

propose to take McPherson, 23,000, Thomas, 30,000, and you, 12,000, with Garrard's cavalry at Villanow; McCook between this and Villanow, and Stoneman north of the tunnel. On the contrary, I am glad to have you at all times give me your unqualified opinion freely and frankly. Call in that regiment at Red Clay, and caution the force at Charleston to keep on the north bank and guard the bridge. Thomas will instruct the Cleveland garrison, and I will have a construction train run down to Varnell's and take up a train-load of iron and run it to Chattanooga, so that the enemy cannot use the road whilst we are in the heels. I'll risk that. I think all the chances are in favor of the move. McPherson is already there. Hooker has gone in support, and the defenses of Dalton will not avail Johnston if we interpose between him and Georgia. Buzzard Roost is as hard to pass out as in.

Yours,

W. T. SHERMAN,
Major-General.

I wish you would have Stoneman come to see me the moment you can. He can bring his cavalry near you and send here for corn.

W. T. S.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO,

May 10, 1864—2 p. m.

General SHERMAN:]

GENERAL: I believe one division is enough here. I am ready to march with the other two.

Respectfully,

J. M. SCHOFIELD,
Major-General.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO,

May 10, 1864—5.35 a. m.

Brig. Gen. J. D. COX,

Commanding Third Division, Twenty-third Army Corps:

GENERAL: The commanding general desires you to push your skirmish line forward on your left center and feel the enemy, in order to develop any movement that may be in progress, and find out whether the force on your front has been weakened.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. A. CAMPBELL,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

[Indorsement.]

HDQRS. THIRD DIVISION, TWENTY-THIRD ARMY CORPS,

May 10, 1864—6.10 a. m.

Brig. J. A. CAMPBELL:

MAJOR: The within just received. My skirmish line on left was advanced an hour ago, anticipating the general's desire. We did not develop the enemy's line of battle, and could not without advancing

The Protection of Indigenous Peoples and Reduction of Forest Carbon Emissions Handa Abidin, 2015-07-14 In The Protection of Indigenous Peoples and Reduction of Forest Carbon Emissions Handa Abidin identifies three main approaches that can be used by indigenous peoples to protect their rights in the context of REDD plus Further he discusses how the available protection for indigenous peoples in the context of REDD plus is currently insufficient to quickly address cases where the rights of indigenous peoples have been violated through REDD plus activities Abidin recommends the establishment of a committee and a panel on REDD plus that could convey greater benefits to the context of REDD plus and indigenous peoples as well as to wider contexts such as climate change human rights and international law Country Reports on Human Rights Practices for 2008 Vol.1 , Official Records of the Human Rights Committee United Nations. Prt. 110-40,  , 2008 Israel Yearbook on Human Rights, Volume 51 (2021) Yoram Dinstein, 2021-10-25 The Israel Yearbook on Human Rights an annual published under the auspices of the Faculty of Law of Tel Aviv University since 1971 is devoted to publishing studies by distinguished scholars in Israel and other countries on human rights in peace and war with particular emphasis on problems relevant to the State of Israel and the Jewish people The Yearbook also incorporates documentary materials relating to Israel and the Administered Areas which are not otherwise available in English including summaries of judicial decisions compilations of legislative enactments and military proclamations The Right to Development in the African Human Rights System Serges Djoyou Kamga, 2018-01-29 The right to development RTD seeks to address global inequities hidden in world politics and global institutions through the game of influences played by powerful actors The negative impacts of the Atlantic slave trade colonialism and the subjugation of Africa through globalisation and its institutions are key factors that have caused Africa and African people claiming their RTD This book examines how the African continent protects the right to development examining the nature of the RTD and controversies surrounding it and how it is implemented The book then goes on to explore the RTD at the regional level including through the jurisprudence of the African Commission and the African Court on Human Rights at the sub regional level including in sub regional courts and tribunals at the national levels through case studies and through the African Union governance institutions Through this examination the author unveils what are the prospects and challenges to the realisation of the RTD in Africa Armed Non-State Actors in International Humanitarian and Human Rights Law Konstantinos Mastorodimos, 2017-05-15 The accountability of armed non state actors is a neglected field of international law overtaken by the regimes of state responsibility and individual criminal accountability as well as fears of legitimacy Yet armed non state actors are important players in the international arena and their activities have significant repercussions This book focuses on their obligations and accountability when they do not function as state agents regardless of the existence or extent of accountability of their individual members The author claims that their distinct features lead to their classification into three different types de facto entities armed non state actors in control of territory and common article 3 armed non state actors The mechanisms that trigger the applicability of humanitarian and human rights law regimes are examined in detail as well as the framework of obligations In both cases the author argues that armed non state actors should not be treated as entering international law and process exclusively through the state The study concludes by focussing on their accountability in international humanitarian and human rights law and more specifically to the rules of attribution remedies and reparations for violations of their primary obligations

