Roger Sandall's Films and Contemporary Anthropology Lorraine Mortimer, 2019-09-12 A look at a prize winning documentarian whose work with aboriginal Australians and others united the fields of film and anthropology in the 1960s and 70s In Roger Sandall s Films and Contemporary Anthropology Lorraine Mortimer argues that while social anthropology and documentary film share historic roots and goals particularly on the continent of Australia their trajectories

have tended to remain separate This book reunites film and anthropology through the works of Roger Sandall a New Zealand born filmmaker and Columbia University graduate who was part of the vibrant avant garde and social documentary film culture in New York in the 1960s Mentored by Margaret Mead in anthropology and Cecile Starr in fine arts Sandall was eventually hired as the one man film unit at the newly formed Australian Institute of Aboriginal Studies in 1965 In the 1970s he became a lecturer in anthropology at the University of Sydney Sandall won First Prize for Documentary at the Venice Film Festival in 1968 yet his films are scarcely known even in Australia now Mortimer demonstrates how Sandall s films continue to be relevant to contemporary discussions in the fields of anthropology and documentary studies She ties exploration of the making and restriction of Sandall s aboriginal films and his nonrestricted films made in Mexico Australia and India to the radical history of anthropology and the resurgence today of an expanded existential phenomenological anthropology that encompasses the vital connections between humans animals things and our environment

The Ancestress Hypothesis Kathryn Coe,2003 In our society it has long been believed that art serves very little social purpose Evolutionary anthropologists however are examining a potential role for art in human evolution Kathryn Coe looks to the visual arts of traditional societies for clues Because they are passed down from previous generations traditional art forms such as body decoration funeral ornaments and ancestral paintings offer ways to promote social relationships among kin and codescendants of a common ancestor Mothers used art forms to anchor themselves and their kin to the father and his kin and to promote the survival and reproductive success of kin and descendants Individuals who abided by this strategy accompanied by its strict codes of cooperation left more descendants than did individuals who did not Over time given this reproductive success large numbers of individuals would be identified as codescendants of a common ancestor and would cooperate as if they were close kin These cooperative codescendants were more likely to survive and leave descendants With each new generation these clans propagated not only their genes but also their behavioral strategy the replication or presence of art The book concludes by examining the changing characteristics of visual art including a higher value on creativity competition and cost when traditional constraints on social behavior disappear

Landscapes of Indigenous Performance Fiona Magowan,Karl Neuenfeldt,2005 This collection shows how traditional music and dance have responded to colonial control in the past and more recently to other external forces beyond local control It looks at musical pasts and presents as a continuum of creativity at contemporary cultural performance as a contested domain and at cross cultural issues of recording and teaching music and dance as experienced by Indigenous leaders and educators and non Indigenous researchers and scholars

Customary marine tenure in Australia Nicolas Peterson ,Bruce Rigsby ,2014-02-19 Most

Australians are familiar with the concept of land ownership and understand the meaning of native title which recognises Indigenous peoples rights to land to which they are spiritually or culturally connected The ownership of areas of sea and its resources is often overlooked however despite Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander connections with the sea being just as important as those with the land The papers in this volume demonstrate how the concept of customary marine tenure has developed in various communities and look at some of its implications Originating in a session of papers at a conference in 1996 the papers in this volume were originally published as Oceania Monograph 48 in 1998 The Editorial Gaze Paul Eggert, Margaret Sankey, 2014-04-04 This collection of original essays brings international and multidisciplinary perspectives to the problem of how to understand and practice editorial mediation How does editing alter what it seeks to represent How does it condition the relationship between texts and readers The different concerns shared by editors of a variety of genres literary and otherwise emerge here as constructive new approaches to the theory and practice of editing are explored The essays make a concerted attempt to assess the implications of postmodern thought on one of the oldest and most fundamental cultural activities editing The section on theory covers such important subjects as editorial responsibility the death of the author and the nature of the authorial voice The practice section covers actual editing situations in various literary areas and in musicology recorded music and the preservation of oral literature The multidisciplinary volume will find its readers among students of textual criticism literature music and folklore as well as any readers of postmodern criticism
