People From The Other World:

Ghosts and Things Aviva Briefel, 2025-04-15 Ghosts and Things argues that Victorians turned to the dead to understand the material culture of their present. With the rise of spiritualism in Britain in the early 1850s, séances invited participants to contact ghosts using material things from ordinary household furniture to specialized technologies invented to register the presence of spirits. In its supernatural object lessons, Victorian spiritualism was not just a mystical movement centered on the dead but also a practical resource for learning how to negotiate the uncanniness of life under capitalism. Aviva Briefel explores how spiritualism compelled séance participants to speculate on the manufacture of spectral clothing, ponder the hidden histories and energies of parlor furniture, confront the humiliations of consumerism as summoned spirits pelted them with exotic fruits, and comprehend modes of mechanical reproduction like photography and electrotyping that had the power to shape identities. Briefel argues that spiritualist practices and the objects they employed offered both believers and skeptics unexpected frameworks for grappling with the often invisible forces of labor, consumption, exploitation, and exchange that haunted their everyday lives. Ghosts and Things reveals how spiritualism's explorations of the borderland between life and death matter and spirit produced a strange and seductive combination of wonder and discomfort that allowed participants to experience the possibilities and precarities of industrial modernity in novel ways. Hunger Martin Caparros, 2020-02-25

Nothing less than astonishing. Booklist starred review. From a renowned international journalist comes a galvanizing international bestseller about mankind's oldest, most persistent, and most brutal problem: world hunger. There are now over 800 million starving people in the world. An average of 25,000 men and women, and in particular children, perish from hunger every day. Yet we produce enough food to feed the entire human population one and a half times over. So why is it that world hunger remains such a deadly problem? In this crucial and inspiring work, award-winning author Martin Caparr's travels the globe in search of an answer. His investigation brings him to Africa and the Indian subcontinent where he witnesses starvation first hand, to Chicago where he documents the greed of corporate food distributors, and to Buenos Aires where he accompanies trash scavengers in search of something to eat. An international bestseller when it first appeared, this first ever English language edition has been updated by Caparr's to consider whether conditions that have improved or worsened since the book's European publication. With its deep reflections and courageous journalism, Caparr's has created a powerful and empathic work that remains committed to ending humankind's longest ongoing crisis. People from the Other World

Henry Steel Olcott, 1875 The Story of Assyria James Baikie, 2018-03-10 At the beginning of all things, when the world was new and men were finding out bit by bit what they could do and how to do it, there were two countries that were more important than any others. They were both the valleys of great rivers, and it was the rivers that made them what they were. The one country was Egypt, that wonderful land where the Nile comes rolling down from the Great Lake Basin of equatorial Africa and flows for hundreds of miles between temples and pyramids erected by the greatest builders the world has ever seen About Egypt two of these little books have already told you Western Esotericism and the Science of Religion International Association for the History of Religions. Congress, International Association for the History of Religions, 1998 This volume is based upon papers read during the innovative section Western Esotericism and the Science of Religion organized at the 17th International Congress of the International Association for the History of Religions IAHR in Mexico City August 5 12 1995 The section was created in order to fill a long standing hiatus in the academic study of religions whereas phenomena such as gnosticism and hermetism in antiquity and even the occult sciences of that period have long been recognized as subjects worthy of serious investigation the history of similar and related phenomena in more recent periods has hardly received the same measure of scholarly attention and recognition The present volume is devoted to the academic emancipation of these areas as constituting a legitimate domain of research which may be referred to by the generic label western esotericism Preceded by an introductory essay on the birth of this new discipline in the study of religion the volume provides a sample of current research in the field and devotes special attention to some central methodological questions
