People And Places A 2001 Census Atlas Of The Uk:

People and Places Dorling, Daniel, Thomas, Bethan, 2004-06-30 Providing an at a glance guide to social change in the UK at the start of the new millennium this book offers comparisons with the findings of the previous Census a decade ago Many maps covering different topics illustrate the state of UK society today and how it is changing Identity in Britain Bethan Thomas, Daniel Dorling, 2007-09-10 Danny Dorling and Bethan Thomas have brought together this outstanding atlas to provide us with a unique visual picture of identity and geography combined Identity in Britain explores our changing identities as we progress from infancy to old age and tells the story of the myriad geographies of life in Britain

Geographical Thought Anoop Nayak, Alex Jeffrey, 2013-12-02 Geographical Thought provides a clear and accessible introduction to the key ideas and figures in human geography The book provides an essential introduction to the theories that have shaped the study of societies and space Opening with an exploration of the founding concepts of human geography in the nineteenth century academy the authors examine the range of theoretical perspectives that have emerged within human geography over the last century from feminist and marxist scholarship through to post colonial and non representational theories Each chapter contains insightful lines of argument that encourage readers towards independent thinking and critical evaluation Supporting materials include a glossary visual images further reading suggestions and dialogue boxes Writing the North of England in the Middle Ages Joseph Taylor, 2022-12-22 Writing the North of England in the Middle Ages offers a literary history of the North South divide examining the complexities of the relationship imaginative material and political between North and South in a wide range of texts Through sustained analysis of the North South divide as it emerges in the literature of medieval England this study illustrates the convoluted dynamic of desire and derision of the North by the rest of country Joseph Taylor dissects England s problematic sense of nationhood as one which must be negotiated and renegotiated from within rather than beyond national borders Providing fresh readings of texts such as Chaucer s Canterbury Tales the fifteenth century Robin Hood ballads and the Towneley plays this book argues for the North s vital contribution to processes of imagining nation in the Middle Ages and shows that that regionalism is both contained within and constitutive of its apparent opposite nationalism Challenging health inequalities Dowler, Elizabeth, Spencer, Nick J., 2007-09-05 This book offers a unique multi disciplinary perspective on tackling health inequalities in a rich country examining the New Labour policy agenda for tackling health inequalities and its inherent challenges The book presents an overview of progress since the publication of the seminal and ambitious 1998 Acheson Inquiry into health inequalities and the theoretical and methodological issues underpinning health inequalities The contributors consider the determinants of inequality for example early childhood experience and ethnicity the factors that mediate the relationship between determinants and health nutrition housing and health behaviour and the sectoral policy interventions in user involvement local area partnership working and social work Challenging health inequalities offers a combination of broad analysis of progress from differing perspectives and will be key reading to academics students and policy makers Territory, Identity and Spatial Planning Mark Tewdwr-Jones, Philip Allmendinger, 2006-09-27 This book provides a multi disciplinary study of territory identity and space in a devolved UK through the lens of spatial planning It draws together leading internationally renowned researchers from a variety of disciplines to address the implications of devolution upon spatial planning and the rescaling of UK politics Each contributor offers a different perspective on the core issues in planning today in the context of New Labour s regional project particularly the government s concern with business competitiveness and key themes are illustrated with important case studies throughout So You Think You Know About Britain? Danny Dorling, 2011-03-17 When it comes to immigration the population explosion the collapse of the family the north south divide devolution or the death of the countryside common wisdom tells us that we are in trouble however this is far from the truth In his brilliant anatomy of contemporary Britain leading geographer Daniel Dorling dissects the nation and reveals unexpected truths about the way we live today contrary to what you might read in the news The human mosaic Most children who live above the fourth floor of tower blocks in England are Black or Asian The higher you go in a building the darker skinned children tend to be Relationships The more times a person s heart is broken the nearer they will tend to move to the sea If you want to find a good man to marry head for the countryside North and South People in the south move home on average every seven years and job every eight years This is a year faster than in the north of England but a year slower than is usual in Scotland Optimum population Immigrant nation There are twice as many grandchildren of British born people living over seas as there are people living in Britain who have grandparents who were themselves born abroad The problem now is more about getting pregnant than a population explosion and we need more immigration not less Immigration Muslims are far more likely to marry non Muslims in Britain than Christians are to marry non Christians The elderly Most people in Britain never live long enough to experience being burgled In some areas you would have to live for over five hundred years to have an evens chance of being a crime victim Town and Country divided since the enclosures Step children are most commonly found in the most leafy of idyllic rural villages Nuclear family homogeneity is now an inner city phenomena Why are there no cheap homes in the countryside any more Transport The greatest threat to life in Britain of all those aged under 40 is the car For adults aged over 24 they most likely die as a driver over 15 as a passenger and over age 4 as a pedestrian Work There is no need for us to work until we drop all could retire early Reviews for Injustice A geographer maps the injustices of Selfish Capitalism with scholarly detachment Oliver James Dorling provides the brain cleaning software we need to begin creating a happier society Richard Wilkinson author of The Spirit Level Social Determinants of Health Michael Marmot, Richard Wilkinson, 2005-10-13 Social Determinants of Health 2nd Edition gives an authoritative overview of the social and economic factors which are known to be the most powerful determinants of population health in modern societies Written by acknowledged experts in each field it provides accessible summaries of the scientific justification for isolating different aspects of social and economic life as the primary determinants of a population's health. The new edition takes account of the most recent research and also includes additional chapters on ethnicity and health, sexual behaviours, the elderly, housing and neighbourhoods. Recognition of the power of socioeconomic factors as determinants of health came initially from research on health inequalities. This has led to a view of health as not simply about individual behaviour or exposure to risk but how the socially and economically structured way of life of a population shapes its health. Thus exercise and accidents are as much about a society's transport system as about individual decisions and the nation's diet involves agriculture, food manufacture, retailing and personal incomes as much as individual choice. But a major new element in the picture we have developed is the importance of the social or psycho-social environment to health. For example, health in the workplace for most employees, certainly for office workers, is less a matter of exposure to physical health hazards as of the social environment of how supportive it is, whether people have control over their work, whether their jobs are secure. A similar picture emerges in other areas ranging from the health importance of the emotional environment in early childhood to the need for more socially cohesive communities. Social Determinants of Health should be read by those interested in the wellbeing of modern societies. It is a must for public health professionals, for health promotion specialists and for people working in the many fields of public policy which we now know make such an important contribution to health. Regenerating London Rob Imrie, Loretta Lees, Mike Raco, 2009-01-13