The Rights of the Child and the Changing Image of Childhood Philip E. Veerman, 2021-11-01 In this book Philip E Veerman presents and discusses milestones in the evolution of children s rights as well as the work of a number of important pioneers in this field in order to examine whether the concept of childhood has changed in our century With Samuel Shye s Systemic Quality of Life Model as a conceptual framework and uniform standard more than forty Declarations and Conventions are analysed and compared Veerman thus unfolds an exciting picture of the changing image of childhood starting at the beginning of this century and culminating in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child of 1989 and the World Summit for Children of 1990 Finally the author proposes together with Samuel Shye a Declaration on the Rights of the Child based on the Systemic Quality of Life Model All the important Declarations and Conventions are reprinted as appendices This makes Veerman s study a complete and up to date textbook on children s right Dr Veerman is the coordinator of the Israel Section of Defence for Children International DCI and Fellow of the Youth Policy Center of Haifa University

The Presumption of Innocence in International Human Rights and Criminal Law Michelle Coleman, 2021-03-03 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the presumption of innocence from both a practical and theoretical point of view Throughout the book a framework for the presumption of innocence is developed The book approaches the right to presumption of innocence from an international human rights perspective using specific examples drawn from international criminal law The result is a framework for understanding the right that is grounded in human rights law This framework can then be applied across different national and international systems When applied it can help determine when the presumption of innocence is being infringed upon eroded violated and ensure that the presumption of innocence is protected The book is an essential resource for students academics and practitioners working in the areas of human rights criminal law international criminal law and evidence The themes also have a more general application to national jurisdictions and legal theory

International Protection of Human Rights: Achievements and Challenges Felipe Gómez Isa, Koen de Feyter, 2006-01-01 At the beginning of the nineties there was an expectation within the human rights community that the next decade would be a period of consolidation for the international human rights regime This did not happen In fact the human rights regime underwent dramatic changes in response to new circumstances We have tried to highlight both the achievements and the challenges ahead in this Manual the result of a joint project under the auspices of HumanitarianNet a Thematic Network on Humanitarian Development Studies led by the University of Deusto Bilbao the Basque Country Spain and the European Inter University Centre for Human Rights and Democratisation EIUC Venice Italy The Ambivalence of Good Jan Eckel,2019-04-11 The Ambivalence of Good examines the genesis and evolution of international human rights politics since the 1940s Focusing on key developments such as the shaping of the UN human rights system decolonization the rise of Amnesty International the campaigns against the Pinochet dictatorship the moral politics of Western governments or dissidence in Eastern Europe the book traces how human rights profoundly if subtly transformed global affairs Moving beyond monocausal explanations and narratives prioritizing one particular decade such as the 1940s or the 1970s The Ambivalence of Good argues that we need a complex and nuanced interpretation if we want to understand the truly global reach of human rights and account for the hopes conflicts and interventions to which this idea gave rise Thus it portrays the story of human rights as polycentric demonstrating how actors in various locales imbued them with widely different meanings arguing that the political field evolved in a fitful and discontinuous process This process was shaped by consequential shifts that emerged from the search for a new world order during the Second World War decolonization the desire to introduce a new political morality into world affairs during the 1970s and the visions of a peaceful international order after the end of the Cold War Finally the book stresses that the projects pursued in the name of human rights nonetheless proved highly ambivalent Self interest was as strong a driving force as was the desire to help people in need and while international campaigns often improved the fate of the persecuted they were equally likely to have counterproductive effects The Ambivalence of Good provides the first research based synopsis of the topic and one of the first synthetic studies of a transnational political field such as population health or the environment during the twentieth century Based on archival research in six countries it breaks new empirical ground concerning the history of human rights in the United Nations of human rights NGOs of far flung mobilizations and of the uses of human rights in state foreign policy Human Rights and Labor Solidarity Susan L. Kang,2012-07-24 Faced with the economic pressures of globalization many countries have sought to curb the fundamental right of workers to join trade unions and engage in collective action In response trade unions in developed countries have strategically used their own governments commitments to human rights as a basis for resistance Since the protection of human rights remains an important normative principle in global affairs democratic countries cannot merely ignore their human rights obligations and must balance their international commitments with their desire to remain economically competitive and attractive to investors Human Rights and Labor Solidarity analyzes trade unions campaigns to link local labor rights disputes to international human rights frameworks thereby creating external scrutiny of governments As a result of these campaigns states engage in what political scientist Susan L Kang terms a normative negotiation process in which governments trade unions and international organizations construct and challenge a broader understanding of international labor rights norms to determine whether the conditions underlying these disputes constitute human rights violations In three empirically rich case studies covering South Korea the United Kingdom and Canada Kang demonstrates that this normative negotiation process was more successful in creating stronger protections for trade unions rights when such changes complemented a government s other political interests She finds that states tend not to respect stronger economically oriented human rights obligations due to the normative power of such rights alone Instead trade union transnational activism coupled with sufficient political motivations such as direct economic costs or strong rule of law obligations contributed to changes in favor of workers rights

