Why is Shakespeare so often associated with information technologies and with the idea of archiving itself Alan Galey explores this question through the entwined histories of Shakespearean texts and archival technologies over the past four centuries In chapters dealing with the archive the book photography sound information and data Galey analyzes how Shakespeare became prototypical material for publishing experiments and new media projects as well as for theories of archiving and computing Analyzing examples of the Shakespearean archive from the seventeenth century to today he takes an original approach to Shakespeare and new media that will be of interest to scholars of the digital humanities Shakespeare studies archives and media history Rejecting the idea that current forms of computing are the result of technical forces beyond the scope of humanist inquiry this book instead offers a critical prehistory of digitization read through the afterlives of Shakespeare's texts Catalogue of the Charles Romm Collection of First Editions, Manuscripts and Inscribed Copies of Esteemed 19th Century and Modern English and American Writers Charles Romm, 1921 Baconiana, 1929 Complicity Thomas Docherty, 2016-10-03 Complicity argues that all existing modes of cultural critique are regarded as legitimate and productive if and only if they are complicit with the very ideologies and values that the criticism sets out to undermine Through philosophical literary and theoretical analysis Thomas Docherty shows how easy it has been for criticism to become essentially an act of political collaboration with existing governmental power The book explores the various ways in which both historically and theoretically critical activity has become complicit with the over arching social and political norms that it aims to undermine Philosophically ethically and politically criticism's fundamental impulse is too often intrinsically negated In extreme political form this places criticism in line with collaborationist activity Docherty then finds a productive way out of the double bind in which criticism has traditionally found itself through an idea of criticism as a mode of reserve a mode of commitment that eschews fundamentalism of all kinds New Inscriptions and Seals Relating to the Biblical World Meir Lubetski, Edith Lubetski, 2012-09-11 This volume continues the tradition of New Seals and Inscriptions Hebrew Idumean and Cuneiform Sheffield Phoenix 2007 by featuring analyses by eminent scholars of some of the archaeological treasures from Dr Shlomo Moussaieff's outstanding collection These contributions signal fresh approaches to the study of ancient artifacts and underscore the role of archaeological evidence in reconstructing the legacy of antiquity especially that of the biblical period The contributors are Kathleen Abraham Chaim Cohen Robert Deutsch Claire Gottlieb Martin Heide Richard S Hess W G Lambert Andr Lemaire Meir Lubetski Matthew Morgenstern Alan Millard Lawrence J Mykytiuk and Peter van der Veen Clemency & Cruelty in the Roman World Melissa Barden Dowling, 2006 Explores the formation of clemency as a human and social value in the Roman Empire Zohar for All Rav Michael Laitman PhD, 2024-04-14 Beresheet Aleph Beresheet
