Laugh, Movies Make Us Cry, and Religion Makes Us Feel One with the Universe Jim Davies, 2014-08-05 Why do some things pass under the radar of our attention but other things capture our interest Why do some religions catch on and others fade away What makes a story a movie or a book riveting Why do some people keep watching the news even though it makes them anxious The past 20 years have seen a remarkable flourishing of scientific research into exactly these kinds of questions Professor Jim Davies fascinating and highly accessible book Riveted reveals the evolutionary underpinnings of why we find things compelling from art to religion and from sports to superstition Compelling things fit our minds like keys in the ignition turning us on and keeping us running and yet we are often unaware of what makes these keys fit What we like and don't like is almost always determined by subconscious forces and when we try to consciously predict our own preferences we're often wrong In one study of speed dating people were asked what kinds of partners they found attractive When the results came back the participants' answers before the exercise had no correlation with who they actually found attractive in person We are beginning to understand just how much the brain makes our decisions for us we are rewarded with a rush of pleasure when we detect patterns as the brain thinks we've discovered something significant the mind urges us to linger on the news channel or rubberneck an accident in case it might pick up important survival information it even pushes us to pick up People magazine in order to find out about changes in the social structure Drawing on work from philosophy anthropology religious studies psychology economics computer science and biology Davies offers a comprehensive explanation to show that in spite of the differences between the many things that we find compelling they have similar effects on our minds and brains

ThirdWay, 1991-12 Monthly current affairs magazine from a Christian perspective with a focus on politics society economics and culture Epiphany Michael Coren, 2016-04-26 From the posterboy of Catholic conservatism a major change of heart and soul on one of the Church's most controversial and intractable stances This past February a conservative Roman Catholic blog Contra Diction gave me perhaps my best headline ever Michael Coren Complicit in Destruction of Souls Who Practice Homosexuality Pt 1 I'm still waiting for part two It was one of countless posts tweets and articles that have condemned me for coming out in favour of same sex marriage I've also been fired from columns that I wrote for years been banned from various Catholic TV and radio stations had speeches cancelled and been accused of cheating on my wife My children have been called gay and I have been compared to a child molester and a murderer These are new experiences for me Until last year I was considered something of a champion of social conservatism in Canada and was well known among politically active Christians I hosted a nightly show on Crossroads Television for twelve years was a syndicated Sun columnist and wrote briskly selling books with such titles as Why Catholics Are Right Today I am working away at a new book Epiphany Changing Heart and Mind on Same Sex Marriage How and why did it go so terribly wrong Michael Coren What went terribly wrong is that Michael Coren had a profound spiritual and personal change of heart Epiphany is about how and why that happened the reaction from both sides of the fence and how the Christian doctrine when studied closely and without bias heartily supports Michael's findings As a middle aged very white very straight very Christian man he was obliged first reluctantly and then eagerly to explore the complex dynamic between faith and homosexuality and to work out a new narrative The crux of that narrative God is love Honest brave and rigorous in its scholarship Epiphany is a groundbreaking book on one of society's most pressing issues
