Women in the Films of John Ford David Meuel, 2014-02-28 While John Ford 1894-1973 remains one of the most influential and revered directors in film history he is also one of the most frequently misunderstood One widespread assumption is that he was almost exclusively a man's director dismissive of or at best not well attuned to the stories perspectives and concerns of women This book forthrightly challenges such an assumption giving readers a richer understanding of the director's view of the world and of the women as well as the men who inhabit it Taking a fresh look at dozens of Ford films both familiar favorites and under appreciated gems it focuses on the complex and diverse female characters in them as well as the actresses who so ably portrayed them

British Masculinity in Transatlantic Cinema Carolyn Owen-King, 2024-12-12 British Masculinity in Transatlantic Cinema explores the Hollywood careers and stardom of British male actors who had fought in the first World War In an apparently incongruous development in the years after the armistice some of the men who fought in Scottish regiments during World War I found some degree of career success in Hollywood's film industry two of which included Ronald Colman and Basil Rathbone Through exploring transatlantic film history this book uncovers the ways in which these men were presented in media and on screen arguing that they carry with them even in films made at the height of censorship an appealing and attractive queerness Owen King expands on Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick's theory of homosocial homosexual continuum and offer readings of film texts that use her theories to survey gender and sexual identities within Hollywood's Golden Era
