Planning Educational Facilities For The Next Century:

Planning Educational Facilities for the Next Century Glen I. Earthman, 2003-01-10 This book takes a systematic approach to planning educational facilities discussing in detail each phase of the process of planning capital projects and the responsibilities of those in the schools who make decisions regarding the buildings in which students learn The book also speaks to the moral responsibility of educators to ensure students are in safe functional and efficient structures Planning Educational Facilities for the Next Century covers it all from planning to hiring the architect to managing the construction phase

Problems and Simulations for Use with Planning Educational Facilities for the Next Century Glen I. Earthman, 1993-01-01

School Planning Problems and Simulations Glen I. Earthman, Association of School Business Officials International, 1993

Planning Educational Facilities Glen I. Earthman, 2009-05-16 Planning Educational Facilities provides a detailed discussion of all of the processes involved in planning a school building From a discussion on how to organize the local staff to the final evaluation of the building the separate processes are described in detail The responsibility of the educator and school board are discussed in such a way that individuals on the local level should feel confident in the knowledge of the planning process gained from this book The relationship between the school board and the architect are described in detail and an example of an architect's contract is given Other examples of contracts are provided The process of contracting with a contractor is discussed in detail In addition some alternative methods of contracting for such services are provided A section on green schools is included because this is an important way to construct buildings A chapter on problem based activities is provided which should give the reader an opportunity to experience some of the problems educators actually face in this planning process

Resources in Education, 2001-04 Avoiding School Facility Issues G. Kent Stewart, 2006-12-01

This book can be used as a graduate school text for courses in school buildings and facilities It is probably more suitable as a guide for practitioners especially school district superintendents in small to medium sized school districts Such districts make up the majority of school districts in this country Lunenburg and Ornstein 1996 reported that 38% of the 15 000 school districts in America enroll fewer than 1 000 students and another 37% enroll from 1 000 to 5 000 students America is a country of relatively small school districts The book opens with a brief overview of the history of twentieth century school buildings and moves from there into a brief discussion of the requirements of today's school buildings as integral parts of the communities they serve Citizens need to understand problems and issues involving their school buildings Understandings are reached through practice of positive relations between school and community Good public relations facilitates mobilization of the public to assure that school buildings ultimately serve the public's interests

Planning Educational Facilities Glen I. Earthman, 2019-03-13 This book covers the entire planning process educators must employ to adequately administer the planning process for a new or renovated school building The structure of the book is to follow a sequential planning process for a new school building or renovation project from the beginning of a need for a new school to the final evaluation of the planning product and planning process In addition to complete chapters describing each planning process there are auxiliary chapters devoted to topics important to the planning process such as Green Schools Critical Issues and Safe Buildings A unique chapter is the last one dealing with Problem Based Learning In this chapter problems from actual experience in the field are presented to students for consideration and discussion The SAGE Handbook of Educational Leadership Fenwick W. English,2011-01-11 This fully updated Second Edition offers an unflinching and comprehensive overview of the full range of both practical and theoretical issues facing educational leadership today Editor Fenwick W English and 30 renowned authors boldly address the most fundamental and contested issues in the field including culturally relevant and distributed leadership critical policy and practice issues predicting the new century s conflict the paradox of changes and the promises paradoxes and pitfalls of standards for educational leaders

School Bond Success Carleton R. Holt,2017-09-07 Many school buildings across America are falling apart due to age or lack of maintenance Others are outmoded and do not meet the needs of modern educational programs and curricula Unfortunately school administrators and boards of education have found it increasingly difficult to obtain the funding necessary to correct facility problems in their districts However help is at hand in the fourth edition of a popular title originally published in 1999 Holt updates the status of school facilities in the U S and provides new information on the gap between federal state and local funding New to this edition is a discussion of the importance of senior voter contributions for the success of election campaigns The nuts and bolts of securing the funding for facility construction a component of the building process usually overlooked in training administrators are clearly outlined in chapters that begin with a look at the problem of aging schools and follow through the planning and project development phases to the bond campaign and election day Filled with tips checklists and insights on the details from experienced school leaders this is the perfect guide to consult every step on the way to victory

Poverty And Proficiency: The Cost Of And Demand For Local Public Education (A Textbook In Education Finance) John Yinger,2020-02-27 This book covers a wide range of topics in education finance It is designed to introduce the literature on education finance to scholars and prospective scholars and can be used as a textbook for a graduate level education finance class The topics in the book include the incidence of the property tax as a source of revenue for elementary and secondary education how much more it costs to reach a state s education targets in a high poverty school district than in a rich district the design of state education aid programs the impact of school quality on house values the cost implications of school district consolidations and the impact of state aid on school infrastructure

Smith, Philip K. Piele, 2006-06-08 Emphasizing the school leader s role in student learning this new edition covers the principalship accountability leadership effects distributed leadership political leadership resource allocation and more Linking Architecture and Education Anne Taylor, 2009-05-16 For the past forty years Anne Taylor has studied how schools classrooms playgrounds homes museums and parks affect children and how they learn As a result she has developed a holistic sustainable philosophy of learning environment design She argues persuasively that architects must integrate their design knowledge with an understanding of the developmental needs of learners while at the same time educators parents and students must broaden their awareness of the built natural and cultural environment to maximize the learning experience In other words schools and other environments can themselves become three dimensional textbooks When architects are cognizant of newer models of education and educators view the environment as more than a box in which to teach prescribed lessons the result is an informed architecture that enables children to discover the power of their own learning The book presents numerous examples of dynamic designs that are the result of interdisciplinary understanding of place Taylor includes designer perspectives forums derived from commentary by outside contributors involved in school planning and a wealth of photographs of thoughtful and effective solutions to create learning environments from comprehensive design criteria Because the concept of school is enlarged to a community campus the book also spawns a new model of teaching and learning This book is essential reading for educators architects and community members who are anxious to transform education in America and elsewhere Anne Taylor is the most outstanding educator leading proponent and practitioner in the three dimensional textbook field Her work is the finest resource available for connecting students young and old to their learning environments and visa versa Edward E Kirkbride NCARB REFP Before Western man divided the universe into discrete subject matter areas the order in the universe was and still is both interdisciplinary and holistic The branching of trees spiraling of shells meandering of streams and the radial designs of flowers for example represent an analogy of mathematics biology and art The current artificial separation of subject matter is in contrast to the way the world is constructed and the way children perceive it Architecture and the study of the built natural and cultural environment synthesize the world of material things and the world of ideas Further more it helps us to realize that we are a part of not apart from the environment This book is a tool and a gift to designers educators and students everywhere to assist them in seeing the meaning behind all that we view and use for living on earth To know our precious relationship to our surroundings is the intent of this book In this way life is a work of art and each of us is an artist Anne Taylor Resources in Education ,1997 School Business Affairs ,2002 Journal of Health, Physical Education, Recreation ,1961 Educational Facility Planner ,1989 Planning and Designing Schools C. William Brubaker,1998 Brubaker shows how he and other leading architects and educators have designed award winning schools of the future responding creatively to the changes in educational philosophy the makeup of student bodies and the technology of the classroom Planning for Population Change W. T. S. Gould,R. Lawton,2023-10-02 Originally published in 1986 this book explores many important aspects of the relationship between population change and planning exploring the impact of population change on service provision and its impact on the policy making process In all countries whether their population is expanding ageing or stagnating population mobility is an important cause of economic and social development This book argues that there is a need for greater sensitivity about population change in policy making and service provision and suggests ways of achieving this
