Rodwell,2025-10-07 Opportunities to write our memoirs are many and varied To meet emerging demands the memoir genre continually is evolving and it is possible for the memoirist to shape the memoirs with varying themes time and settings to be brought to bear on school education at a senior level and for a range of teacher development programs Thus the developing importance of an accompanying exegesis For better or for worse childhoods shape adult relationships and attachment styles profoundly shaping who we are as teachers teaching styles and generally the things we consider important and not so important The shape of our childhood and adolescence has a profound impact on how relationships are formed in adulthood It can affect our ability to trust be vulnerable and create productive bonds both at school and college and professionally and also our general levels of motivation Through the aforementioned theme and subthemes my memoirs here reveal how childhood struggle has shaped my approach to teaching and my academic career from an unskilled labourer from the country working class in the timber industry deprived of a high school education and recruited into the workforce at 15 years of age to a senior academic in one of Australia s G8 universities holding five PhDs With strong historical backgrounding a special appeal of this book is its drive to place childhood and adolescent events contained in the memoirs in a wider historical context looking to transnational movements such as discussions on anachronisms and eugenics In so doing the exegesis a fresh and exciting innovation is in harmony with the memoirs The memoir is so refashioned as a pedagogical tool

Reading and Writing Place Erika L. Bass, Amy Price Azano, 2024-02-27 In Reading and Writing Place Connecting Rural Schools and Communities Erika L Bass and Amy Price Azano suggest there is a need to add nuance to the ways we consider and engage with place in the classroom Using a narrative writing project completed with two rural schools in two states the authors provide an explanation of critical place education and how students explorations of place through writing led the authors to develop a concept of place Big P and small p place Students explorations of place highlighted the how internalizations and externalizations of place impact identity formation and sense of belonging

Ford Madox Ford's Cosmopolis: Psycho-geography, Flânerie and the Cultures of Paris, 2016-08-15 The controversial British writer Ford Madox Ford 1873 1939 is increasingly recognized as a major presence in early twentieth century literature This series of International Ford Madox Ford Studies was founded to reflect the recent resurgence of interest in him Each volume is based upon a particular theme issue or work and relates aspects of Ford s writing life and contacts to broader concerns of his time Ford is best known for his fiction especially The Good Soldier long considered a modernist masterpiece and Parade s End which Anthony Burgess described as the finest novel about the First World War Samuel Hynes has called the greatest war novel ever written by an Englishman and which was adapted by Tom Stoppard for the acclaimed 2012 BBC HBO television series starring Benedict Cumberbatch and Rebecca Hall The twelve essays in this volume Ford Madox Ford s Cosmopolis focus directly on the internationalism so important to Ford and bring out three main ideas First his lifelong commitment to an international vision of literature and culture Second Cosmopolis also refers to Ford s experiences of the particular cosmopolitan cities he lived in London Paris New York Third the idea that his lifelong experience of Paris in particular informed and shaped his writing Ford s Cosmopolis is thus not only an ideal city or state open to such cosmopolitan exchange It is also a mode of writing which invents forms and styles to render the experience of such hybridity diversity fluidity and reports on a two year long qualitative literacy case study of the academic literacies of first and second generation immigrant youth in an afterschool tutoring program in South Bronx New York Through transcripts of tutoring sessions interview data and youths written work each chapter highlights how youth interpreted and navigated various school assignments and what resources and perspectives they brought to unpacking the meaning and significance of texts and disciplinary discourses By focusing on the immigrant youth themselves and not on the teaching that happens or does not happen inside classrooms this volume provides a unique and much needed vantage point to understanding the academic literacies and engagement of urban immigrant youth Writing in Dust Jenny Kerber,2011-03-17 Writing in Dust is the first sustained study of prairie

Canadian literature from an ecocritical perspective Drawing on recent scholarship in environmental theory and criticism Jenny Kerber considers the ways in which prairie writers have negotiated processes of ecological and cultural change in the region from the early twentieth century to the present The book begins by proposing that current environmental problems in the prairie region can be understood by examining the longstanding tendency to describe its diverse terrain in dualistic terms either as an idyllic natural space or as an irredeemable wasteland It inquires into the sources of stories that naturalize ecological prosperity and hardship and investigates how such narratives have been deployed from the period of colonial settlement to the present It then considers the ways in which works by both canonical and more recent writers ranging from Robert Stead W O Mitchell and Margaret Laurence to Tim Lilburn Louise Halfe and Thomas King consistently challenge these dualistic landscape myths proposing alternatives for the development of more ecologically just and sustainable relationships among people and between humans and their physical environments Writing in Dust asserts that reading environmentally can help us to better understand a host of issues facing prairie inhabitants today including the environmental impacts of industrial agriculture resource extraction climate change shifting urban rural demographics the significance of Indigenous understandings of human nature relationships and the complex often contradictory meanings of eco cultural metaphors of alien invasiveness hybridity and wildness Memoirs of Archbishop Temple: London
