British Cinema in the Fifties Christine Geraghty, 2002-01-04 In the fifties British cinema won large audiences with popular war films and comedies creating stars such as Dirk Bogarde and Kay Kendall and introducing the stereotypes of war hero boffin and comic bureaucrat which still help to define images of British national identity In British Cinema in the Fifties Christine Geraghty examines some of the most popular films of this period exploring the ways in which they approached contemporary social issues such as national identity the end of empire new gender roles and the care of children Through a series of case studies on films as diverse as It Always Rains on Sunday and Genevieve Simba and The Wrong Arm of the Law Geraghty explores some of the key debates about British cinema and film theory contesting current emphases on contradiction subversion and excess and exploring the curious mix of rebellion and conformity which marked British cinema in the post war era

Other Fifties topple the decade's already weakened image as a time of unprecedented peace prosperity and conformity. Representing the fifties as a period of cultural transformation, contributors reveal the gradual unmaking of traditions and value systems that took place as American culture prepared itself for the more easily observed cultural turbulence of the 1960s. Well-known contributors demonstrate how television, the novel, the Hollywood movie, the Broadway musical, and rock and roll assaulted midcentury American attitudes toward sexuality, race, gender, and class, so altering public sensibilities that what was novel or shocking in the fifties seems tame or even downright difficult to grasp today. They also rebut the widely held view that 1950s consumerism led to cultural homogeneity, replacing this view with a picture of robust popular markets that defied conservative controls and actively subverted conventional norms and values. Brushing away the haze of an era, The Other Fifties will help readers understand the decade not as placid or repressed but as a time when emancipatory desires struggled to articulate themselves.

The 50s: The Story of a Decade The New Yorker Magazine, 2015-10-27. This engrossing anthology assembles classic New Yorker pieces from a complex era enshrined in the popular imagination as the decade of poodle skirts and Cold War paranoia, featuring contributions from Philip Roth, John Updike, Nadine Gordimer, and Adrienne Rich, along with fresh analysis of the 1950s by some of today's finest writers. The New Yorker was there in real time, chronicling the tensions and innovations that lay beneath the era's placid surface. In this thrilling volume, classic works of reportage, criticism, and fiction are complemented by new contributions from the magazine's present all-star lineup of writers. The magazine's commitment to overseas reporting flourished in the 1950s, leading to important dispatches from East Berlin, the Gaza Strip, and Cuba during the rise of Castro. Closer to home, the fight to break barriers and establish a new American identity led to both illuminating coverage, as in a portrait of Thurgood Marshall at an NAACP meeting in Atlanta, and trenchant commentary, as in E. B. White's blistering critique of Senator Joe McCarthy. The arts scene is recalled in critical writing rarely reprinted, including Wolcott Gibbs on My Fair Lady, Anthony West on Invisible Man, and Philip Hamburger on Candid Camera. Also featured are great early works from Philip Roth and Nadine Gordimer, as well as startling poems by Theodore Roethke and Anne Sexton, among others. Completing the panoply are insightful and entertaining new pieces by present-day New Yorker contributors examining the 1950s through contemporary eyes. The result is a vital portrait of American culture as only one magazine in the world could do it. Including contributions by Elizabeth Bishop, Truman Capote, John Cheever, Roald Dahl, Janet Flanner, Nadine Gordimer, A. J. Liebling, Dwight Macdonald, Joseph Mitchell, Marianne Moore, Vladimir Nabokov, Sylvia Plath, V. S. Pritchett, Adrienne Rich, Lillian Ross, Philip Roth, Anne Sexton, James Thurber, John Updike, Eudora Welty, E. B. White, Edmund Wilson, and featuring new perspectives by Jonathan Franzen, Malcolm Gladwell, Adam Gopnik, Elizabeth Kolbert, Jill Lepore, Rebecca Mead, Paul Muldoon, Evan Osnos, David Remnick, Praise for The 50s. Superb a gift that keeps on giving. Kirkus Reviews, starred review. A magnificent anthology. Literary Review. Back to the Fifties. Michael D. Dwyer, 2015-06-10. Throughout the 1970s and 1980s, Hollywood studios and record companies churned out films albums music videos and promotional materials that sought to recapture revise and re imagine the 1950s Breaking from dominant wisdom that casts the trend as wholly defined by Ronald Reagan s politics or the rise of postmodernism Back to the Fifties reveals how Fifties nostalgia from 1973 to 1988 was utilized by a range of audiences for diverse and often competing agendas Films from American Graffiti to Hairspray and popular music from Sha Na Na to Michael Jackson shaped and were shaped by the complex social political and cultural conditions of the Reagan Era By closely examining the ways that the Fifties was remade and recalled Back to the Fifties explores how cultural memories were fostered for a generation of teenagers trained by popular culture to rewind record recycle and replay

Making History Richard Flacks, 1988 This book explores the puzzling phenomenon of new veiling practices among lower middle class women in Cairo Egypt Although these women are part of a modernizing middle class they also voluntarily adopt a traditional symbol of female subordination How can this paradox be explained An explanation emerges which reconceptualizes what appears to be reactionary behavior as a new style of political struggle as accommodating protest These women most of them clerical workers in the large government bureaucracy are ambivalent about working outside the home considering it a change which brings new burdens as well as some important benefits At the same time they realize that leaving home and family is creating an intolerable situation of the erosion of their social status and the loss of their traditional identity The new veiling expresses women s protest against this MacLeod argues that the symbolism of the new veiling emerges from this tense subcultural dilemma involving elements of both resistance and acquiescence
