Managing Rural Development With Small Farmer Participation:

Managing Rural Development with Small Farmer Participation Coralie Bryant, Louise G. White, 1984 Rural Development in South Korea William W. Boyer, 1991 After considering the problem of decentralizing rural development in South Korea generally the authors analyze the proliferation period from 1970 to 1979 of Seema-ul Undong South Korea's so called New Community Movement which was an attempt to achieve an integrated rural development program The final chapter suggests directions for South Korea and draws implications for development elsewhere Integrated Rural Development John M. Cohen, 1987 Ecological Management of Agricultural Weeds Matt Liebman, Charles L. Mohler, Charles P. Staver, 2001-07-19 Concerns over environmental and human health impacts of conventional weed management practices herbicide resistance in weeds and rising costs of crop production and protection have led agricultural producers and scientists in many countries to seek strategies that take greater advantage of ecological processes and thereby allow a reduction in herbicide use This book provides principles and practices for ecologically based weed management in a wide range of temperate and tropical farming systems After examining weed life histories and processes determining the assembly of weed communities the authors describe how tillage and cultivation practices manipulations of soil conditions competitive cultivars crop diversification grazing livestock arthropod and microbial biocontrol agents and other factors can be used to reduce weed germination growth competitive ability reproduction and dispersal Special attention is given to the evolutionary challenges that weeds pose and the roles that farmers can play in the development of new weed management strategies Factors affecting the formation of FWUCs in institution building for PIMD in Cambodia: Two case studies Perera, L. R., 2006-08-16 Cambodia adopted Participatory Irrigation Management and Development PIMD as a national policy quite recently in recognition of the need for community participation and ownership of irrigation schemes in order to improve the performance of irrigation systems to achieve operational sustainability and economic development Under this program the Royal Government of Cambodia is seeking to devolve responsibility for all aspects of scheme operations to Farmer Water User Communities FWUCs which constitute the focal institutional mechanism of PIMD Implementing PIMD in Cambodia under many existing unfavorable conditions including high levels of poverty low agricultural productivity and deteriorated irrigation systems with frequently poor design is a very difficult and challenging task This study carried out towards the end of 2004 in two irrigation schemes of contrasting socioeconomic and physical scenarios analyzes the factors that influence the formation of FWUCs under different physical socioeconomic legal and institutional conditions In this analysis it was found that the favorable socioeconomic conditions appropriateness of the strategies and the process followed and link with the local institutions were the key attributes for the formation of functional FWUCs in the implementation of PIMD Institutional Imperatives for South Asian Environmental NGOs T. Irrigation Systems Robert Yoder, Juanita Thurston, 1990 Overview of the workshop papers related to design outcomes papers related to the design process case studies country papers Striking a Balance Alan Fowler, 2013-10-11 At a time of rapid global change development NGOs are having to scale up their impact diversify their activities respond to long term crises and improve their performance on all fronts Striking a Balance offers both analysis and a practical guide to how NGOs can fulfil these demanding expectations Written for all those involved with NGDO work the book describes the objectives of sustainable people centred development and the process required to achieve it focusing on the five factors which determine effectiveness suitable organisational design competent leadership and human resources appropriate external relationships mobilisation of high quality finance and the measurement of performance coupled to learning for leverage In each are the book explains the capacities needed and how they can be assessed and improved Effectiveness calls for NGOs which retain their non profit values establish the right type of Professionalism manage dilemmas and balance choices to continually reflect the priorities rights and needs of those who give them legitimacy people who are poor and marginalised This book provides a reference of current and future practices which will help NGOs to do so Annual Report 1989 IICA ,1990

Revolutionizing Development Andrea Cornwall, Ian Scoones, 2022-03-28 This book tells the story of development studies in practice over the last fifty years through the work of one remarkable individual Robert Chambers His work has taken him from being a colonial officer in Kenya through training and managing large rural development projects to a fundamental critique of top down development and the championing of participatory approaches The contributors eloquently demonstrate how he has been at the centre of major shifts in development thinking and practice over this period popularising terms that are now at the centre of the development lexicon such as vulnerability multi dimensional poverty sustainable livelihoods and farmer first Robert Chambers played a major role in the massive growth in participatory approaches to development and particularly the application of participatory methods in development research and appraisal This has led to fundamental challenges to development practice ranging from approaches to monitoring and evaluation to institutional learning and professional training There is probably no one who has had more influence on approaches to development in the past decades Revolutionizing Development offers a unique overview of these contributions in thirty two concise chapters from authors who have been intimately involved as collaborators critics and colleagues of Robert Chambers The Journey Of Hydrology And Water Resources Management In The Tropics Sahid Susanto, This book presents a collection of scientific papers from 1980 to 2021 in the fields of hydrology and water resource management to support environmentally sound of agricultural production process This collection of scientific works is of course the result of decades of continuous research and already presented at various scientific meetings nationally and internationally This book is also a reflection of the author career as a lecturer at higher education institution as well as a scientist in his field This book provides also a new perspective on the role of hydrology and water resource management not only limited to the scope of the production process for raw materials of food but also extending to bio landscape architecture This new view is a phenomenon of the development of science and technology to understand increasingly complex multi sectoral problems so that they can be seen more clearly The development of science and technology is also accompanied by the addition of variants of social economic cultural and even political problems The solution approach can no longer be overcome by using only one disciplinary approach but must go through various disciplines The form can be multi intra inter disciplinary As a result there is a slice between fields of science that must be accepted as a necessity This is a phenomenon of a scientific paradigm shift that is triggered by the wider intersection between fields of science thus providing new treasures new spaces and new ideas in placing overlapping scientific fields as a challenge

Concepts and Practices in Agricultural Extension in Developing Countries

,2008-01-01 Soil Management and Conservation for Small Farms Valdemar Hercilio de Freitas, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2000-01-01 This report is intended for development practitioners This report is intended for development practitioners extensionists and leaders or pioneers in farming communities to inform them about the experiences and initiatives of farming communities in conservation agriculture in Santa Catarina State Brazil there have been widespread improvements in soil management This has led to lower costs and improved returns combined with better conservation and soil resources The main elements of success were minimum tillage soil cover management and direct seeding practices together with an effective and creative extension service While these developments probably cannot be duplicated as such elsewhere the methods and strategies may well inspire others to adapt and modify them for application in their own environments elsewhere the methods and strategies may well inspire others to adapt and modify them for application in their own environments