Regenerating London explores latest thinking on urban regeneration in one of the fastest changing world cities. Engaging with social, economic and political structures of cities, it highlights paradoxes and contradictions in urban policy and offers an evaluation of the contemporary forms of urban redevelopment. Racist Victimization Georgios Antonopoulos, 2016-04-08

This book investigates the phenomenon of racist victimization in a number of countries, uncovering and analyzing its historical roots, its relation to the legal system in a particular national context, its extent and the response to it. Through the international comparative approach adopted and the broad geographical range of studies presented, including national settings which have so far been largely ignored by the literature on racist victimization, the volume offers a truly international perspective on an important social, political and academic issue. As such, Racist Victimization: International Reflections and Perspectives will constitute essential reading not only for sociologists and socio-legal scholars but for anyone working in the field of race and ethnicity, crime and justice, criminology, victimology or policing. Community Cohesion in Crisis? John Flint, David Robinson, 2008-07-23. This book examines how new dimensions of diversity and difference, so often debated in the national context, are emerging at the neighbourhood level. Community cohesion in crisis? Flint, John, Robinson, David, 2008-07-23. There is an alleged crisis of cohesion in the UK, manifested in debates about identity and Britishness, the breakdown of social connections along the fault lines of geography, ethnicity, faith, income and age, and the fragile relationship between citizen and state. This book examines how these new dimensions of diversity and difference, so often debated in the national context, are emerging at the neighbourhood level. Contributors from a range of disciplinary backgrounds critically assess and go beyond the limits of contemporary policy discourses on community cohesion to explore the dynamics of diversity and cohesion within neighbourhoods and to identify new dimensions of disconnection between and within neighbourhoods. The chapters provide theoretically informed critiques of the policy responses of public private voluntary and community organisations and present a wealth of new empirical research evidence about the dynamics of cohesion in UK neighbourhoods. Topics covered include new immigration religion and social capital faith schools labour and housing market disconnections neighbourhood territoriality information technology and neighbourhood construction and gated communities. Community cohesion in crisis will be of interest to academics policy makers practitioners and students in the fields of human and urban geography urban studies sociology politics governance social policy criminology and housing studies. Religion and Change in Modern Britain Linda Woodhead, Rebecca Catto, 2013-03-01 This book offers a fully up to date and comprehensive guide to religion in Britain since 1945. A team of leading scholars provide a fresh analysis and overview with a particular focus on diversity and change. They examine relations between religious and secular beliefs and institutions the evolving role and status of the churches the growth and settlement of non Christian religious communities the spread and diversification of alternative spiritualities religion in welfare education media politics and law theoretical perspectives on religious change. The volume presents the latest research including results from the largest ever research initiative on religion in Britain the AHRC ESRC Religion and Society Programme Survey chapters are combined with detailed case studies to give both breadth and depth of coverage. The text is accompanied by relevant photographs and a companion website.

