Looking High and Low Brenda Jo Bright, Liza Bakewell, 2022-12-06 Can low riders rightfully be considered art Why are Chicano murals considered art while graffiti is considered vandalism What do Native American artisans think about the popular display of their ceremonial objects How do the middlebrow notions of Getty workers influence highbrow values at the J Paul Getty Trust Looking High and Low attempts to answer these questions and the broader question What is art by bringing together a collection of challenging essays on the meaning of art in cultural context and on the ways that our understandings of art have been influenced by social process and aesthetic values Arguing that art is constituted across cultural boundaries rather than merely inside them the contributors explore the relations between art cultural identity and the social languages of evaluation among artists art critics art institutions and their audiences in the Southwest and in Mexico The authors use anthropological methods in art communities to uncover compelling evidence of how marginalized populations make meaning for themselves how images of ethnicity function in commercial culture how Native populations must negotiate sentimental marketing and institutional appropriation of their art work and how elite populations use culture and ritual in ways that both reveal and obscure their power and status The authors make dramatic revelations concerning the construction and contestation of ideas of art as they circulate between groups where notions of what art should be are often at odds with each other This volume challenges conventional modes of analyzing art Its ethnographic explorations illuminate the importance of art as a cultural force while creating a greater awareness of the roles that scholars museum curators and critics play in the evaluation of art Contents Introduction Art Hierarchies Cultural Boundaries and Reflexive Analysis Brenda Jo Bright Bellas Artes and Artes Populares The Implications of Difference in the Mexico City Art World Liza Bakewell Space Power and Youth Culture Mexican American Graffiti and Chicano Murals in East Los Angeles 1972 1978 Marcos Sanchez Tranquilino Remappings Los Angeles Low Riders Brenda Jo Bright Marketing Maria The Tribal Artist in the Age of Mechanical Reproduction Barbara Babcock Aesthetics and Politics Zuni War God Repatriation and Kachina Representation Barbara Tedlock Middlebrow into Highbrow at the J Paul Getty Trust Los Angeles George E Marcus Chicano and Chicana Art Jennifer A. A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran, 2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art s commodity status and the artist s position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harnoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Nailor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal
