Netherlandic Mennonite History and Genealogy 1st Edition Barry Teichroeb, 2025-05-29 The cultural group associated with the Russian Mennonites was born during the tumultuous period of the Anabaptist Movement in the early 16th century stemming from the Protestant Reformation in the Lowland countries of western Europe Viewed on a 21st century map this region encompasses parts of northern France Belgium the Netherlands and parts of the Rhine River basin in western Germany Foundational political and religious principles evolved as this Mennonite group established its identity freedom of religion separation of Church and State exemption from military service adult baptism and disintermediation of the Clergy The Anabaptist movement posed a serious threat to the Church of Rome and the Holy Roman Empire Fervent violent attempts were made to stamp out the movement driving congregants underground or sweeping them northward as the Inquisition sought out captured and murdered Anabaptist heretics The Mennonites fled through the northern territories of the Netherlands and into safer regions such as the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth and the city of Danzig where some religious toleration existed Danzig became a hub of Mennonite settlement and other centers emerged particularly in the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth as the community expanded Until the late 18th century these Mennonites were able to live according to their principles and succeed In the latter half of the 18th century European political tensions and conflicts led to the partitioning and eventual dissolution of the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth and some the most important privileges enjoyed by the Mennonites were lost among them the unfettered right to acquire land and exemption from military service In the last years of the 18th century Russia under Catherine the Great began a program to encourage settlement by foreigners in her vast western regions The Mennonite community regarded this as a salvation and carved out a new life on the steppes along the Dneiper River beginning in the last decade of the 18th century For nearly a century these Mennonites lived in Russia able to abide by their principles However political encroachment on their systems of education and governance and threats to their deeply held principles caused a new migration this time to North America Many Russian Mennonites came to Canada They arrived in three waves in the 1870s 1890s and finally following the upheaval of World War I the Russian Revolution and the Ukrainian War of Independence the 1920s Catalogue Maggs Bros, 1898 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1929 Irish in Ontario, 1st Edition Donald Harman Akenson, 1984-08-01 Hailed as one of the most important books on social sciences of the last fifty years by the Social Sciences Federation of Canada Akenson argues that despite the popular conception of the Irish as a city people those who settled in Ontario were primarily rural and small town dwellers Though it is often claimed that the experience of the Irish in their homeland precluded their successful settlement on the frontier in North America Akenson's research proves that the Irish migrants to Ontario not only chose to live chiefly in the hinterlands but that they did so with marked success Akenson also suggests that by using Ontario as an historical laboratory it is possible to make valid assessments of the real differences between Irish Protestants and Irish Catholics characteristics which he contends are much more precisely measurable in the neutral environment of central Canada than in the turbulent Irish homeland While Akenson is careful not to over generalize his findings he contends that the case of Ontario seriously calls into question conventional beliefs about the cultural limitations of the Irish Catholics not only in Canada but throughout North America      Country Life ,1907      Antique Trader Book Collector's Price Guide Richard Russell,2009-11-13 This new edition of Antique Trader Book Collector s Price Guide provides readers with the information and values to carve a niche for themselves in a market where rare first editions of Jane Austen s Emma and J K Rowling s Harry Potter and the Philosophers Stone recently sold at auction for 254 610 dollars and 40 355 dollars respectively Organized in 13 categories including Americana banned paranormal and mystery this guide discusses identifying and grading books and provides collectors with details for identifying and assessing books in 8 000 listings      Country Life in America Liberty Hyde Bailey, Henry Hodgman Saylor, 1906      The Upper Chambal Basin Moti Lal Nath, 1989 This is a more advanced and comprehensive volume on the subject which portrays fully the concept of rural settlements The author has gone in detail through his field and personal surveys rather than official sources to present the chronological evolution toponymy regional distributions size spacing density dispersion morphological structure dwellings and problems and planning of rural settlements Various physico cultural and techno economic variables which exert the spatial distributions of rural settlements have been dealt with the latest available statistical and cartographic techniques upto a micro level set up Copiously illustrated with original maps diagrams and tables the study describes in simple language the concepts and recent trends in the subject      Nutritional Problems in Rural India P. D. Tiwari, 1989 The developing countries including India are struggling with their universal problem of insufficient nutrition supply Since masses of the country live in rural areas it is relevant to attempt to asses the nutritional problems factors affecting them and suggest measures to improve them In a systematic and scientifically rigorous manner the author has examined nutrition problem in seventeen purposely selected villages of 542 families and 1 084 children in different income groups The author has critically analysed the existing nutrients availability food habits nutrients supply actual nutrients intake malnutrition and deficiency disease problems in the central part of India      Fisheries Development and Management in India, 1785-1986 Nune Subba Rao, 1989 Fisheries play an important role in the economy of nations bordering the sea and this is especially true in a populous country like India where a large majority continues to live below the poverty line Sea fishing has been an occupation with the coastal people of India since time immemorial forming an integral part of the maritime heritage Machanisation has been introduced into the marine fishing with a view to exploit the fisheries potential all along the Indian coastline of 6 500 km by overcoming the deficiencies of the centuries old traditional fishing technology and to augment fish production with a higher fishing effort and also to raise the income levels and living standards of fishermen The present book based on the author s doctoral dissertation made a bold and pioneering attempt to evaluate the costs and earnings of mechanised and traditional boats for determining their relative operational efficiency and to examine intensively the effects of mechanisation on employment income levels consumption pattern and levels of living of fishermen and their social implications While analysing the merits of the new fishing technology and also the reactions of different groups of fishermen to mechanisation he spotlights the shortsightedness in the implementation of the programme of mechanisation resulting in a host of negative effects which have implications and also sets forth the valuable lessons which Indian experiences have to offer to the densely populated littoral nations in the Third World To ensure enduring benefits to the vast majority of marine fishermen the thesis underscores among numerous other remedies the need for the provision of an intermediary technology the need for the institutional support and marketing network and the need for the management of fisheries resources It also calls for the policies to bring about socio economic development of the fishing community on par with the rest of the society All in all a genuine contribution to knowledge of grassroots situations that will have enduring value and that can be useful in both academic and policy formation circles

