People Penguins And Plastic Trees Basic Issues In Environmental Ethics:

People, Penguins, and Plastic Trees Donald VanDeVeer, Christine Pierce, 1986-01-01 People, Penguins, and Plastic Trees Christine Pierce, Donald VanDeVeer, 1995 Stressing the importance of understanding the grounds and the consequences of ethical or normative decision making this collection of classic essays compiled by Pierce and VanDeVeer examines disputes surrounding animals ecosystems the land and their own proper place in the ongoing network of lives on this planet A central question is how can we live lives that are both personally satisfying but which are also ecologically sound and responsible

International Environmental Law, Policy, and Ethics Alexander Gillespie, 2014 This second edition of International Environmental Law Policy and Ethics revises and expands this groundbreaking study into the question of why the environment is protected in the international arena This question is rarely asked because it is assumed that each member of the international community wants to achieve the same ends However in his innovative study of international environmental ethics Alexander Gillespie explodes this myth He shows how nations like individuals create environmental laws and policies which are continually inviting failure as such laws can often be riddled with inconsistencies and be ultimately contradictory in purpose Specifically he seeks a nexus between the reasons why nations protect the environment how these reasons are reflected in law and policy and what complications arise from these choices This book takes account of the numerous developments in international environmental law and policy that have taken place the publication of the first edition most notably at the 2002 World Summit on Sustainable Development and the 2012 Rio 20 United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development Furthermore it addresses recent debates on the economic value of nature and the problems of the illegal trade in species and toxic waste The cultural context has also been considerably advanced in the areas of both intangible and tangible heritage with increasing attention being given to conservation wildlife management and the notion of protected areas The book investigates the ways in which progress has been made regarding humane trapping and killing of animals and how in contrast the Great Apes initiative and similar work with whales have failed Finally the book addresses the fact that while the notion of ecosystem management has been embraced by a number of environmental regimes it has thus far failed as an international philosophy

Business Ethics Alan R. Malachowski, 2001 It is no longer possible for modern companies to ignore the ethical or social implications of their business practice Controversy surrounding such issues as the environment rewards to senior managers and international labour standards have made business ethics front page news as well as helping it emerge as a fully fledged part of the business and management landscape This set brings together a cross section of material from both philosophy and business journals It includes what is business ethics and how has it developed are ethics compatible with the free market international business ethics and case studies

Ecofeminist Philosophy Karen Warren, 2000-10-11 A philosophical exploration of the nature scope and significance of ecofeminist theory and practice This book presents the key issues concepts and arguments which motivate and sustain ecofeminism from a western philosophical perspective Biodiversity and Democracy Paul Malcolm Wood, 2000

