A Self-made Surrealist Caroline Blinder, 2000 A new evaluation of a writer who was the talk of the literary world in the early days of the sexual revolution Since the publication of Tropic of Cancer in 1934 Henry Miller has been the target of critics from all sides A Self Made Surrealist sets out to provide a view of Miller different from both earlier vindications of him as sexual liberator and prophet and more contemporary feminist critiques of him as pornographer and male chauvinist In this re-evaluation of Miller's role as a radical writer Blinder considers not only notions of obscenity and sexuality but also the emergence of psychoanalysis surrealism automatic writing and the aesthetics of fascism as they illuminate Miller's more general 20th century concerns with politics and mass psychology in relation to art Blinder also considers the effect on Miller of the theoretical works of Georges Bataille and Andr Breton among others in order to define and explore the social philosophical and political contexts of the period By examining the enormous impetus Miller got from being in the midst of French culture and its debate A Self Made Surrealist shows that Miller was indeed a seminal writer of the period rather than simply an isolated male chauvinist

Surrealism in Film

William Earle, 2017-07-05 The arts were created from an appeal to freedom There can be no general aesthetic that defines how that freedom must express itself Movies offer a seductive example Of all the major arts cinema is the only one that was invented during the lifetime of some who are now living From this perspective Earle argues that filmmakers were far more inventive in their early days than now when commercial film has settled into a realist routine with occasional and timid forays into the personal and imaginative Earle suggests that unsympathetic readers should look again at the possible sources of film poetry sources that have almost dried up in the flood of boredom experienced nightly in theaters throughout the world Surrealism in Film is largely a manifesto against realism it ends in a clash of sensibilities The book encourages new exploration of absolute poetry The intention of these essays is to destroy the absolute authority of the realist sensibility Within that sensibility is everything thought necessary to sense narrative plot recognizable and nameable passions continuity and integration within the film a gist or moral for the whole affair social commentary and psychoanalytic depth meanings Earle argues for a self critique that should be performed if movies are not to remain encapsulated within its own delusions
