Ma vie comme rivière: Récit autobiographique, 1919-1942 Simonne Monet Chartrand, 1982 Catholic Origins of Quebec's Quiet Revolution, 1931-1970 Michael Gauvreau, 2005 The Catholic Origins of Quebec's Quiet Revolution challenges a version of history central to modern Quebec's understanding of itself that the Quiet Revolution began in the 1960s as a secular vision of state and society which rapidly displaced an obsolete clericalized Catholicism Michael Gauvreau argues that organizations such as Catholic youth movements played a central role in formulating the Personalist Catholic ideology that underlay the Quiet Revolution and that ordinary Quebecers experienced the Quiet Revolution primarily through a series of transformations in the expression of their Catholic identity In so doing Gauvreau offers a new understanding of Catholicism's place in twentieth century Quebec

Household Politics Magdalena Fahrni,2005-01-01 The reconstruction of Canadian society in the wake of the Second World War had an enormous impact on all aspects of public and private life For families in Montreal reconstruction plans included a stable home life hinged on social and economic security female suffrage welfare state measures and a reasonable cost of living In Household Politics Magda Fahrni examines postwar reconstruction from a variety of angles in order to fully convey its significance in the 1940s as differences of class gender language religion and region naturally produced differing perspectives Reconstruction was not simply a matter of official policy Although the government set many of the parameters for public debate federal projects did not inspire a postwar consensus and families alternatively embraced negotiated or opposed government plans Through in depth research from a wide variety of sources Fahrni brings together family history social history and political history to look at a wide variety of Montreal families French speaking and English speaking Catholic Protestant and Jewish making Household Politics a particularly unique and erudite study Citizens and Nation Gerald Friesen,2000-04-28 Grandmother Andre told stories in front of a campfire Elizabeth Goudie wrote a memoir in school scribblers Phyllis Knight taped hours of interviews with her son Today s families rely on television and video cameras They are all making history In a different approach to that old issue the Canadian identity Gerald Friesen links the media studies of Harold Innis to the social history of recent decades The result is a framework for Canadian history as told by ordinary people Friesen suggests that the common peoples perceptions of time and space in what is now Canada changed with innovations in the dominant means of communication He defines four communication based epochs in Canadian history the oral traditional world of pre contact Aboriginal people the textual settler household of immigrants the print capitalism of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and the screen capitalism that has emerged in the last few decades This analysis of communication is linked to distinctive political economies each of which incorporates its predecessors in an increasingly complex social order In each epoch using the new communication technologies people struggled to find the political means by which they could ensure that they and their households survived and if they were lucky prospered Canada is the sum of their endeavours Citizens and Nation demonstrates that it is possible to find meaning in the nation s past that will interest among others a new

young and multicultural reading audience
