Population Family And Welfare A Comparative Survey Of European Attitudes:

(1995). - XVI, 297 S. Hein G. Moors, Rossella Palomba, Population, Family, and Welfare Hein G. Moors, Rossella Palomba, 1995 Family formation and fertility in practically all European countries has been subject to dramatic changes over the last 20 years What are the attitudes of Europeans towards current demographic trends Are new values goals in life and everyday needs still compatible with raising children What policies might influence current population trends Based on a comparative survey of nine European countries Austria Belgium former Czechoslovakia Germany Hungary Italy The Netherlands Spain and Switzerland this volume provides a new perspective on the impact of population related social policies by linking them to emerging values attitudes and norms in the field of family formation and parenthood The analysis demonstrates that common trends like the decline in fertility do not imply a convergence of values and lifestyles nor the presence of similar social pressures The impact of social policies is related to the phase of the family cycle the social and economic situation of the couple as well as emerging values and norms with respect to family and parenthood in a specific national context This book argues for the revision of the assumption that generally observed demographic trends all have similar causes and ask for similar policies It will be an indispensable reference tool for both researchers and policy makers

Rethinking European Welfare Janet Fink, Gail Lewis, John Clarke, 2001-05-25 Rethinking European Welfare provides a wide ranging and innovative rethinking of the study of Europe and social policy and offers new ways of analyzing European welfare and its future Whilst acknowledging the importance of research and analysis of policy making in Europe this Reader addresses a range of other challenging and provoking issues which have been marginalized or ignored in the study of European social policy

Demographic Research Volume 19 Book 5 Joshua R. Goldstein, 2010-03 This fifth book of Volume 19 contains only a portion of publications which appeared between July 1 and December 31 2008 The first three books of Volume 19 contain Special Collection 7 Childbearing Trends and Policies in Europe The fourth and fifth books of Volume 19 contain the subsequent articles Book IV contains articles 30 through 45 and book V contains articles 46 through 62 All material published in volume 19 as well as full journal content is available as open access material at <http://www.demographic-research.org>

Demographic Challenges for Social Cohesion Charlotte Höhn, 2005-01-01 Europe: One Continent, Different Worlds De Beer, 2013-03-13 On the threshold of a new century the organisers of the European Population Conference 1999 EPC99 in The Hague decided not only to highlight the population trends that Europe is facing today but also the changes in the 21 st century that are set to shape the future of Europe They decided to focus on comparative issues both in time and in space In order to trace the degree of homogeneity and heterogeneity of European populations over time converging and diverging population trends that are specific to contemporary and future Europe need to be explored This is reflected in EPC99's motto European Populations on the threshold of the new millennium unity in diversity Future demographic developments will be caused by specific economic social and cultural conditions in Europe and will in turn have a major influence on future economic and social conditions To the extent that demographic trends differ across countries separate countries may face different social and economic problems As demographic trends tend to have long lasting effects it is important to assess the possible consequences of future demographic developments at an early stage On the occasion of EPC99 two of the organisers Statistics Netherlands SN and the Netherlands Interdisciplinary Demographic Institute NIDI decided to produce a set of two population scenarios showing the possible impact of converging and diverging population trends in the next century

Population and Family in the Low Countries 1995 Hans van den Brekel, F.