Modernization of Agriculture and Food Availability in India P. D. Tiwari,C. K. Jain,1989 Present the process trend and consequences of modernization of agriculture in M P the biggest state of the country Since the primary objective of farming has been to ensure food supply and agricultural raw materials it is pertinent to examine critically the spatial pattern of modernization and its impact on agricultural productivity and position of food availability and actual food intake in perspective of physio cultural environment Findings of this spatio temporal study will help in identifying the problematic regions still awaiting special efforts for agricultural development through the application of modern methods and techniques

Rural Industrialisation T. M. Dak,1989 Viewed mainly as the growth of manufacturing sector as opposed to agriculture and the increased use of inanimate sources of power in the production of goods and services rural industrialization offers the greatest scope for absorbing the existing and growing labour force outside the field of agriculture However rural industrial scene continues to be characterised by the concentration of labour force in agriculture predominance of traditional crafts low levels of technology hereditary mode of production poor productivity and returns and low labour efficiency and utilisation Besides glorification of traditional crafts and self employment caste industry nexus and above all policy bias in favour of agriculture as against industry and large and medium capital intensive industries as against small village and cottage industries also worked as strong impediments to the development of rural crafts Drawing from the nationwide experiences this book examines the problems of the growth and modernisation of rural industries from socio economic perspectives and probes into the organisational and technology system underlying their production structure with all its implications and ramifications The reversal of the policy favouring large modern industry sector and the spread of tiny small industries throughout the country with full package of organisational technical financial and marketing support in adequate measure have been strongly advocated In addition the integration of the development of rural industries with the overall programme of industrialisation was emphasized

Coal Industry in West Bengal Prabhas Kumar Chakrabarti, 1989 Coal Industry in West Bengal A Historical Analysis of Production Price Wage Employment and Investment is a pioneering attempt which has determined the quantitative relationship between the parameters i production and price ii employment and output iii employment and wage iv average productivity and real wage v size of firms and average productivity and vi size of firms and rate of profit covering a wide range of data from 1901 1976 on production employment productivity wages and prices of the Coal Industry in West Bengal This book has examined the changes in wage share from 1901 through 1976 The values of the parameters obtained through the fitting of Cobb Douglas production function and SMAC ARROW CHENERY MINHAS SULOW function have also been reported here This work determined the factors governing the investment and relationship between the production and investment in the Coal Industry of West Bengal

Resource Development in Tribal India Shri Kamal Sharma, 1989 It is a treatise of the consequential problems of interactions between population resources and development Resources play such a vital role in our economy that the evaluation of territorial distribution of resource complexes and their potentialities for a balanced and integrated development cannot be disassociated from the wider field of planning for regional development But the degree of exploitation of development potentials depends heavily upon human socio political and economic technological factors and variation in these attributes of man causes variation in resource evaluation and their utilization In the present politico economic structure those people who are conscious to their rights and those areas which are dominated by such people get benefits of developmental efforts The tribal people and areas dominated by them could not exert decisive influence on decision making of resource utilization and development planning Consequently all transportable resources are exported out of such regions