Social cohesion and counter-terrorism Husband, Charles, Alam, Yunis, 2011-02-10 Post 9 11 the imposition of policies of counter terrorism has seen the erosion of support for fundamental human rights. Simultaneously Muslim communities in European cities have become a focus for state and local policy leading to a fixation with policies of social cohesion. This book offers a unique research based contribution to the debate around community cohesion and counter terrorism policies in Britain. Through privileged access to the senior management and staff of five metropolitan authorities it reveals the contradictions between these policies as they are implemented in tandem at the local level. A robust critique of contemporary policy this book is for all academics policy makers and practitioners concerned with the management of ethnic diversity.

Power and Space John Allen, 2024-08-05 Power and Space sets out the inherently spatial nature of power today and seeks to change the conversation around how power exercises us in the contemporary moment. The essays brought together in this book are a response to the fact that conventional descriptions of power and its ordered geographies no longer chime with our lived experience. Spatiality matters to the workings of power nowadays and this book sheds light on what it is that we face when power is exercised through more subtle spatially nuanced arrangements. It is divided into three parts each representing a different kind of engagement with power's relationship to space from the spatial shifts in the way power is exercised through to its assemblage like entanglements and in turn its progressive topological character. Throughout the book a wide range of social political and economic examples are drawn upon to illustrate a more provisional sense of power ranging for instance from the seductive logic of privatized public spaces to the attempt by a data analytics company to manipulate political behaviour through to the offshore spaces invented by rising financial elites to challenge the established banking order. Illustrating the new found abilities of the powerful to make their presence felt, this book provides an accessible account of the practical workings of power in the present day. It will be invaluable to students and academics in human geography and urban studies as well as politics, sociology and cultural studies.

A Reader in Promoting Public Health Jenny Douglas, Sarah Earle, Stephen Handsley, Linda J Jones, Cathy E Lloyd, Sue Spurr, 2009-11-30. The second edition of A Reader in Promoting Public Health brings together a selection of readings that explore and challenge current thinking in the field of multidisciplinary public health. This thoroughly updated and revised new edition addresses contemporary issues that are high on the agenda of public health and enables the reader to understand and negotiate this broad and dynamic field of study. The book is organised into five sections, each with an accessible and student friendly introduction that pulls together the key themes and issues. Back to the future: Reflections on multidisciplinary public health takes stock of the scope and ambition of contemporary public health. Research for evidence based practice explores research methods, tools and techniques for developing effective public health practice. Promoting health through public policy examines policy challenges, responses and key debates at national, international and global level. Promoting public health at a local level explores public health and health promotion in a participatory and community context. Public health for the 21st century whose voices, whose values examines debates which expose alternative futures, priorities and boundaries for public health work. This second edition includes new material on health inequalities, health protection, social marketing and health promotion as well as highlighting the practical requirements of public health work through grass roots accounts of practice. It will be essential reading for all students of public health and health promotion as well as for health and social care professionals.

Oral Healthcare and the Frail Elder Michael I. MacEntee, Frauke Müller, Chris Wyatt, 2010-12-15. Oral healthcare is an integral part of overall health and well being and it is a significant and increasing challenge as people grow frail. Incidence of caries and gingivitis among residents of long term care facilities are on the rise and daily oral hygiene is often difficult for patients who are frail or in need of assistance. Oral Healthcare and the Frail Elder: A Clinical Perspective provides dentists, dental hygienists and other healthcare professionals with comprehensive practical instruction on managing the multifaceted oral healthcare needs of frail elders. By discussing background information and relevant literature, the book provides a holistic approach to clinical issues such as oral pain, dry mouth and periodontal disease. Edited by experts in the field, Oral Healthcare and the Frail Elder enhances clinical application with thorough reviews of pertinent social and ethical issues, access to care issues and the practicalities for overcoming these in order to provide high quality oral healthcare to an aging population.

Sociability, Social Capital, and Community Development Ian Gillespie Cook, Jamie P. Halsall, Paresh Wankhade, 2014-11-10. This book provides a critical understanding of contemporary issues within global society and how these relate to six case study examples UK USA China India South Africa Bangladesh and Japan The authors draw on their diverse experience to explore four major themes of contemporary relevance overall aging of societies governance and institutions emergency services and public health provisions and community activism and involvement The key issues within the book sociability social capital and community development are examined in the context of an ever increasing aging world The authors sense of optimism is linked to growing evidence that community activism is on the rise and can effectively plug the gap between public need and provision of service Fair Play Daniel Dorling,2012 Encompassing an extensive range of print and online media this reader brings together a selection of highly influential writings by Danny Dorling which look at inequality and social justice
