Reforming Education The Opening Of The American Mind:

Reforming Education Mortimer Jerome Adler,1988 Reforming Education Mortimer Jerome Adler,1990 Addler addresses the controversy of what should be taught in our schools He suggests that is should serve and be made available to all He begins with a stinging critique of Allan Bloom and offers his advice for the best education Reforming Education Adler,Mortimer J. Adler,1993-01-01 The Promise of a New America William Paul Wanker,2017-01-24 The Promise of a New America identifies the philosophical historical political economic social and cultural causes underpinning the increasing dysfunction of the American Republic and the subsequent disenfranchisement of its peoples The book uses these findings to identify a solution to remedy our ills it is to build new form of governance around the concept of human dignity and living a dignified human existence The book proposes the new form be an eco cultural community a community defined both by its naturally occurring bio system and by the economic and cultural identity of the people involved therein And the book challenges all Americans to overthrow our republican form of government by engaging in a Campaign for Human Dignity supported technically as that campaign would be through the Human Dignity Project TM which would ensure increasing enfranchisement and not segregation The Educated Person D. G. Mulcahy,2008-03-27 Liberal education has long been a fascination for scholars in a variety of disciplines and is closely associated with the idea of the educated person Seen at one time as a matter for colleges and universities over the years it has become central to the debate surrounding general education in high school and even the earlier grades Yet so many and varied are the uses of the term liberal education that the question arises of whether and how the idea is any longer a useful or helpful construct In what way might it speak helpfully to educational challenges we face today In what ways does it still speak helpfully to educational challenges we face today In what ways might it be a guide as we search for a better way forward These are the central questions that are addressed in this book In doing so the positions of three theorists John Henry Newman Mortimer J Adler and Jane Roland Martin who have written about liberal education in a compelling way and from different perspectives are selected for close analysis The analysis is built upon to fashion a new ideal of the educated person and a new theory of liberal education investigates the nature of education and musical transformation and suggests alternative educational models and strategies Estelle Jorgensen frames her argument for new approaches against the backdrop of historical musical and educational practice and draws on literature from various fields Transforming Music Education is addressed to current and future music teachers those who train them and all who are interested in revolutionizing music education The Social Construction of Virtue George W. Noblit, Van O. Dempsey, 1996-09-26 It's time to face an inevitable conclusion School reform does not reform schools That's because reform movements conceive of schools as being about transmitting knowledge Yet schools are not primarily about knowledge They are about the construction of meaning and morality in the lives of students and communities In this book the authors argue that to break this recycling of reform efforts we must understand how schools construct moral life The focus is on two elementary schools Rougemont an historically African American school that was closed during school desegregation in the 1970s and Cedar Grove an historically white school to which the former Rougemont students were sent Described are the histories of these schools the communities in which they are located and some of the people who influenced and were influenced by the schools From those contexts the authors then make explicit the virtues that these communities and schools constructed and valued and describe how those virtues came to influence lives The oral histories of the two schools and their communities provide the basis of a novel critique of the value conflict that has characterized educational reform in this country The social construction of virtue offers an alternative perspective on the moral purpose of schooling in America The Dream of a Democratic Culture T. Lacy, 2013-11-26 This book presents a moderately revisionist history of the great books idea anchored in the following movements and struggles fighting anti intellectualism advocating for the liberal arts distributing cultural capital and promoting a public philosophy anchored in mid century liberalism that fostered a shared civic culture Masquerade of the Dream Walkers Peter A. Redpath, 2021-11-01 Through extensive textual analysis this book concludes that the prevailing opinion about the nature of modern and contemporary philosophy is wrong It maintains that almost all modern and contemporary philosophy is deconstructed secularized Augustinian theology not philosophy The work is divided into eight chapters a guest Foreword by Herbert I London President of the Hudson Institute and Olin Professor of Humanities at New York University notes bibliography and an index Chapter 1 Protagoras Sees the Ghost of Hippo considers Cartesian thought Hobbes and Newton Chapter 2 I Feel the Spirit Move Me examines Locke Berkeley and Hume Chapter 3 The Urge to Emerge investigates Lessing and Rousseau Chapters 4 To Dream the Impossible Dream and 5 Wake Up Wake Up You Sleepyhead treat Kant Chapters 6 I Am Music and 7 Looking for God in All The Wrong Places deal with Hegel Chapter 8 Dirty Dancing Higher Education as Enlightened Swindling concludes that a lack of philosophical and historical experience coupled with a widespread inability to read philosophical texts according to the intention of the author 1 causes us to mistake secularized theology for philosophy and 2 is a main cause for the decline of contemporary universities Pedagogies for the Future Gary Beauchamp, Dylan Adams, Kevin Smith, 2022-10-27 This text is a go to resource for those wanting to broaden their knowledge and critical understanding of how international education can be transformed in the future based on theory and research The core focus of the book is to enable the reader to critically reflect on the role of education in a future global society where justice equality and renewal are central features Each chapter explores an alternative approach to education including Approaches grounded in indigenous cultures and ancient wisdom traditions as well as those from radical perspectives on the role of society and culture Reconsidered interpretations of current approaches based on critical theories and alternative ways of knowing and understanding Exploration of the role of technology in providing access to education in a world where learning moves beyond fixed locations and boundaries Reflection on current learning environments populated by new global communities Aimed primarily at undergraduate students in education Pedagogies for the Future also gives voice to new and ancient narratives of hope and renewal which are vital for postgraduate study and initial teacher education and training as well as education policymakers

