Traditional Christian Ethics David W. T. Brattston, 2014 Traditional Christian Ethics features two exhaustive alphabetical lists of affirmative commandments and prohibitions from the earliest Christian ethics as found in writers before the mass apostasy of 249-251 AD The affirmatives or positives list consists of what Christians are were commanded or encouraged to do The other list is of negatives or prohibitions i.e. what Christians are were discouraged from doing similarly arranged The source material for the work encompasses far more than the ten volume Ante Nicene Fathers edited by Roberts and Donaldson It also draws from all writings of the period Christian Jewish and pagan available in English or French translation plus a few Latin translations Some translations have been published only in scholarly journals and some only in the twenty first century Volumes Two and Three form a single exhaustive alphabetical list of affirmative commandments or precepts including mental attitudes i.e. what Christian ethics commanded or encouraged according to writers on Christian ethics before 250 AD Using earlier drafts of this set of books Dr Brattston's articles and booklets synthesizing early and contemporary Christianity have been published by a wide variety of denominations and ministries in every major English speaking country He hopes readers will use them as a starting point for writing articles papers and sermons of their own

The Teaching and Study of Islam in Western Universities Paul Morris, William Shepard, Paul Trebilco, Toni Tidswell, 2013-11-26 Public interest in the religion of Islam and in Muslim communities in recent years has generated an impetus for Western Universities to establish an array of Institutes and programs dedicated to the study of Islam. Despite the growth in number of programs dedicated to this study, very little attention has been paid to the appropriate shape of such programs and the assumptions that ought to underlie such a study. The Teaching and Study of Islam in Western Universities attempts to address two central questions that arise through the teaching of Islam. Firstly, what relation is there between the study of the religion of Islam and the study of those cultures that have been shaped by that religion? Secondly, what is the appropriate public role of a scholar of Islam? After extensive discussion of these questions, the authors then continue to address the wider issues raised for the academic community having to negotiate between competing cultural and philosophical demands. This edited collection provides new perspectives on the study of Islam in Western Institutions and will be an invaluable resource for students of Education and Religion in particular. Islamic Studies An Introduction to High School Teaching Stephen Sheldon Colvin, 1917 The Discourses of Epictetus Epictetus, 1877 Critical Reasoning in Contemporary Culture Richard A. Talaska, 1992-12-24. Here we have for the first time in a single volume diverse perspectives on the meaning, conditions and goals of critical reasoning in contemporary culture. Part One emphasizes critical reasoning and education, engaging the debate over the connection between critical reasoning skills and the learning of the content. Part Two offers analyses of the theoretical, methodological and historical debates concerning critical reasoning abilities. The authors represent a variety of disciplines and theoretical approaches which lend the book valuable intellectual pluralism. The book evaluates other aspects of critical thinking such as creativity, insight, questioning, learning, practical thought, interpretation, intellectual prejudice and the historical and temporary aspects of thought. The Collected Works of L. S. Vygotsky Lev Semenovich Vygotskii, 1997-03-31. In this volume readers are introduced to Vygotsky's argument for a theoretical and methodological approach to differentiate higher mental functions from the more basic brain processes that other theorists believed were at the center of the psychological apparatus. The famed Soviet psychologist's view of developmental issues as an intricately woven tapestry of functions includes analyses of the development of speech and written language, the mastering of attention and mnemonic skills, self control and the higher, more cultivated forms of behavior, the cultural age, personality and world view of children.
