Reforming Civil Procedure Dominic De Saulles, 2019-05-16 Drawing on political, social, and economic theory, Reforming Civil Procedure focuses on the English civil justice system by looking at its history and its processes. The book considers the objectives of civil procedure and how it operates for and against particular societal groups, and what ideas and behaviours impact upon it. The reform of civil procedure has been beset with difficulties. Some are caused by questions of culture and mind sets resistant to change, some by a confusion and conflict of values, some by overambitious reform efforts, some by a failure to follow through on purpose clauses, and some by swinging from laxity to rigidity with insufficient analysis. This book makes a strong contribution to the field by synthesising the work of English writers with different views, extending the work in England on the role of philosophy, values, process, and culture in litigation, and engaging extensively with American writers who have not previously been the subject of much attention in English civil procedural studies. Index to Legal

Shortlisted is the inspiring and previously untold history of the women considered but not selected for the U S Supreme Court In 1981 after almost two centuries of exclusively male appointments Sandra Day O Connor became the first female Supreme Court Justice of the United States a significant historical moment and a symbolic triumph for women s rights supporters But there were other remarkable women shortlisted for the Supreme Court in the decades before O Connor s success Shortlisted gives nine women formally considered but passed over for a seat on the Supreme Court going back to the 1930s the recognition they deserve Award winning scholars Renee Knake Jefferson and Hannah Brenner Johnson rely on previously unpublished materials to illustrate the professional and personal lives of these accomplished women From Florence Allen the first woman judge in Ohio and the first to appear on a president s list for the Court to Cornelia Kennedy the first woman to serve as chief judge of a US district court shortlisted by Ford and Reagan Shortlisted shares the overlooked stories of those who paved the way for women s representation throughout the legal profession and beyond Filling a notable historical gap the book also exposes the harms of shortlisting revealing how adding qualified female candidates to a list but passing over them creates the appearance of diversity while preserving the status quo Women especially female minorities while as qualified as others on the shortlist if not more so find themselves far less likely to be chosen With the stories of these nine exemplary women as a framework Shortlisted offers all women a valuable set of strategies for upending these enduring injustices

Arguing with Tradition Justin B. Richland, 2008-09-15. Arguing with Tradition is the first book to explore language and interaction within a contemporary Native American legal system. Grounded in Justin Richland's extensive field research on the Hopi Indian Nation of northeastern Arizona, on whose appellate court he now serves as Justice Pro Tempore, this innovative work explains how Hopi notions of tradition and culture shape and are shaped by the processes of Hopi jurisprudence. Like many indigenous legal institutions across North America, the Hopi Tribal Court was created in the image of Anglo-American style law. But Richland shows that in recent years Hopi jurists and litigants have called for their courts to develop a jurisprudence that better reflects Hopi culture and traditions. Providing unprecedented insights into the Hopi and English courtroom interactions through which this conflict plays out, Richland argues that tensions between the language of Anglo style law and Hopi tradition both drive Hopi jurisprudence and make it unique. Ultimately, Richland's analyses of the language of Hopi law offer a fresh approach to the cultural politics that influence indigenous legal and governmental practices worldwide.

Strategies for Environmental Success in an Uncertain Judicial Climate Michael Allan Wolf, 2005. Over the last 30 years we have made great progress in curbing the most obvious pollution, largely due to effective enforcement of federal and state environmental statutes. Now, however, there is increasing skepticism of the efficiency and even the constitutionality of our bedrock environmental laws from all branches of the federal government, including the courts. This book is the result of lively debate at the conference Alternative Grounds: Defending the Environment in an Unwelcoming Judicial Climate, held on November 11, 2004, and co-sponsored by the University of Florida's Levin College of Law and the Environmental Law Institute. Topics ranged from U.S. Supreme Court trends in environmental law jurisprudence to innovative federal and state constitutional and statutory arguments that defend environmental protections to federal provisions most vulnerable to attack on federalism, takings and separation of powers grounds. This thought-provoking and insightful collection of essays provides smart, realistic solutions to the profound and complex legal challenges facing defenders of our environmental protections. With contributions by Richard J. Lazarus, Sean H. Donahue, Paul Boudreaux, William W. Buzbee, Robert L. Glicksman, Alyson C. Flournoy, Christopher H. Schroeder, Douglas T. Kendall, Susan George, J. B. Ruhl, Donald W. Stever and Mary Jane Angelo.
