressing the methods of research and the history of the field the Handbook then examines the levels of analysis in communication individual to macro social the functions of communication such as socialization and persuasion and the contexts in which communication occurs such as couples families organizations and mass media Key Features Draws on the scholarship and expertise of leading communication scholars who explore different aspects of the field Covers all facets of communication science from the historical and theoretical to the practical and applied Covers the latest theoretical developments in the field as well as alternative methodologies and levels of analysis Explores key communication contexts of the 21st century including interpersonal dimensions of health communication the scientific investigation of marital and family communication and computer mediated communication Includes incisive analyses literature reviews bibliographies and suggestions for future research The Handbook of Communication Science Second Edition is an essential reference resource for scholars
