Realities And Visions The Church's Mission Today:

Realities and Visions Furman C. Stough, Urban T. Holmes (III), 1976 The Living Church, 1964 Artificial Intelligence, Mixed Reality, and the Redefinition of the Classroom Scott M. Martin, 2019-06-05

Artificial Intelligence Mixed Reality and the Redefinition of the Classroom highlights new interpretations, understandings, and emerging technologies that radically remake traditional educational models, structures, and systems and upend how faculty teach and students learn. It explores new educational and economic models that no longer depend on buildings to educate and describes the growing applications of artificial intelligence, machine learning, algorithms in teaching and learning. This book also defines new approaches to personalize learning, including the use of artificial cognitive learning maps that mimic a learner's biological learning map that can also be applied to create a learner's secure silhouette useful for truly personalized academic intervention recommendations. The emerging and maturing technological advances that allow these transformational opportunities may also upend the traditional educational institution, the familiar spaces, walls, and buildings, but also the delivery methods of knowledge and the learner's method of knowledge acquisition. Artificial Intelligence Mixed Reality and the Redefinition of the Classroom promises to inform the teacher, administrator, and board member to hopefully not just passively read about new and exciting innovations and tools available to improve the practice of education, but also to excite and inspire each to apply these innovations to better prepare our learners to succeed within this 4th Industrial Revolution.

Privilege and Prophecy Robert Tobin, Robert Benjamin Tobin, 2022

The Episcopal Church has long been regarded as the religion of choice among America's ruling elite. Yet after World War II, a new generation of leaders emerged eager to shake off the church's reputation as a bastion of privilege and transform it into an agent of social reform. Taking an active part in the civil rights and anti-war movements of the 1960s, these leaders struggled to draw the church's membership into their vision of change. Despite their shortcomings, these activist leaders played a pivotal role in the evolution of Episcopalianism from establishment church into a more diverse and inclusive denomination. An Alternative Vision: An Interpretation of Liberation Theology offers a complete overview of the liberation theology movement that is ideally suited for a thorough study of the major questions and important theologians that have contributed to the debate. It outlines and brings together into a single, unified account liberation theology's alternate vision for providing the possibility of meaningful historical existence for humans in the world today. The author translates the Christian vision of liberation theologians from Latin America into more general theological and cultural categories familiar to the English-speaking world, then shows how that vision makes a unified interpretation of Christian doctrine. First, liberation theology must be seen as a response to massive human suffering witnessed throughout the world today. This human agony is largely caused by human beings and the social and political structures we create, and liberation