This work argues that the problem of extinction can be traced to how we think about biodiversity and democratic societies
While biodiversity is usually confused with biological resources Wood argues that it should be conceived as an essential environmental condition Environmental Ethics and Forestry Peter C. List, 2000
During the past twenty five years North American forestry has received increasingly vigorous scrutiny Critics including the environmentalists environmental scientists representatives of public interest groups and many individual citizens have expressed concerns about forestry s basic assumptions and methods as well as its practical outcomes Criticism has centered on such issues as the exploitation of forests for timber production the reduction and fragmentation of old growth habitats the destruction of biodiversity the degradation of grasslands through grazing practices lack of government attention to recreation facilities silvicultural methods like clearcutting and the use of herbicides and pesticides the exportation of industrial forestry techniques to other parts of the world and the use of public monies to provide services for private resource companies as in the creation of logging roads This rising tide of public scrutiny has led many foresters to suspect that their contract with society to manage forests using their best professional judgment had been undermined Some of these professionals as well as some of their critics have begun to reexamine their old beliefs and to look for new ways of practicing forestry Part of this reflective process has entailed new directions in environmental ethics and environmental philosophy This reader brings together some of the new thinking in this area Here students of the applied environmental and natural resource sciences as well as the interested general reader will discover a rich sampling of writings in environmental ethics and philosophy as they apply to forestry Readings focus on basic ethical systems in forestry and forest management philosophical issues in forestry ethics codes of ethics in forestry and related natural resource sciences such as fisheries science and wildlife biology Aldo Leopold s land ethic in forestry ethical advocacy and whistleblowing in government resource agencies the ethics of new forestry ecoforestry and public debate in forestry as well as ethical issues in global forestry such as the responsibilities of forest corporations environmentalists and individual wood consumers This volume contains materials from the founders of forestry ethics such as Bernhard Fernow Gifford Pinchot John Muir and Aldo Leopold from such organizations as the Society of American Foresters the Wildlife Society the American Fisheries Society Forest Service Employees for Environmental Ethics and the Ecoforesters group in addition to writings by a variety of well known environmental philosophers and foresters including Holmes Rolston Robin Attfield Lawrence Johnson Michael McDonald Paul Wood James E Coufal Raymond Craig Kristin Shrader Frechette Jeff DeBonis Jim L Bowyer Alasdair Gunn Goug Gaigle Alan G McQuillan Stephanie Kaza Alan Dregson Duncan Taylor and Kathleen Dean Moore Author note Peter C List is Professor of Philosophy at Oregon State University where he teaches courses on environmental ethics ethical issues in the natural resource sciences and sustainable forestry He is the author of articles on Aldo Leopold s land ethic and co author of several articles on public attitudes about federal forests and forest management published in the Journal of Forestry and Society and Natural Resources Nature as Subject Eric Katz,1997 Written by one of the instrumental figures in environmental ethics Nature as Subject traces the development of an ethical policy that is centered not on human beings but on itself Katz applies this idea to contemporary environmental problems introducing themes of justice domination imperialism and the Holocaust This volume will stand as a foundational work for environmental scholars government and industry policy makers activists and students in advanced philosophy and environmental studies courses Biodiversity : Structure and Function - Volume II Wilhelm Barthlott,K. Aquaculture Management James W. Meade, 2012-12-06 Although some nations such as Japan have invested in aquaculture research and developed major aquaculture industries the opportunities for similar development in the United States remain largely unnoticed In a typical recent year the United States which claims 20% of the world's marine fisheries resources imported seafood worth 4.8 billion and exported 1.3 billion In addition to the 3.5 billion deficit in food fish was another 2.7 billion deficit for nonedible fishery products Next to oil fishery products constituted the second highest drain on the United States balance of payments and accounts for a significant portion of the foreign trade deficit Furthermore fish consumption has been increasing in North America In response to the demand for fishery products aquaculture managers not only have the opportunity to realize economic profit but in doing so can make an important contribution to reducing the national debt providing employment and enhancing our diet This book might be considered a farm management text for those in aquaculture It is intended to provide an introduction to aquaculture principles and an introduction to management including business and people management microeconomics and the concepts of efficiency and productivity I hope it will bridge the gap between conservationists the academic community and commercial culturists Abundant references should enable the reader to quickly access literature on most topics germane to the management of culture systems

The Pattern which Connects Roy C. Dudgeon, 2008 The Pattern Which Connects is a philosophical discussion of the relationship between anthropology ecology and postmodernism Dr Dudgeon describes the development of an ecologist philosophy and the manner in which Batesonian holism can be derived from the works of Ludwig Wittgenstein and related philosophers of mind and language The result is a postmodern science of ecology designed as a critique of modern science and society

From Environmental to Ecological Law Kirsten Anker, Peter D. Burdon, Geoffrey Garver, Michelle Maloney, Carla Sbert, 2020-12-30

