The Lost History of the Little People Susan B. Martinez,2013-03-25 Reveals an ancient race of Little People the catalyst for the emergence of the first known civilizations Traces the common roots of key words and holy symbols including the scarlet biretta of Catholic cardinals back to the Little People Explains how the mounds of North America and Ireland were not burial sites but the homes of the Little People Includes the Tuatha De Danaan the Hindu Sri Vede the dwarf gods of Mexico and Peru the Menhune of Hawaii the Nunnehi of the Cherokee as well as African Pygmies and the Semang of Malaysia All cultures have stories of the First People the Old Ones our prehistoric forebears who survived the Great Flood and initiated the first sacred traditions From the squat gods of Mexico and Peru to the fairy kingdom of Europe to the blond pygmies of Madagascar on every continent of the world they are remembered as masters of stone carving agriculture navigation writing and shamanic healing and as a hobbit people no taller than 31 2 feet in height yet perfectly proportioned Linking the high civilizations of the Pleistocene to the Golden Age of the Great Little People Susan Martinez reveals how this lost race was forced from their original home on the continent of Pan known in myth as Mu or Lemuria during the Great Flood of global legend Following the mother language of Pan Martinez uncovers the original unity of humankind in the common roots of key words and holy symbols including the scarlet biretta of Catholic cardinals and shows how the Small Sacred Workers influenced the primitive tribes that they encountered in the post flood diaspora leading to the rise of civilization Examining the North American mound culture sites including the diminutive adult remains found there she explains that these stately mounds were not burial sites but the sanctuaries and homes of the Little People Drawing on the intriguing worldwide evidence of pygmy tunnels dwarf villages elf arrows and tiny coffins Martinez reveals the Little People as the real missing link of prehistory later sanctified and remembered as gods rather than the mortals they were Dreams and Professional Personhood Mary-T. B. Dombeck, 1991-07-03 Two community mental health centers in the Northeastern United States form the setting for this ethnographic study of dreams dream telling and dream interpretation To gather information about American attitudes toward dreams and dream telling the author observed and interviewed employees of these centers social workers psychologists nurses psychiatrists secretaries and medical technicians The issues that emerge from the interviews are analyzed and clarified by exploring Western understandings of the concepts of person and self and of professional personhood the capacities and responsibilities ascribed to you by yourself and others in your milieu as professionals The book also contains a comprehensive literature review of the research on dreams and an appendix of narrative statements made by informants on their dreams their work and their relationships History of Psychology in Autobiography Leendert P. Mos, 2009-06-12 Since the 17th century autobiography has an honorable place in the study of history In 1930 the preeminent historian of psychology Edwin Boring writes that a science separated from its history lacks direction and promises a future of uncertain importance To understand what psychology is and what it is becoming the autobiographies of famous psychologists is history at its best Here we find model inquirers of the science who offer a personalized account of themselves and their vocation in the context of the history of the science What is characteristic of many of those who have contributed to an alternate vision of psychological science is that they never considered themselves or were considered by others as belonging to the mainstream of the discipline In considering an alternative history of psychology in autobiography the editor invited contributors whose research and writings have pushed the discipline in other directions pushed its limits and whose scholarship finds its philosophical framework outside the discipline altogether If these contributors may not be model inquirers their scholarship is very much a matter of consequence for those who wish to understand psychology Among the outliers included here are those who devoted themselves to the writing of psychology examining its history theories research and professional practices and who enthusiastically embraced over the course of their lives the discipline as a human science Their influence has been subtle as has been their appeal to many students who affection for the discipline finds its promise in a discerning self awareness and a critical understanding of others and their worlds This volume is not simply a collection of personal chronologies which might inspire or lend appreciation to a younger generation Our contributors write from their personal and professional experience of course but they write of their thinking and understanding of the psyche as an aspect of human life of psychology as an academic form of human sciences inquiry and so bring to bear their scientific and philosophical imagination to their personal challenges in their chosen vocation as psychologists Our contributors cover a broad swath of the second half of the 20th century the century of psychology Nurturing the discipline from within various philosophical social political and cultural roots their autobiographies exemplify marginality if not alienation from the mainstream even as their professional and personal lives give expression to engaged scholarship commitment to vocation and straightforwardly and reflectively a love of the heart From Germany Carl Graumann from France Erika Apfelbaum from Canada David Bakan and Kurt Danziger and from the United States Amedeo Giorgi Robert Rieber and Joseph Rychlak relate their lives to the larger contexts of our times Their personal stories are an integral part of the historiography of our discipline Indeed a contribution to historiography of our discipline is constituted in their autobiographical self presentations for their writings attest as much to their lives as model inquirers as they do to the possibility of psychology as a human science
