Disciplining the Arts Gary D. Beckman, 2010-12-16 Increasingly the availability of entrepreneurship education is becoming a factor in college choice as fine arts students demand training that helps them create an arts based career after graduation For too long the arts academy has ignored the long term career outcomes of its graduates and has only recently begun to meaningfully address how students can earn a living as working artists and arts entrepreneurs Written to address this challenge Disciplining the Arts explores the policy programming and curricular issues in the emerging field of arts entrepreneurship By articulating the need purpose and outcomes for arts entrepreneurship education listening to graduates and identifying models this essay collection begins an important conversation on preparing students for arts self employment

Little Art Colony and US Modernism Geneva M. Gano, 2020-08-18 This book is first to historicise and theorise the significance of the early twentieth century little art colony as a uniquely modern social formation within a global network of modernist activity and production A Responsive Rhetorical Art Elenore Long, 2018-10-24 A Responsive Rhetorical Art explores the risk ridden realm of wise if always also fallible rhetorical action the productive knowledge building required to compose and to leverage texts broadly construed for the purposes of public life marked by shrinking public resources cultural conflict and deferred hope Here composition and literacy learning hold an important and distinctive cultural promise the capacity to invent with other people new ways forward in light of their own interests and values and in the face of obstacles that could not have otherwise been predicted Distributed across publicly situated strangers including citizen educators this work engages a persistent challenge of early rhetorical uptake in public life that what might become public and shared is often tacit and contested The book s approach combines attention to local cases with a transnational student organization the Nipmuck Chaubunagungamaug and the South Sudanese diaspora in Phoenix with a revisable guide for taking up wise action and methods for uncovering elusive institutional logics The Drafting of the Covenant: Documents Dangerous Art James Harold, 2020-08-21 Dangerous Art takes up the problem of judging David Hunter Miller, 1969 works of art using moral standards When we think that a work is racist or morally dangerous what do we mean James Harold approaches the topic from two angles First he takes up the moral question on its own What could it mean to say that a work of art rather than say a human being is immoral He then steps back and examines how moral evaluation fits into the larger task of evaluating artworks If an artwork is immoral what does that tell us about how to value the artwork By tackling the issue from both sides Harold demonstrates how many of the reasons previously given for thinking that works of art are immoral do not stand up to careful scrutiny While many philosophers of art have simply assumed that artworks can be evaluated morally and proceeded as though such assessments were unproblematic Harold highlights the complexities and difficulties inherent in such evaluations He argues that even when works of art are rightly condemned from a moral point of view the relationship between that moral flaw and their value as artworks is complex He instead defends a moderate skeptic version of autonomism between morality and aesthetics Employing figures and ideas from ancient Greece classical China and the Harlem Renaissance as well as William Styron's novel The Confessions of Nat Turner he argues that we cannot judge artworks in the same way that we judge people on moral grounds In this sense we can judge an artwork to be both wicked and beautiful nothing requires us to judge an artwork more or less valuable aesthetically just because we judge it to be morally bad or good Taking up complex issues at the intersection of art and ethics Dangerous Art will appeal to philosophers and students interested in art aesthetics moral philosophy and philosophy of mind Making Modernism Michael C. FitzGerald, 1996-01-01 Artists don t achieve financial success and critical acclaim during their lifetimes as a result of chance or luck Michael FitzGerald's assiduously researched book documents Picasso's courting of dealers critics collectors and curators as he established his reputation during the first forty years of the twentieth century FitzGerald describes the care patience and resourcefulness invested by Paul Rosenberg Picasso's dealer and close collaborator from 1918 to 1940 in building the financial value and public acceptance of Picasso's art The book is based on and quotes generously from previously unpublished correspondence between Picasso and dealers collectors and museum curators Millard's Review of the Far East ,1919 Vol 34 includes Special tariff conference issue Nov 6 1925 Mi-le Shih P'ina Lun Pao ,1919 American Play Marc Robinson, 2009-01-01 In this brilliant study Marc Robinson explores more than two hundred years of plays styles and stagings of American theater Mapping the changing cultural landscape from the late eighteenth century to the start of the twenty first he explores how theater has and has not changed and offers close readings of plays by O Neill Stein Wilder Miller and Albee as well as by important but perhaps lesser known dramatists such as Wallace Stevens Jean Toomer Djuna Barnes and many others Robinson reads each work in an ambitiously interdisciplinary context linking advances in theater to developments in American literature dance and visual art The author is particularly attentive to the continuities in American drama and expertly teases out recurring themes such as the significance of visuality He avoids neatly categorizing nineteenth and twentieth century plays and depicts a theater more restive and mercurial than has been recognized before Robinson proves both a fascinating and thought provoking critic and a spirited guide to the history of Global Arab Fiction Nadia Atia, Lindsey Moore, 2024-12-30 Global Arab Fiction explores twenty first American drama century fiction set in north and east Africa the Gulf the Arab east and diaspora showing diversity and connections across Arab world contexts Nadia Atia and Lindsey Moore draw on a substantial literary corpus highlighting contemporary trends in what is available to Anglophone audiences and considering how Arab fiction circulates as a global commodity Global Arab Fiction begins by positioning the Arab novel as a global phenomenon It also explores the influence of literary prizes notably the International Prize for Arabic Fiction on the enhanced international visibility of Arab fiction this century The authors tackle the thorny issue of violence in representing Arab world contexts and spotlight queer Arab desire identity and community They address the rise of speculative Arab literary modes and show how both mobility and immobility challenge a global paradigm Global Arab Fiction illuminates a vibrant body of literature rooted in but not circumscribed by a region redefined by twenty first century global geopolitics This book offers new arguments about twenty first century Arab literary tropes modes consecration routes identities and contexts It is unmissable for readers interested in contemporary postcolonial Arab Middle Eastern and world literary studies Fleeing the Universal Carl Rapp, 1998-01-01 Rapp mounts a devastating critique against the notion that literary and cultural theory since the 1960s has succeeded in effecting or at least reporting both the demise of philosophy and the emergence of a genuinely post philosophical culture Light and Shade with Chapters on Charcoal, Pencil, and Brush Drawing Anson Kent Cross, 1897 Light and Shade Anson K.
