Non-Western Educational Traditions Timothy G. Reagan, 2004-09-22 This text provides a brief yet comprehensive overview of a number of non Western approaches to educational thought and practice Its premise is that understanding the ways that other people educate their children as well as what counts for them as education may help us think more clearly about some of our own assumptions and values and to become more open to alternative viewpoints about important educational matters The value of this informative mind opening text for preservice and in service teacher education courses is enhanced by Questions for Discussion and Reflection and Recommended Further Readings included in each chapter New in the Third Edition Chapter 2 Conceptualizing Culture I We and The Other is new to this edition It is a response to feedback about the problems inherent in our general discourse about culture and in addition provides an example of a culture that is near to us but nevertheless alien the culture of the Deaf World Chapter 9 which deals with Islam and traditional Muslim education has been substantially revised The subtitle of the Third Edition has been changed to Indigenous Approaches to Educational Thought and Practice reflecting not so much a change in the emphases found in the book but rather a recognition of the growing scholarly interest in indigenous peoples their languages cultures and histories Various points throughout the text have been expanded and clarified and chapters have been updated as needed The Anthropologist

as Writer Helena Wulff, 2016-03-01 Writing is crucial to anthropology but which genres are anthropologists expected to master in the 21st century This book explores how anthropological writing shapes the intellectual content of the discipline and academic careers First chapters identify the different writing genres and contexts anthropologists actually engage with Second this book argues for the usefulness and necessity of taking seriously the idea of writing as a craft and of writing across and within genres in new ways Although academic writing is an anthropologist's primary genre they also write in many others from drafting administrative texts and filing reports to composing ethnographically inspired journalism and fiction Xenotropism and the Awakening of Literary Expatriatism through Writing Memoirs Christine Velde, 2016-08-03

Although there have been many discussions about challenges faced by individuals going through East to West migrations there are few literary accounts about those moving from the West to the East Yet these migrations are becoming more frequent now due to advances in technology and the fact that a writer's work can now involve an increasingly global audience One way of expressing these challenges is through writing memoirs Xenotropism and the Awakening of Literary Expatriatism through Writing Memoirs exemplifies the craft of memoirs written while living in a foreign country and explains how this is different from writing from home The book is a theoretical analysis of xenotropism based on the work of three prominent writers in China's history Emily Hahn Nien Cheng and Qiu Xiaolong The author explores the relationship between xenotropism turning towards foreign ideals and practices its complexities and challenges and the writing of a memoir and its impact on mental health This discourse will contribute to new knowledge in the field of creative writing and Asian studies by illustrating how xenotropism or turning towards foreign ideals and practices results in both personal and artistic development and builds an understanding and acceptance of different cultures within an individual These processes of change and understanding in turn facilitate the writing of a memoir which is a cathartic process having a positive effect on one's mental state Readers interested in creative writing or Asian literary studies will be able to understand the creative process behind writing memoirs from a combination of personal research based literary and theoretical perspectives

Making of the Modern Mind Philip Hodgkiss, 2001-08-01 The Making of the Modern Mind traces the emergence of consciousness in social thought from the 17th Century to the 21st Against the classical notions of consciousness and self alternative agendas began to be developed in the 19th Century by figures as diverse as Marx and Nietzsche The struggles between classical conceptions of consciousness and these alternatives which promised more radical and emancipatory interpretations continued into the 20th Century From the start the concept of consciousness connected with a range of other notions Questions of the self and of identity were widely disputed in the Enlightenment whilst the 20th Century contributed new concerns chiefly the philosophical issues of being and acting and the problematic status of reality for a theory of mind Today consciousness is viewed much more as a public and linguistic world rather than a private and mentalistic one The Making of the Modern Mind explores the contemporary debates around consciousness and identity crucially setting the analysis within its social and historical context Written in a clear and engaging style the book will be of interest to students in Philosophy Psychology Sociology and Anthropology Ironies of Solidarity Erik Bähre, 2020-01-15 Set in one of the world's most unequal and violent places this ethnographic study reveals how insurance companies discovered a vast market of predominantly poor African clients After apartheid ended in 1994 South Africa became a testing ground for new insurance products new marketing techniques and pioneering administrative models with a potentially global market Drawing on Rorty's notion of irony for understanding how the contradictions inherent to solidarity affect inequality and conflict as well as drawing on a vast array of case studies Ironies of Solidarity examines how both Africans enjoy the freedoms that they have gained in financial terms and how the onset of democracy effected the risks faced in everyday life Bähre examines the ways in which policies are sold and claims are handled offering a detailed analysis of South Africa's insurance sector

Figueroa, 2022 Modern Jerusalem a city central to Jewish Muslim and Christian religious imaginaries and the political epicenter of the Israeli Palestinian crisis is to put it mildly a highly contested space More surprising perhaps is that its musical landscape not only reflects these rifts but also helped to define them as the ancient city transitioned to modernity during the twentieth century In City of Song Music and the Making of Modern Jerusalem author Michael A Figueroa argues that musical renderings of Jerusalem have been critical to the formation of Israeli political consciousness The book demonstrates how Israeli songwriters helped to shape their public s territorial imagination creating images of a city at once heavenly and earthly that dwells in longing that must not be forgotten that compels one to bereave the dead that represents the fulfilment of prophecy and that is the site of immense cultural diversity The dynamic history of its representation in lyrics and music helps dispel any notion that the Israeli Palestinian crisis is timeless intractable and based on static essential identities while there are continuities across historical divides radical change constantly transpires City of Song combines analyses of musical meaning political discourse and public performance over the long twentieth century 1880s 2010 to reveal how the Israeli Palestinian crisis territorial fixation on Jerusalem has been constructed historically contingent and subject to artistic intervention in modernity Through a musical history of Jerusalem Figueroa introduces a novel humanities centered approach to one of the world s most contested cities and one of the defining cultural and political questions of our era

True and Living Prophet of Destruction Nicholas Monk, 2016-05-15 Cormac McCarthy s work sounds warnings of impending apocalypse but it also implies that redemption remains available Nicholas Monk argues that McCarthy s response to the modern world is more subtle and less laden with despair than many realize and that his work represents an understanding of the world that transcends the political divisions of right and left escapes the reductive nature of identity politics and looks to futures beyond the immediately adjacent He positions McCarthy as an acute chronicler of the American condition at the beginning of a new century Tracing the development of modernity Monk explores the associated political and philosophical undercurrents in McCarthy and identifies how they are generated and what they oppose He focuses on language aesthetics violence the spiritual and the natural environment and the animals that inhabit it He examines the experience of engaging with McCarthy s fiction in order to reveal why so many people report that reading Cormac McCarthy changed my life
