Hoffman's Index to Poetry Herbert H. Hoffman, 1985 No descriptive material is available for this title A Reader's Guide to the Narrative and Lyric Poetry of Thomas Lovell Beddoes Rodney Edgecombe, 2015-10-05 Beddoes poses a peculiar problem for critics and scholars who wish to redress the marginal position that he occupies in the Romantic canon a problem seemingly unique to him and created in part by his misconception of his own strengths as a writer An extremely good poet who had things turned out differently might have functioned as a missing link between Keats and Tennyson he fatally divided his attention between verse and medicine a discipline that by his own admission made in the poem composed for Zo King served to wither his creative gift This fission of energy was bad enough but more damaging still was his misconception of metier for whatever mental resources remained to Beddoes after gruelling days in the classroom he invested in writing an unstageable drama instead of in his primary gift for lyric verse Whereas the Beddoes revival that has been gathering momentum in recent years has centred on Death's Jest Book the play onto which the poet directed some might say misdirected so much of his creative energy this study focuses wholly on his lyric and narrative verse much of which has received short critical shrift It follows the sequence of poems set out in the Donner edition and focuses on their verbal richness and inventiveness as they unspool upon the page International Anthologies of Literature in Translation Harald Kittel, 1995-01-01 The Richard Burton Diaries Richard Burton, 2012-10-23 The personal diaries of the renowned actor and glamorous celebrity describe his life from 1939 to 1983 including his struggles with weight drinking and jealousy when other men looked at the love of his life Elizabeth Taylor The Letters of Robert Lowell Robert Lowell, 2007-03-20 These letters document the evolution of Lowell's work and illuminate another side of his life his deep friendships with other writers his manic depression his marriages to three prose writers and his involvement with the antiwar movement of the 1960s Translation as Advocacy Various, 2024-04-25 What does it mean to advocate in translation for translation through translation What does advocacy look like for those who do the translating or for those whose work is translated To what extent is translation itself a form of advocacy These what questions are the driving force behind this collection Translation as Advocacy highlights the innovative ways in which translator academics in seven different fields discuss their practice in relation to their understanding of advocacy The book aims to encourage people to think about translators as active agents bringing new work into the receiving culture advocating for the writers they translate for ideas for practices As such the book asserts that the act of translation is a mode of cultural production and a political intervention through which the translator as advocate claims a significant position in intercultural dialogue Featuring seven interrelated chapters the book covers themes of judgement spaces for translation classroom practice collaboration intercultural position textuality and voice Each chapter explores the specific demands of different types of translation work the specific role of each stage of the process and what advocacy means at each of these stages for example choosing what is translated mediating between author and receiving culture pitching to publishers social interactions framing the translation for different audiences teaching creating new canons gatekeepers and prizes dissemination marketing and reception This book repositions the role of the translator academic as an activist who uses their knowledge and understanding to bring agency to the complex processes of understanding across time and space Moving critically through the different stages that the translator academic occupies using the spaces for research performance and classroom teaching as springboards for active engagement with the key preoccupations of our times this book will highlight translation as advocacy for students educators audiences for translation and the translation industry Like all the volumes in the Language Acts and Worldmaking series the overall aim is two fold to challenge widely held views about language learning as a neutral instrument of globalisation and to innovate and transform language research teaching and learning together with Modern Languages as an academic discipline by foregrounding its unique form of cognition and critical engagement Specific aims are to propose new ways of bridging the gaps between those who teach and research languages and those who learn and use them in everyday contexts from the professional to the personal put research into the hands of wider audiences share a philosophy policy and practice of language teaching and learning which turns research into action provide the research experience and data to enable informed debates on current issues and attitudes in language learning teaching and research share knowledge across and within all levels and experiences of language learning and teaching showcase exciting new work that derives from different types of community activity and is of practical relevance to its audiences disseminate new research in languages that engages with diverse communities of language practitioners

Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1978 Reading Baudelaire's Le Spleen de Paris and the Nineteenth-Century Prose Poem Seth Whidden, 2022-06-02 Through its readings of Charles Baudelaire's collection Le Spleen de Paris and other prose poems from the nineteenth century this book considers the practice of reading prose poetry and how it might be different from reading poetry in verse Among the numerous factors that helped shape the nascent modernity in Baudelaire's poetic prose are the poems themes forms linguistic qualities and modes The contradictions identifiable at the level of prose poetry s discourse are similarly perceptible in other aspects of Baudelaire s poetic language beyond the discursive in the poems formal considerations which retain recognisable traces of verse despite their prose presentation and with respect to both poetic form and thematics in the sights and sounds that contribute to their poeticity With a focus on what makes prose texts poetic this study sheds light on Baudelaire the practitioner of the prose poem as he navigated and complicated the boundaries between verse prose and poetry Rather than rejecting those categories Baudelaire forges a poetic space in which the notions of poetry and prose are recast juxtaposed in a delicate balance in a textual space they manage to share This coexistence of poetry and prose previously thought of as incompatible is the underlying tension and framework that contributes importantly to the modernity of his prose poetry In turn this new mode of poetry calls for new modes of reading poetry and new ways of engaging with a text Julia Kristeva Anne-Marie Smith,1998-07-20 Anne Marie Smith s concise introductory study examines Kristeva in the light of her contemporary activity as writer teacher and psychoanalyst

Hartley,1967 The Tears and Smiles of Things Andriy Sodomora,2024-03-12 An evocative collection of vignettes and essays from Ukraine s voice of classical antiquity now available in English for the first time Inspired by Virgil s exquisitely ambivalent phrase sunt lacrimae rerum there are tears of for in things Andriy Sodomora the Ukrainian voice of classical antiquity has produced a series of original vignettes and essays about things the big things in our lives like happiness loneliness and aging the small things we do or see daily rarely paying attention to them like a tree's shadow or the kernels on an ear of corn and the things i.e. objects to which we form connections. The selected stories presented here are the first English translations of Sodomora's profoundly intellectual and intertextual prose. Through his nostalgic memories and recollections, Sodomora takes readers on a journey through western Ukraine as well as through world literature from ancient Greece and Rome to the poetry of Paul Verlaine and Federico García Lorca. This book has been published with the support of the Translate Ukraine Translation Program. Quotation and Modern American Poetry Elizabeth Gregory, 1996-07. In this volume, Elizabeth Gregory addresses a number of key issues surrounding the formation of the American poetic canon. Taking as her primary examples T.S. Eliot's Waste Land, William Carlos Williams' Paterson, and selected poems by Marianne Moore, she examines the ways in which modern American writers struggled with questions of literary authority and cultural identity in relation to pre-existing European models. Gregory focuses on these issues through analysis of the use of quotation in modern and postmodern literature, a practice that was strikingly divergent from the accepted use of literary allusion. Her introduction traces a history of quotation as it has been practiced in literature from classical to modern times. She then focuses on the texts of Eliot, Williams, and Moore, three central figures of American modernism whose work the author believes represents a spectrum of responses to the established European model of poetical discourse. Gregory's selection of Moore also allows her to deal with feminist concerns as they emerge in the more general modernist dialogue: How was a female writer to make use of a literary canon that traditionally excluded female participation? The implications of Gregory's argument will surely be of especial interest to feminist scholars of American poetry. Lois Parkinson Zamora, University of Houston. Subject Catalog Library of Congress, 1980. The Selected Letters of John Berryman John Berryman, 2020-10-13. John Berryman was an energetic correspondent. Assembled here for the first time, his letters tell of generosity, ambition, and struggle. He has encouraging words for fellow poets and younger writers and is deeply engaged in literary culture. But also visible are the struggles of a working artist grappling with alcoholism and depression.
