Eggert,2010-11-01 In 1850 Harrisburg

Pennsylvania was a community like many others in the U S employing most of its citizens in trade and commerce Unlike its larger neighbors Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Harrisburg had not yet experienced firsthand the Industrial Revolution Within a decade however Harrisburg boasted a cotton textile mill two blast furnaces and several iron rolling mills a railroad car manufactory and a machinery plant This burst of industrial activity naturally left its mark on the community by within two generations most industry had left Harrisburg and its economic base was shifting toward white collar governmental administration and services Harrisburg Industrializes looks at this critical episode in Harrisburg s history to discover how the coming of the factory system affected the life of the community Eggert begins with the earliest years of Harrisburg describing its transformation from a frontier town to a small commercial and artisanal community He identifies the early entrepreneurs who built the banking commercial and transportation infrastructure which would provide the basis for industry at mid century Eggert then reconstructs the development of the principal manufacturing firms from their foundings through the expansive post Civil War era to the onset of deindustrialization near the end of the century Through census and company records he is able to follow the next generation of craftsmen and entrepreneurs as well as the new industrial workers many of then minorities who came to the city after 1850 Eggert sees Harrisburg s experience with the factory system as second stage or imitative industrialization which was typical of many if not most communities that developed factory production At those relatively few industrial centers Lowell and Pittsburgh for example where new technologies arose and were aggressively impose on workers the consequences were devastating often causing alienation rebellion and repression By contrast at secondary centers like Harrisburg or Reading Scranton or Wilmington industrialization came later was derivative rather than creative was modest in scale and focused on local and regional markets Because the new factories did not compete with local crafts few displaced artisans became factory hands At the same time an adequate supply of local native born workers forestalled an influx of immigrants so Harrisburg experienced little ethnic hostility Ultimately therefore Eggert concludes that the introduction of an industrial order was much less disruptive in Harrisburg than in the major industrial sites primarily because it did not alter so profoundly the existing economic and social order