Smith, Clifford E. Knapp, 2011-01-20 This sourcebook book provides a much needed overview and foundations for the field of experiential education through portraits of philosophers educators and other practitioners whose work is relevant to understanding its philosophy and methodology The Fog of Reform George A. Goens, 2016-04-06 American public education has been on a merry go round of change for the past 40 years We made something that is complex by its very nature into a strangled enterprise that is becoming even more knotty and complicated A fog of reform is created obscuring issues and deflecting our focus from the real mission of schools We need to emphasize ideals and principles in providing an education for our children in a caring and creative way This book is about the fog of reform and getting back the ideal of a place called school The sections describe a new metaphor and approach to change and examine the forces and ideals that can bring about the schools children need Principles and values transform organizations not mandates and fear Recipes for making schools into caring places for children do not exist Great schools must be created one by one Numbers don t create change people and passion do Unless we focus on the moral imperative of educating children we will fail them and possibly slide into an ethical quagmire

The Splintering of the American Mind William Egginton,2018-08-28 A timely provocative necessary look at how identity politics has come to dominate college campuses and higher education in America at the expense of a more essential commitment to equality Thirty years after the culture wars identity politics is now the norm on college campuses and it hasn t been an unalloyed good for our education system or the country Though the civil rights movement feminism and gay pride led to profoundly positive social changes William Egginton argues that our culture s increasingly narrow focus on individual rights puts us in a dangerous place The goal of our education system and particularly the liberal arts was originally to strengthen community but the exclusive focus on individualism has led to a new kind of intolerance degrades our civic discourse and fatally distracts progressive politics from its commitment to equality Egginton argues that our colleges and universities have become exclusive expensive clubs for the cultural and economic elite instead of a national publicly funded project for the betterment of the country Only a return to the goals of community and the egalitarian values underlying a liberal arts education can head off the further fracturing of the body politic and the splintering of the American mind With lively on the ground reporting and trenchant analysis The Splintering of the American Mind is a powerful book that is guaranteed to be controversial within academia and beyond At this critical juncture the book challenges higher education and every American to reengage with our history and its contexts and to imagine our nation in new and more inclusive ways

The Relevance of Newman in a "Post-Christian" World Keith Beaumont,Robert C. Christie,2021-02-01 What has Newman to say today not just to Christians but to those shapers of public opinion in education and the media for whom Christianity is no longer a point of reference or to those for whom all religion is merely a matter of personal and subjective opinion This is the central question of this volume As it shows Newman challenges us to think in an integrated way connecting different areas of thought and experience He invites us to reflect on the nature of the human person and the self on the nature of conscience and its role in contemporary political life and on the relationship between the individual and the community The contributions here show that Newman challenges us to examine the relationships between different academic disciplines in the quest for a connected view or grasp of things He invites us to see faith as not just a question of believing but also as a quest for a personal living relationship His thought throws fresh light on the nature of inter religious dialogue and contemporary evangelism

School Desegregation George W. Noblit,2015-03-17 This book is written for the Millennial Generation to educate them about what school desegregation was actually about the struggle over white domination in the United States The textbooks they read as high school students describe the heroic efforts of African Americans to achieve civil rights but do not describe who was denying them these rights white Americans The oral histories in this book reveal how individuals navigated efforts to achieve educational equity amidst efforts to reassert white domination These accounts counter the textbook history the Millennial Generation read which omits the massive white resistance to school desegregation the various ways whites used subterfuge to slow down and redirect school desegregation in what would more benefit whites and the concerted white political backlash that has been ensconced in educational policy and reform beginning with A Nation at Risk and continuing in No Child Left Behind That is educational policy as we know it is all about asserting white domination and not about educating children and thus the Millennial Generation is faced with undoing what their parents and grandparents have done
