Genres of Philosophy Robyn Ferrell, 2017-03-02 Philosophy is textual it is written and it is read yet today much of philosophy regards itself as a kind of science sometimes reducing itself to a species of intellectual bureaucracy It is important to see these qualities as having their own aesthetic Even realism is a genre The aesthetic of the empirical and the bureaucratic the aesthetic of the rhapsodic and of the clinical in each of these the genres of philosophy are as creative as they ever were They are productive of worlds not only worlds of thought but real worlds enabled by the technological and other changes that thought has envisaged This book explores genres through the history of philosophy providing new ways of thinking about philosophical writing Exploring a wide range of both European and analytic philosophers and their works including Plato Aristotle Hume Kant Nietzsche Deleuze Wittgenstein Derrida and Rorty Genres of Philosophy explores the reading and writing of philosophers who themselves read and write revealing the textual relation to the history of philosophy While the focus of the book is in aesthetics Ferrell reveals that the interest in philosophy's writing turns out to be a metaphysical question The question becomes one of evaluating the ontological basis for writing its subject and its means of expression within a world of thought which is presently captivated by a particular aesthetic that of the empiricist Presenting fresh readings of classic texts in aesthetics and offering an original approach to the question of philosophical writing this unique analysis will prove of particular interest to readers in European philosophy the history of philosophy aesthetics and literary studies

Liturgy as Revelation Philip Caldwell, 2014-12-01 A critical issue in modern Catholic theology has been the relationship between the doctrine of revelation and the church's liturgical and sacramental practice This volume argues that although in the twentieth century Catholic theology increasingly recognized the centrality of Christology particularly the person of Christ as the locus of revelation and drew out the crucial implications of Christ as the revelation of God it was slow to connect this revelatory dynamic with the encounter that occurs within the sacramental space of the liturgy most notably the Eucharist Taking the decline of the neoscholastic enterprise in Catholic theology and the challenges posed by modernism as his point of departure Philip Caldwell traces the evolution of the Catholic theology of revelation in the twentieth century and the vital role played by the liturgical and sacramental renewal movements in reimagining this pivotal theological category Examining the specific contributions of Ren Latourelle Avery Dulles Salvatore Marsilli and Gustave Martelet against a background of pre conciliar ressourcement theology this volume provides a comprehensive account of why a Trinitarian and Christological construal of liturgy and sacraments as revelation is key to the vision that informed Vatican II and offers constructive theological and ecclesial possibilities for the future The Arts ,1921 Meditations on Living, Dying, and Loss Graham

Science in Romanticism Richard C. Sha, 2021-03-02 How did the idea of the imagination impact Romantic literature and science 2018 Winner Jean Pierre Barricelli Book Prize The International Conference on Romanticism Richard C Sha argues that scientific understandings of the imagination indelibly shaped literary Romanticism Challenging the idea that the imagination found a home only on the side of the literary as a mental vehicle for transcending the worldly materials of the sciences Sha shows how imagination helped to operationalize both scientific and literary discovery Essentially the imagination forced writers to consider the difference between what was possible and impossible while thinking about how that difference could be known Sha examines how the imagination functioned within physics and chemistry in Percy Bysshe Shelley's Prometheus Unbound neurology in Blake's Vala or The Four Zoas physiology in Coleridge's Biographia Literaria and obstetrics and embryology in Mary Shelley's Frankenstein He also demonstrates how the imagination was called upon to do aesthetic and scientific work using primary examples taken from the work of scientists and philosophers Davy Dalton Faraday Priestley Kant Mary Somerville Oersted Marcet Smellie Swedenborg Blumenbach Buffon Erasmus Darwin and Von Baer among others Sha concludes that both fields benefited from thinking about how imagination could cooperate with reason but that this partnership was impossible unless imagination's penchant for fantasy could be contained
