Grese,2020-04-21 There s no more breathtaking signal of summer s onset than the blooming of peonies Stunningly beautiful and relatively easy to grow peonies are a favorite flower everywhere they can be cultivated and for good reason the heady fragrances and enchanting colors of a peony rich display create an immersive experience that has enamored generations of garden lovers across the world This passion is on full display each June at the historic Peony Garden of the University of Michigan s Nichols Arboretum Originally planted in 1922 the Nichols Arboretum Peony Garden now boasts North America s largest public collection of heirloom herbaceous peonies The Peony Garden has become a sacred space for the Ann Arbor community a not to be missed sensation when it erupts each season as the Ann Arbor Observer once wrote in a riot of color of crimson rose and shell pink intermingled with fluffy pompoms of creamy white The rather short period of peak bloom about two fleeting weeks each year only seems to intensify the garden s appeal drawing thousands of visitors annually to this spectacular living museum on campus that showcases upwards of 10 000 blossoms Richly illustrated with hundreds of striking color photos Passion for Peonies collects twenty short essays that celebrate the story of the Nichols Arboretum Peony Garden as well as the rich social history of peony gardening that it is an integral part of Together these pieces comprise a love letter both to a magical public space at the University of Michigan and to the broader history and culture of peony gardening The book will appeal to readers interested in the University of Michigan the history of public gardens and of course peonies Garden & Home Builder William Tyler Miller,1918 Book Review Digest ,1918 American Nurseryman ,1957 The Flower Grower ,1921 A Literary History of the English People from the Origins to the Renaissance Jean Jules Jusserand,2020-09-28 The people that now occupies England was formed like the French people by the fusion of several superimposed races In both countries the same races met and mingled at about the same period but in different proportions and under dissimilar social conditions Hence the striking resemblances and sharply defined contrasts that exist in the genius of the two nations Hence also the contradictory sentiments which mutually animated them from century to century those combinations and recurrences of esteem that rose to admiration and jealousy that swelled to hate Hence again the unparalleled degree of interest they offer one for the other The two people are so dissimilar that in borrowing from each other they run no risk of losing their national characteristics and becoming another s image and yet so much alike are they it is impossible that what they borrowed should remain barren and unproductive These loans act like leaven the products of English thought during the Augustan age of British literature were mixed with French leaven and the products of French thought during the Victor Hugo period were penetrated with English yeast Ancient writers have left us little information concerning the remotest period and the oldest inhabitants of the British archipelago works which would be invaluable to us exist only in meagre fragments Important gaps have fortunately been filled owing to modern Science and to her manifold researches She has inherited the wand of the departed wizards and has touched with her talisman the gate of sepulchres the tombs have opened and the dead have spoken What countries did thy war ship visit she inquired of the Scandinavian viking And in answer the dead man asleep for centuries among the rocks of the Isle of Skye showed golden coins of the caliphs in his skeleton hand These coins are not a figure of speech they are real and may be seen at the Edinburgh Museum The wand has touched old undeciphered manuscripts and broken the charm that kept them dumb From them rose songs music love ditties and war cries phrases so full of life that the living hearts of to day have been stirred by them words with so much colour in them that the landscape familiar to the eyes of the Celts and Germans has reappeared before us The Garden Magazine ,1916