This book increases the visibility clarity and understanding of ecological law Ecological law is emerging as a field of law founded on systems thinking and the need to integrate ecological limits such as planetary boundaries into law Presenting new thinking in the field this book focuses on problem areas of contemporary law including environmental law property law trusts legal theory and First Nations law and explains how ecological law provides solutions Written by ecological law experts it does this by 1 providing an overview of shortcomings of environmental law and other areas of contemporary law 2 presenting specific examples of these shortcomings 3 explaining what ecological law is and how it provides solutions to the shortcomings of contemporary law and 4 showing how society can overcome some key challenges in the transition to ecological law Drawing on a diverse range of case study examples including Indigenous law ecological restoration and mining this volume will be of great interest to students scholars and policymakers of environmental and ecological law and governance political science environmental ethics and ecological and degrowth economics Is Nature Ever Evil? Willem B. Drees, 2003-09-02 Can nature be evil or ugly or wrong Can we apply moral value to nature From a compellingly original premise under the auspices of major thinkers including Mary Midgley Philip Hefner Arnold Benz and Keith Ward Is Nature Ever Evil examines the value structure of our cosmos and of the science that seeks to describe it Science says editor Willem B Drees claims to leave moral questions to aesthetic and religious theory But the supposed neutrality of the scientific view masks a host of moral assumptions How does an ethically transparent science arrive at concepts of a hostile universe or a selfish gene How do botanists zoologists cosmologists and geologists respond to the beauty of the universe they study reliant as it is upon catastrophe savagery power and extinction Then there are various ways in which science seeks to alter and improve nature What do prosthetics and gene technology cyborgs and dairy cows say about our appreciation of nature itself Surely science in common with philosophy magic and religion can aid our understanding of evil in nature whether as natural catastrophe disease predatory cruelty or mere cosmic indifference Focusing on the ethical evaluation of nature itself Is Nature Ever Evil re ignites crucial questions of hope responsibility and possibility in nature Valuing Natural Assets Raymond J. Kopp, 2013-10-08 Assessing natural resource damages often requires the use of nonmarket valuation techniques that were developed for use in benefit cost analyses Natural resource damage assessment dramatically changes the context for applying them Two aspects of this context are especially important First damages are to be measured by the monetary value of the losses people experience including their use and nonuse values because of injuries to natural resources a process requiring careful delineation of how the injuries connect to the resource's services Second a single identified entry not generalized anonymous taxpayers must pay damages based on what is measured and evaluations of the measurement techniques take place not in agency meeting rooms but in courtrooms Contributors to Valuing Natural Assets examine the ways in which requirements for damage assessment change how the measures are used presented received and defended Drawing upon their personal involvement with the process and the research issues it has raised both in providing analysis for defendants or plaintiffs in damage assessment cases and in writing for academic journals their chapters reflect individual research programs that temper the rigorous demands of scholarship with the equally demanding standards of litigation

East Asian Ecocriticisms S. Estok, W. Kim, 2013-03-26 East Asian Ecocriticisms presents original essays from Japan South Korea Taiwan and China that define and characterize trends in East Asian ecocriticism Drawing on diverse theoretical perspectives in environmental thought and scholarship this volume presents valuable and original contributions to global conversations

A Theory of Value and Obligation Robin Attfield, 2020-07-20 Originally published in 1987 and re issued in 2020 with a new Preface this book presents and elaborates interrelated solutions to a number of problems in moral philosophy from the location of intrinsic value and the nature of a worthwhile life via the limits of obligation and the nature of justice to the status of moral utterances After developing a biocentric account of moral standing the author locates worthwhile life in the development of the generic capacities of a creature whether human or nonhuman and presents an account of relative intrinsic value which later generates a theory of interspecific justice This value theory also informs a consequentialist understanding of obligation of moral rightness and of supererogation The understanding thus supplied is shown to cope with the problems of integrity of justice and of the Repugnant Conclusion in population ethics A cognitivist account of ethical conclusions such as those so far reached is then defended against non cognitivist and relativist objections and a far reaching naturalist theory is defended integrating earlier conclusions with an account of the logic of the fundamental ethical concepts This wide ranging volume which maps the whole area of morality is thoroughly argued with reference both to contemporary philosophical developments and to classical theories

Feminism and Ecological Communities Christine Cuomo, 2002-09-11 Feminism and Ecological Communities presents a bold and passionate rethinking of the ecofeminist movement It is one of the first books to acknowledge the importance of postmodern feminist arguments against ecofeminism whilst persuasively presenting a strong new case for ecological feminism Chris J Cuomo first traces the emergence of ecofeminism from the ecological and feminist movements before clearly discussing the weaknesses of some ecofeminist positions Exploring the dualisms of nature culture and masculinizing feminine that are the bulwark of many contemporary ecofeminist positions and questioning traditional feminist analyses of gender and caring Feminism and Ecological Communities asks whether women are essentially closer to nature than men and how we ought to link the oppression of women people of colour and other subjugated groups to the degradation of nature Chris J Cuomo addresses these key issues by drawing on recent work in feminist ethics as well as the work of diverse figures such as Aristotle John Dewey Donna Haraway and Maria Lugones A fascinating feature of the book is the use of the metaphor of the cyborg to highlight the fluidity of the nature culture distinction and how this can enrich ecofeminist ethics and politics An outstanding new argument for an ecological feminism that links both theory and practice Feminism and Ecological Communities bravely redraws the ecofeminist map It will be essential reading for all those interested in gender studies environmental studies and philosophy
