Roots in Concrete Esther Gilliland Mock, 1992-01-01 The Cumulative Book Index, 1992 A world list of books in the English language A History of Philosophy: Volume VII, Fichte to Nietzsche ; Volume VIII, Bentham to Russell ; Volume IX, Maine de Biran to Sartre Frederick Charles Copleston, 1985 Death, Memory and Material Culture Elizabeth Hallam, Jenny Hockey, 2020-05-26 How do the living maintain ongoing relationships with the dead in Western societies How have the residual belongings of the dead been used to evoke memories Why has the body and its material environment remained so important in memory making Objects images practices and places remind us of the deaths of others and of our own mortality At the time of death embodied persons disappear from view their relationships with others come under threat and their influence may cease Emotionally socially politically much is at stake at the time of death In this context memories and memory making can be highly charged and often provide the dead with a social presence amongst the living Memories of the dead are a bulwark against the terror of forgetting as well as an inescapable outcome of a life s ending Objects in attics gardens museums streets and cemeteries can tell us much about the processes of remembering This unusual and absorbing book develops perspectives in anthropology and cultural history to reveal the importance of material objects in experiences of grief mourning and memorializing Far from being invisible the authors show how past generations dead friends and lovers remain manifest through well worn garments letters photographs flowers residual drops of perfume funerary sculpture Tracing the rituals gestures and materials that have been used to shape and preserve memories of personal loss Hallam and Hockey show how material culture provides the deceased with a powerful presence within the here and now Ruin

Memories Bjørnar Olsen, Þóra Pétursdóttir, 2014-04-24 Since the nineteenth century mass production consumerism and cycles of material replacement have accelerated increasingly larger amounts of things are increasingly victimized rapidly and made redundant At the same time processes of destruction have immensely intensified although largely overlooked when compared to the research and social significance devoted to consumption and production The outcome is a ruin landscape of derelict factories closed shopping malls overgrown bunkers and redundant mining towns a ghostly world of decaying modern debris normally omitted from academic concerns and conventional histories The archaeology of the recent or contemporary past has grown fast during the last decade This development has been concurrent with a broader popular artistic and scholarly interest in modern ruins in general Ruin Memories explores how the ruins of modernity are conceived and assigned cultural value in contemporary academic and public discourses reassesses the cultural and historical value of modern ruins and suggests possible means for reaffirming their cultural and historic significance Crucial for this reassessment is a concern with decay and ruination and with the role things play in expressing the neglected unsuccessful and ineffable Abandonment and ruination is usually understood negatively through the tropes of loss and deprivation things are degraded and humiliated while the information knowledge and memory embedded in them become lost along the way Without even ignoring its many negative and traumatizing aspects a main question addressed in this book is whether ruination also can be seen as an act of disclosure If ruination disturbs the routinized and ready to hand to what extent can it also be seen as a recovery of memory as exposing meanings and presences that perhaps are only possible to grasp at second hand when no longer immersed in their withdrawn and useful reality Anybody interested in the archaeology of the contemporary past will find Ruin Memories an essential guide to the very latest theoretical research in this emerging field of archaeological thought Regimes of Memory Katharine Hodgkin, Susannah Radstone, 2003-09-02 A focus on memory has come to prominence across a wide range of disciplines History literature philosophy anthropology and cultural studies have placed memory at the heart of their interrogations of subjectivity narrative time and imagination At the same time memory has emerged as a central theme and preoccupation in popular literature film and television and the emergence of memory as an academic theme cannot be separated from its prominence in the wider culture This volume represents explores and interrogates the current developments engaging directly with the place of memory in culture and with memory's meanings and history South Africa and the Transvaal War (Vol. 1-8) Louis Creswicke, 2023-11-14 In South Africa and the Transvaal War Louis Creswicke delivers a comprehensive and meticulously detailed examination of one of the pivotal conflicts in British colonial history Comprising eight volumes this monumental work blends historical narrative with personal observations reflecting Creswicke's unique literary style that intertwines vivid storytelling with rigorous analysis The author meticulously documents the cultural political and social landscapes of South Africa amidst the backdrop of the Second Boer War providing context for the events leading to and during the conflict Creswicke's keen eye for detail and his ability to present multifaceted perspectives make this work a rich tapestry of wartime experience Louis Creswicke was not only a historian but also a journalist who reported on the very events he covered allowing him to capture the war's complexity with authenticity and depth His experiences in the region combined with his staunch interest in the British Empire's expansion inspired him to chronicle this war meticulously Creswicke's insights into military strategy local sentiment and international implications reflect his extensive research and firsthand encounters adding invaluable context to the historical narrative This monumental series is recommended for historians students of military studies and general readers interested in colonial history Creswicke's work serves as an essential resource for understanding the intricacies of the Transvaal War and its lasting impact on South Africa and the British Empire encouraging readers to engage deeply with the text The South That Wasn't There Michael Kreyling, 2010-11 Once history and the South dwelt in close proximity Representations of the South in writing and on film assumed everybody knew what had happened in place and time to create the South Today our vision of the South varies and there is less there there than ever before In The South That Wasn't There Michael Kreyling explores a series of literary situations in which memory and history seem to work in odd and problematic ways Lively and frequently confrontational The South That Wasn't There offers a thought provoking reexamination of our literary conceptions about the South Memory

Cultures Susannah Radstone, Katharine Hodgkin, In recent years memory has attracted increasing attention From analyses of electronic communication and the Internet to discussions of heritage culture to debates about victimhood and sexual abuse memory is currently generating much cultural interest This interdisciplinary collection takes a journey through memory in order to contextualize this current memory boom Memory Cultures focuses on memories outside in the many fields within which understandings of memory have been produced It focuses less on memory as an object whose inner workings are to be studied and more on memory as a concept It traces the genealogies of our contemporary Western understandings of memory through studies of the early modern arts of memory It also discusses nineteenth century evolutionary museums and the modernist explorations of artists and writers Here it explores the differences between Western and non Western concepts of the lived past and compares understandings of memory in history psychoanalysis and anthropology The volume is divided into five parts Believing the Body Propping the Subject What Memory Forgets Models of the Mind What History Forgets Memory and Time and Memory Beyond the Modern Individual essays by many of the foremost international scholars in memory studies trace memory's intimate association with identity and recognition with cities with lived time with the science of the mind with fantasy and with the media Memory Cultures will be of essential interest to those working in the fields of cultural studies history and also anthropology Susannah Radstone and Katharine Hodgkin teach in the School of Cultural and Innovation Studies at the University of East London

Place, Space and Hermeneutics Bruce B. Janz, 2017-03-29 This book analyzes the hermeneutics of place raising questions about central issues such as textuality dialogue and play It discusses the central figures in the development of hermeneutics and place and surveys disciplines and areas in which a hermeneutic approach to place has been fruitful It covers the range of philosophical hermeneutic theory both within philosophy itself as well as from other disciplines In doing so the volume reflects the state of theorization on these issues and also looks forward to the implications and opportunities that exist Philosophical hermeneutics has fundamentally altered philosophy's approach to place Issues such as how we dwell in place how place is imagined created preserved and lost and how philosophy itself exists in place have become central While there is much research applying hermeneutics to place there is little which both reflects on that heritage and critically analyzes a hermeneutic approach to place This book fills that void by offering a sustained analysis of the central elements major figures and disciplinary applications of hermeneutics and place
