Peoples Of Borneo:

The Peoples of Borneo Victor King, 1993-08-20 Borneo the third largest island in the world is still sparsely populated but it has a remarkable ethnic diversity This book examines that diversity in economic and social life political organization religion worldview and material culture and shows that beneath these variations there are common social and cultural features that can be traced back to the Austronesian speaking migrants who first settled the island about 4 500 years ago The processes of historical differentiation from these common roots are considered by describing local human adaptations to the environment and the external influences on the Bornean peoples from places as far away as China India the Middle East and Europe Besides its cultural diversity and the historical reasons for it there are two dominant themes in the literature on Borneo first European popular images of the island and its peoples which tend to dwell on exotic customs and practices such as headhunting and piracy and second the pervasive influence of the rainforest on Bornean ways of life The book provides a comprehensive view of traditional Bornean societies and cultures setting its seemingly exotic institutions in their proper context and documenting the recent challenge to traditional ways of life posed by modernization the commercialization of agriculture logging and forest clearance resettlement and land development World Atlas of Great Apes and Their Conservation Julian Oliver Caldecott, Lera Miles, 2005 This comprehensive and authoritative review of the distribution and conservation status of Great Apes includes individual country profiles for each species and overview chapters on ape biology ecology and conservation challenges Other Lands, Other Peoples Elizabeth M. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
