Porpoises And Sonar:

Porpoises and Sonar Winthrop Niles Kellogg, 1961 Porpoises and Sonar Winthrop Niles Kellogg, 1962 Porpoises and Sonar W. N. Kellogg, 2003-01 Marine Protected Areas for Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises Erich Hoyt, 2012-10-02

The first edition of the widely praised Marine Protected Areas for Whales Dolphins and Porpoises published in 2005 led to numerous new marine protected area proposals and a number of notable conservation successes around the world. In this completely revised and expanded second edition, new developments in the Mediterranean, Caribbean, and Pacific are described, as well as future directions for High Seas protection. New sections show how to design and manage MPAs in an ever noisier ocean subject to climate change, increased shipping, and hydrocarbon exploration. The process of protected area creation for cetaceans has been accelerated, and more than 200 exciting new places are detailed in this edition. This book provides a route map for MPA managers, as well as countries, to meet the ambitious targets for highly protected MPA networks by 2012 and 2020. This book is a key conservation tool and a springboard for worldwide change in human attitudes toward the world ocean, where all life originated and where the majority of life on Earth still lives. European Whales, Dolphins, and Porpoises Peter G. H. Evans, 2019-12-04

European Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises Marine Mammal Conservation in Practice presents an intimate view of the workings of international conservation agreements to protect marine mammals, detailing achievements over the last 25 years, identifying weaknesses, and making recommendations that governments, scientists, marine stakeholders, and the public can take to improve conservation efforts. The book is written by an experienced marine mammal scientist and award-winning conservationist, providing a unique synthesis on their status, distribution, and ecology. In addition, it presents information on various conservation threats, including fisheries bycatch, contaminants, noise, disturbance, plastic ingestion, and climate change. This comprehensive resource will appeal to marine mammal conservationists and researchers, as well as environmental and wildlife practitioners at all levels. Offers an accessible review on how scientists study this challenging group of mammals to gather necessary evidence for conservation action. Illustrates with striking images all recorded regional species, including distribution maps, key threats, and specific research methods. Includes contributions from leading scientists, conservationists, and members of government and international bodies like IWC and UNEP. Experimentally Demonstrated Echolocation in the Amazon River Porpoise, Inia Geoffrensis (Blainville) R. H. Penner, A. E. Murchison, 1970

Echolocation and related behavior in the Amazon River porpoise Inia geoffrensis was investigated to demonstrate biological sonar within the context of operant conditioning. It was found that the Inia's click train ranged from 25 to 200 kHz, with major energy centered approximately at 100 kHz. The longest periods of silence for the Inia were 8 sec. Corollary behavior exhibited during the performance of the conditioned task indicated a two-step sonic appraisal of the stimulus condition. Author Ultrasonics Dale Ensminger, 1988-09-02

Maintaining the features that made the first edition of this book a bestseller, Ultrasonics: Fundamentals, Technology, Applications, Second Edition describes the basic principles theoretical background and a wide range of applications of ultrasonic energy This edition includes an expanded discussion of beams that now contains mathematical relationships equations for designing large horns an enlarged presentation of transducer designs expanded tabulations of the acoustic properties of materials additional information on nondestructive testing expanded coverage of high intensity ultrasound and additional details regarding the medical applications of ultrasonics

Animal Sonar Systems R. Busnel, 2013-06-29 Thirteen years have gone by since the first international meeting on Animal Sonar Systems was held in Frascati Italy in 1966 Since that time almost 900 papers have been published on its theme The first symposium was vital as it was the starting point for new research lines whose goal was to design and develop technological systems with properties approaching optimal biological systems There have been highly significant developments since then in all domains related to biological sonar systems and in their applications to the engineering field The time had therefore come for a multidisciplinary integration of the information gathered not only on the evolution of systems used in animal echolocation but on systems theory behavior and neurobiology signal to noise ratio masking signal processing and measures observed in certain species against animal sonar systems Modern electronics technology and systems theory which have been developed only since 1974 now allow designing sophisticated sonar and radar systems applying principles derived from biological systems At the time of the Frascati meeting integrated circuits and technologies exploiting computer science were not well enough developed to yield advantages now possible through use of real time analysis leading to among other things a definition of target temporal characteristics as biological sonar systems are able to do All of these new technical developments necessitate close cooperation between engineers and biologists within the framework of new experiments which have been designed particularly in the past five years

Hearing by Whales and Dolphins Whitlow W.L. Au, Richard R. Fay, 2012-12-06 Cetaceans inhabit oceans seas and even some rivers throughout the world Hearing and sound production are thought to serve crucial functions in the behavior natural history or life cycle of all of these animals Although difficulties in studying large aquatic animals have limited experimental auditory research on many species knowledge about the acoustic behavior of these animals has been increasing dramatically In this volume experts in different areas of the field provide an overview of the bioacoustics of whales and dolphins as well as a thorough introduction to the subject for investigators of hearing in other animals Topics covered include the structure and function of cetacean auditory systems the unique sound production system of odontocetes acoustic communication psychoacoustics echolocation and models of sound propagation Acoustical Holography A. Metherell, 2012-12-06 Only a space limitation of 115 seats prevented this First International Symposium on Acoustical Holography from having an attendance of over 250 Unfortunately the size of the auditorium of the Douglas Advanced Research Laboratories required that attendance be by invitation only and many deserving and interested scientists could not be present This volume presents the proceedings of the symposium and hopefully will help compensate those individuals who were unable to attend The symposium itself consisted of sixteen formal papers The seven teenth by Dr P Greguss was not received in time to be read but is included in these proceedings The presence of Professor Dennis Gabor considerably enhanced the informal sessions which frequently became as spirited as one might expect in a new field Dr H M A El Sum a consultant to the Douglas Advanced Research Laboratories and a pioneer in the field of holography set the stage with the first paper He provided a general introduction to the physical principles and practical methods involved in optical and acoustical holography His paper also included a summary of various specific techniques currently used in sound holography with the advantages disadvantages and limitations involved for each approach
