Romanticism Across The Disciplines:

Romanticism Across the Disciplines Larry H. Peer, 1998 Twelve essays explore different manifestations of Romanticism in history music literature the visual arts and philosophy Particular topics include the growth of nationalism in literature and music the influence of the Italian journal Il Conciliatore 1818 1819 The notion of wanderer as a trope in German culture the resurgence of conceptual romanticism in Jeanette Winterson's novel The Passion and the romanticism found in Poe's parody of The Arabian Nights Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Romanticism Across the Disciplines

Larry H. Peer, 1998-06-11 Romanticism Across the Disciplines brings together thirteen essays written by prominent scholars from America and abroad to identify Romanticism's presence outside of one national tradition or a single discourse field These scholars point out the relationship between Romanticism and the problems of history the interpretation of the arts science philosophy and culture They show how the ideas and effects of Romanticism have entered every field of study through their place in life The presence of many different approaches to Romanticism demonstrate its diversity as a philosophy and provide an opportunity for a wide deep understanding of Romanticism and its place in the world

Reading across the Disciplines Karen Manarin, 2022-05-03 Reading Across the Disciplines offers a collection of twelve essays detailing a range of approaches to dealing with students reading needs at the college level Transforming reading in higher education requires more than individual faculty members working on SoTL projects in their particular fields Teachers need to consider reading across the disciplines In this collection authors from Australia and North America teaching in a variety of disciplines explore reading in undergraduate courses doctoral seminars and faculty development activities By paying attention to the particular classroom and placing those observations in conversation with scholarly literature they create new knowledge about reading in higher education from disciplinary and cross disciplinary perspectives Reading Across the Disciplines demonstrates how existing research about reading can be applied to specific classroom contexts offering models for faculty members whose own research interests may lie elsewhere but who believe in the importance of reading

Romantic Rapports Larry H. Peer, Christopher R. Clason, 2017 New essays offering fresh glimpses of Romanticism as interdisciplinary and cross linguistic illuminating the discursive features and the pan European nature of the movement

(Roman)ticism Larry H. Peer, 2008 This study presents a new approach to the theory of Romanticism Peer proceeds through key Romantic documents about form and structure while displacing and condensing modern scholarly assumptions that interrupt modern theoretical protocol A line of development is suggested moving from eighteenth century explorations in Kant Fielding and Diderot through Schlegelian Romantic beginnings and on through Emily Bronte Pushkin and the Romantic Manifesto culminating in the profound achievement of Manzoni Summarizing narrative implications by looking at the modern discipline of Comparative Literature this book deliberately deforms both our contemporary ideas about Romanticism as well as our non Romantic way of teaching it

Romanticism, Rhetoric and the Search for the Sublime, 2nd Edition

Craig R. Smith, 2023-01-23 Relying on the author's established expertise in rhetoric and political communication this book recontextualizes Romantic rhetorical theory from the late 18th and early 19th centuries to provide a foundation for a Neo Romantic rhetorical theory for our own time In the process it uses a unique methodology to correct misconceptions about the rhetorical theories of many writers Using a dialectical approach the early chapters trace Romanticism through its opposition to the industrial revolution and the Enlightenment back through Humanism and its opposition to Scholasticism to its roots in St Augustine's writing These chapters include a revisionist analysis of the church's treatment of Galileo in the course of showing how difficult it was for scientific study to be accepted in Scholastic circles The study goes on to argue that Jean Jacques Rousseau David Hume and Edmund Burke were bridge figures to the Romantic Era This move throws new light on exemplary painters composers writers and orators of the Romantic Era who are examined in chapters eight and nine Chapter ten focuses on Percy Bysshe Shelley and his development of the rhetorical poem and thereby provides a new genre in the Romantic catalogue Chapter Eleven turns to the Romantic rhetorical theories of Hugh Blair and Thomas De Quincey to empower those seeking to save the environment The concluding chapter then synthesizes their theories with relevant contemporary rhetorical theories thereby constructing a Neo Romantic theory for our own time In the process the book links the Romantics' love of nature to the current environmental crisis

Romanticism and Pleasure T. Schmid, 2010-12-12 In this text nine scholars discuss the aesthetics culture and science of pleasure in the Romantic period Richard Sha Denise Gigante and Anya Taylor among others make a timely contribution to recent debates about issues of pleasure taste and appetite by looking anew at the work of figures such as Byron Coleridge and Austen

"Landscape Imagery, Politics, and Identity in a Divided Germany, 1968-1989" Catherine Wilkins, 2017-07-05 Landscape Imagery Politics and Identity in a Divided Germany 1968-1989 explores the communicative relationship between German landscape painting and the viewing public that developed in the wake of the student revolutions of the late 1960s The book demonstrates that contrary to some historical thinking more similarities than differences characterized the sociopolitical concerns of East and West Germans during the late Cold War Era and that it was these shared issues that were reflected in the revival of the Romantic painting genre Catherine Wilkins focuses on recovering the agency of the individual artist and in revising historiography with sensitivity to narration from below Interdisciplinary in nature art historians can benefit from the study's analysis of images and artists not widely known outside of Germany Additionally the consolidation of statistics and data regarding German postwar cultural policy are relevant for political and cultural historians The author contributes to the ongoing multidisciplinary debates regarding Histoire Crois in arguing that a clear dichotomy between East Germany and West Germany did not exist but rather that the residents of both nations shared a concern over some of the same issues of the period and memory studies by using images as primary historical sources able to be employed in the recovery of potentially subversive memory and identity Issues related to gender relations environmentalism and spiritual belief are addressed by

Wilkins with appeal for scholars working with those particular themes Poststructuralist and literary theorists as well can find arguments supporting an alternative means of writing history through artworks and private memories The Oxford Handbook of European Romanticism Paul Hamilton, 2016-01-14 TThe Oxford Handbook to European Romanticism brings together leading scholars in the field to examine the intellectual literary philosophical and political elements of European Romanticism The book focuses on the cultural history of the period extending from the French Revolution to the uprisings of 1848 It begins with a series of chapters examining key texts written by major writers in languages including French German Italian Spanish Russian Hungarian Greek and Polish amongst others A second section then explores the naturally interdisciplinary quality of Romanticism exemplified by the different discourses with which writers of the time set up an internal comparative dynamic These chapters highlight the sense a discourse gives of being written knowledgeably against other pretenders to completeness or comprehensiveness of self understanding of the time Discourses typically advance their own claims to resume European culture collaborating with and at the same time trying to assimilate each other in the process The main examples featured here are history geography drama theology language philosophy political theory the sciences and the media Each chapter offers an original and individual interpretation of an inherently comparative world of individual writers and the discursive idioms to which they are historically subject Together the forty one chapters provide a comprehensive and provocative overview of European Romanticism Modes of Discipline Lisa Wood, 2003 Brings together British women writers who opposed what they figured as the poison of revolutionary thought and who used the novel form in their search for a vehicle to carry a counterrevolutionary antidote Reading Jane West Hannah More Elizabeth Hamilton Mary Brunton Laetitia Matilda Hawkins and Jane Porter in relation to each other and to their antirevolutionary contemporaries this study shows that they developed an alternative feminine but not feminist discourse within the broader context of conservative print culture
