The Culture of Capital Henry Turner, 2014-04-08 Leading literary critics and historians reassess one of the defining features of early modern England the idea of capital The collection reevaluates the different aspects of the concept amidst the profound changes of the period Science and the Arts Jacob Oppen, 1973 Deals with the philosophical implications of natural science in the various humanistic disciplines during the 17th 18th and 19th centuries Remarkable in combining and relating numerous disparate disciplines in the arts and sciences Discovery and Invention Charles T. Stewart Jr., 2019-06-12 The history of humanity can be written in terms of discovery and invention They are very different cognitive processes search for order and problem solving This book is a search for explanation of the Scientific and Industrial Revolutions It surveys seven civilizations in terms of both their achievements and their failures What were the characteristics they shared that promoted progress What prevented or discouraged progress in discovery and or in invention Sumer was creative the mother of civilizations Egypt was not In Sumer authority was divided and it was a trading economy Egypt was authoritarian and closed Rome and Islam inherited the Greek legacy Rome was not interested it had a different agenda Islam progressed but civilization conflicted with religion and then regressed China led in inventions but then stagnated and always lagged in discovery Its ultimate failure has multiple explanations that include the scope of authority structure of society and economy and of language and script But so was its preference for intuition over logic or evidence as the method of seeking the truth It is Greek capacity for abstraction origin a mystery that was essential for its achievements discoveries of the structure of the universe and the cognitive approach to truth seeking Much invention was a byproduct of discovery It is Greek achievements in discovery and abstract reasoning that Europe adopted and advanced leading to the scientific and subsequent industrial revolutions Ours is a new phase in human history What were some of its consequences and what are its prospects

The Newtonian Revolution I. Bernard Cohen, 1980 This volume presents Professor Cohen's original interpretation of the revolution that marked the beginnings of modern science and set Newtonian science as the model for the highest level of achievement in other branches of science It shows that Newton developed a special kind of relation between abstract mathematical constructs and the physical systems that we observe in the world around us by means of experiment and critical observation The heart of the radical Newtonian style is the construction on the mind of a mathematical system that has some features in common with the physical world this system was then modified when the deductions and conclusions drawn from it are tested against the physical universe Using this system Newton was able to make his revolutionary innovations in celestial mechanics and ultimately create a new physics of central forces and the law of universal gravitation Building on his analysis of Newton's methodology Professor Cohen explores the fine structure of revolutionary change and scientific creativity in general This is done by developing the concept of scientific change as a series of transformations of existing ideas It is shown that such transformation is characteristic of many aspects of the sciences and that the concept of scientific change by transformation suggests a new way of examining the very nature of scientific creativity