Human Rights Related Trade Measures Under International Law Anthony Cassimatis,2007 When does international law allow a State or group of States to adopt trade measures in order to coerce another State to comply with its international obligations to ensure respect for human rights In answering this question this book draws together complex areas of international law which include the rules prohibiting interference in the internal affairs of sovereign States the rules regulating extra territorial exercises of jurisdiction the law of State responsibility and the international legal rules requiring the protection of human rights and regulating international trade The literature on Trade and issues invariably focuses on a limited number of these areas or approaches the issues from an international relations or economic perspective This book will assist specialists in international human rights law and international trade law academic and government lawyers who advise on or implement international trade policy and those studying the use of human rights related trade measures

The Exercise of Prosecutorial Discretion at the International Criminal Court Bertram Kloss,2017-01-23 With the ICC s unprecedented scope of jurisdiction and limited resources comes the need to select situations and cases that the Prosecutor wishes to pursue As the Prosecutor selects her situations and cases she constantly makes choices afforded to her by the statutory discretion she enjoys as a Prosecutor The purpose of this study is to investigate three aspects of the Prosecutor s discretion What is the extent of the Prosecutor s discretion in pursuing individual situations and cases How much does the Prosecutor adhere to and further the objectives of the ICC in the exercise of her discretion To what degree should the Prosecutor use policy considerations in selecting situations and cases to pursue

Strengthening the Human Right to Sanitation as an Instrument for Inclusive Development

Pedi Obani,2018-05-03 Over a third of the current 7.3 billion people worldwide are burdened with poor sanitation services The resulting social relational and ecological exclusion make the realisation of the human right to sanitation HRS a critical concern development concern However the literature has evolved in a largely compartmentalised manner focusing on the formal recognition of the HRS in domestic legal systems without sufficiently addressing the drivers of poor sanitation services This research expounds on the impact of the HRS on human wellbeing and the environment within the context of a developing country like Nigeria as a case study The findings show that contrary to the focus in the literature the drivers of poor sanitation services are not confined to legal factors such as the formal recognition of the HRS within domestic legal systems Rather the drivers include social economic and environmental limitations to improved sanitation services Based on the findings the book argues that the focus in the literature on the formal recognition of the HRS in national legal systems is insufficient for tackling the main drivers of poor sanitation services It is therefore necessary to reformulate the HRS discourse using complementary governance instruments that advance social relational and ecological inclusion

Torture and Human Rights in Northern Ireland Aoife Duffy,2019-03-28 This book presents a compelling and highly sophisticated politico legal history of a particular security operation that resulted in one of the most high profile torture cases in the world It reveals the extent to which the Ireland v United Kingdom judgment misrepresents the interrogation system that was developed and utilised in Northern Ireland Finally the truth about the operation is presented in a comprehensive narrative sometimes corroborating secondary literature already in the public domain but at other times significantly debunking aphorisms or indeed lies that circulated about interrogation in depth The book sets out the theoretical reference paradigm with respect to the culture and practice of state denial often associated with torture and uses this model to excavate the buried aspects of this most famous of torture cases Through the lens of a single operation conducted twice it presents a fascinating expos of the complicated structures of state sponsored denial designed to hide the truth about the long term effects of these techniques and the way in which they were authorised

International Human Right to Conscientious Objection to Military Service and Individual Duties to Disobey Manifestly Illegal Orders Hitomi Takemura,2008-12-14 International human rights law grants individuals both rights and responsibilities In this respect international criminal and international humanitarian law are no different As members of the public international law family they are charged with the regulation maintenance and protection of human dignity The right and duty to disobey manifestly illegal orders traverses these three schools of public international law This book is the first systematic study of the right to conscientious objection under international human rights law Understanding that rights and duties are not mutually exclusive but complementary this study analyses the right to conscientious objection and the duties of individuals under international law from various perspectives of public international law

Palestine and Israel John B. Quigley,1990 The dispute over Palestine between the Palestinian Arabs and the Israelis is one of the most volatile and intractable conflicts in the world today Palestine and Israel examines the history of this battle from the perspective of international law and it argues that a long term solution to the conflict must protect legitimate interests to remain viable an element the author believes has so far been seriously neglected This extensively documented work details the complex politics and agonizing struggles that have characterized the clash between Jews and Arabs examining in depth the competing claims to Palestine and the extent to which legitimate interests remain to be fulfilled Beginning with the early Zionist settlement in Palestine that rose from the effort by Jews to escape long standing discrimination in Europe Qigley investigates the origins of the dispute including the British occupation of Palestine the British Mandate and the involvement of the United Nations He examines the 1948 War the establishment of Israel and explores the legal and political status of Jews there After a detailed analysis of the 1967 War and Israel s occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip he concludes with recommendations for resolving the conflict including discussions of the responsibility of other states for the persisting injustice the role of other states in settling the dispute and steps to a possible solution
