Of Time And Tide Thai Shores Before The Tourist Wave:

Natural Hazards in the Asia-Pacific Region James P. Terry, James Rodney Goff, 2012 Even a cursory glance at any map of the Asia Pacific region makes a striking impression in addition to the large continental landmass the region encompasses a truly vast expanse of ocean dispersed over which are thousands of islands Many might say that it could not be a worse time to live in this region In the past few years we have experienced not only a number of devastating tsunamis Indonesia Solomon Islands Samoa Japan but should not forget either the seemingly endless list of other natural hazards such as tropical cyclones and typhoons volcanic eruptions river floods and wildfires amongst numerous others Witness to Disaster: Tsunamis Judy Fradin, Judith Bloom Fradin, Dennis B. Fradin, 2008 The words and photographs of people who have witnessed tsunamis along with the science history and protection efforts surrounding this watery disaster Time, 2005 Coastal Environments and Global Change Gerd Masselink, Roland Gehrels, 2014-04-23 The coastal zone is one of the most dynamic environments on our planet and is much affected by global change especially sea level rise Coastal environments harbour valuable ecosystems but they are also hugely important from a societal point of view This book which draws on the expertise of 21 leading international coastal scientists represents an up to date account of coastal environments and past present and future impacts of global change The first chapter of the book outlines key principles that underpin coastal systems and their behaviour This is followed by a discussion of key processes including sea level change sedimentation storms waves and tides that drive coastal change The main part of the book consists of a discussion of the main coastal environments beaches dunes barriers salt marshes tidal flats estuaries coral reefs deltas rocky and glaciated coasts and coastal groundwater and how these are affected by global change The final chapter highlights strategies for coping with coastal change Readership final year undergraduate and postgraduate level students on coastal courses in a wide range subjects including geography environmental management geology oceanography and coastal civil engineering The book will also be a valuable resource for researchers and applied scientists dealing with coastal environments Additional resources for this book can be found at www.wiley.com/go/masselink/coastal The Asian Tsunami 2004 John Townsend, 2006 On the morning after Christmas 2004 scientists detected a major earthquake in the Indian Ocean They had no idea it had triggered a deadly wave This tsunami would leave about 280 000 people dead and 1 5 million children homeless Learn about the largest aid operation in the history of the world and the miraculous survival of some of the people who were washed out to sea This book explains why tsunamis occur and what can be done to minimize their damage Timelines a glossary ideas for research and suggestions for future reading are included in this gripping read about this devastating natural disaster The Detour Ben J. Harris, 2020-11-26 A travelogue of a 19 year old s journey home from Thailand to the UK without the aid of the internet a mobile phone or GPS Chance encounters miles of solitude rare experiences and a fair amount of luck Crisis Management in Tourism Eric Laws, B. Prideaux, K. S. Chon, 2006 The history of modern tourism records many localized and some international crises characterized by extreme and sudden reduction in demand for specific destination areas or types of tourism product Managerial responses to such events include both problem solving and market recovery steps but these vary in effectiveness and recovery may be slow to occur after the initial problems are overcome With examples drawn from the UK Europe America Australia and Asia this book brings together a range of expert academic analysis of the latest thinking and practice in this increasingly important area of tourism management
