opening poem situates the poet beneath an endless sky of stars and dark emptiness But dear God all I want is to be here my tiny anguish and my joy a moment's notice an equivalent cry The book divides into four sections Canticle Complaint Confession and Compline Like the Psalms the poems praise with one voice then turn to note human failure error and injustice They contemplate the ways of desire then enter the mission of solitude turning from social practice to meditative practice summoned into pain and darkness by an intrepid joy Traditionally one who makes an icon does so in an attitude of contemplation the finished icon uniting image and spirit in a presence that challenges and confronts the one who stands before it Evidence has the force of both data and document but it also includes the evidence of things not seen In this rich and powerful collection Gibson uses both icon and evidence to probe the human heart its entanglements and its freedom

Deppe, 2002      Rock Harbor Carl Phillips, 2014-09-02 A masterful new collection by one of our most important contemporary lyric poets Wind as a face gone red with blowing oceans whose end is broken stitchery swim of sea dragon dolphin shimmer and coil invitation You Know the kind of map I mean Countries as distant as they are believable from Halo

Carl Phillips lyric explorations of longing and devotion castigation and mercy are unrivaled in contemporary poetry Here in his sixth book Phillips visits those spaces both physical and psychological where risk and safety coincide and considers what it might mean to live at the nexus of the two Sifting among the upturned evidence of crisis from Roman Empire to westward expansion from the turn of a lover's face to the harbor of the book's title a place of calm fashioned of the very rock that can mean disaster these poems negotiate and map out the impulse toward rescue and away from it Phillips's pooling cascading lines are the unsuppressed routes across his unique poetic landscape daring and seductive in their readiness to drift and reverse as the terrain demands

Light's Ladder Christopher Howell, 2016-06-01 In this extraordinary new collection by distinguished poet Christopher Howell the opening poem presents us with a spiritual paradox that will echo throughout its pages The speaker remembers an earlier time of happiness freedom and a certain innocence The poem closes with And if he remembers now he is in love which is the soul's condition and alone because that is how we live How we live is the book's major inquiry its illustration the poems major achievement How do we live in our dailiness in our loves our private and global wars And in the face of unbearable grief how can we live Keats When Keats at last beyond the curtain of love's distraction lay dying in his room on the Piazza di Spagna the melody of the Bernini Fountain filling him like flowers he held his breath like a coin looked out into the moonlight and thought he saw snow He did not suppose it was fever or the body's weakness turning the mind He thought England and there he was secretly for the rest of his improvidently short life up to his neck in sleigh bells and the impossibly English cries of street vendors perfect and affectionate as his soul For days the snow and statuary sang him so far beyond regret that if now you walk rancorless and alone there in the piazza the white shadow of his last words to Severn Don't be frightened may enter you
