Toward Post Ageing Katarina Friberg Felsted,Scott D. Wright,2014-08-27 This book examines the emergent and expanding role of technologies that hold both promise and possible peril for transforming the ageing process in this century It discusses the points and counterpoints of technological advances that would influence a reconstruction of what it means to age when embedded in a post human vision for a post biological future The book presents a provocative interdisciplinary meta analysis that contrasts paradigms with inflection points making the case that society has entered a new inflection point provisionally labeled as Post Ageing It goes on to discuss the moderate and radical versions of this inflection point and the philosophical issues that need to be addressed with the advent of post ageing activities postponing and possibly ending ageing primarily through technological advances This book will be a valuable resource for professionals who wish to review the continuum of varied constructs and intersects of technologies ranging from those purporting to enhance the activities of daily living in older adults to those that would enable the older worker to stay competitive in the labor market to those that propose to extend longevity and ultimately claim to transcend ageing itself moving toward a transhumanistic domain and more specifically a post ageing inflection point

History by Generations Hartmut Berghoff,Bernd Weisbrod,Uffa Jensen,Christina Lubinski,2013-08-05 Die Beitr ge des vorliegenden Bandes gehen aus einer gemeinsamen Tagung des Graduiertenkollegs Generationengeschichte der Georg August Universit t G ttingen und des Deutschen Historischen Instituts in Washington hervor Verschiedene Generationenkonzepte standen sich hier gegen ber die europ ische Idee von Jugendgenerationen und politischen Generationen und die eher pragmatische amerikanische Lesart von den demographischen Generationen oder den Konsumgenerationen Immer so scheint es wird die generationelle Logik berlagert

von nationalen Vorstellungen der Dazugehörigkeit. Sehr deutlich arbeiten die Beiträge aus Europa und den USA heraus, dass die historische Zeit wohl in Generationen gelesen wird, doch wird Geschichte nicht von Generationen gemacht. Princeton Alumni Weekly, 2002

Subjective Well-being in Older Adults Elizabeth Macera, 2005. The purpose of this qualitative descriptive study was to discover how older adults explain their interpersonal relationships while relating their beliefs about successful aging. The participants were drawn from the Alameda County Study, a longitudinal investigation that began in 1965 designed to discover associations between social factors and health. After the 1999 follow-up survey, a questionnaire on successful aging was distributed to participants age 65 or older. Out of this cohort, 51 volunteers were interviewed regarding their concept of what constitutes successful aging. A research assistant conducted face-to-face interviews 60 to 90 minutes in length, which were transcribed verbatim. This project was a secondary analysis of 49 of these interviews. Using NVivo qualitative software, the interviews were coded and themes identified. All but five participants had children. The participants spoke of family relationships as very important to their well-being. The themes identified include freedom from family responsibilities, re-negotiating relationships with children, and re-connecting with spouse. Social comparison was identified as a major mechanism for defining oneself as an older person. In addition, gender differences were identified. A major task for women was balancing work with their family relationships. Men focused more on their relationships with children and spouses after they retired than they did while working. Overall, family relationships remain an important focus for older adults. Clinical and research implications include assisting elders to maintain their roles in the family and recognizing the importance of social comparison in self-definition.

Doing Good, Departing from Evil Carole J. Lambert, 2009. Doing Good: Departing from Evil. Research Findings in the Twenty-First Century emphasizes that goodness must be actively enacted, not abstractly discussed; that evil is present and must be fought; and that in-depth research into problems provides wisdom to proceed with that battle in the new century. Eleven scholars investigate problematic topics and offer potential guidance about racism, propaganda, marital tensions, educational inequities, college dropouts, elders' depression, neglect of the disabled, and even peacemaking between faith-based and secular social work agencies, as well as Israelis and Palestinians. This collection offers no easy answers to complex problems but points the way to potentially positive modes of mending the world and invites readers to share in this challenging task.

The Voice of the Earth Theodore Roszak, 2001-01-01. What is the bond between the human psyche and the living planet that nurtured us and all of life into existence? What is the link between our own mental health and the health of the greater biosphere? In this bold, ambitious philosophical essay, Publishers Weekly historian and cultural critic Roszak explores the relationships between psychology, ecology, and new scientific insights into systems in nature. Drawing on our understanding of the evolutionary, self-organizing universe, Roszak illuminates our rootedness in the greater web of life and explores the relationship between our own sanity and the larger than human world The Voice of the Earth seeks to bridge the centuries old split between the psychological and the ecological with a paradigm which sees the needs of the planet and the needs of the person as a continuum The Earth s cry for rescue from the punishing weight of the industrial system we have created is our own cry for a scale and quality of life that will free us to become whole and healthy This second edition contains a new afterword by the author
