Alexander Weiss, James E. King, Lindsay Murray, 2011-08-10 Recently there has been an increased interest in research on personality temperament and behavioral syndromes henceforth to be referred to as personality in nonhuman primates and other animals This follows in part from a general interest in the subject matter and the realization that individual differences once consigned to error terms in statistical analyses are potentially important predictors moderators and mediators of a wide variety of outcomes ranging from the results of experiments to health to enrichment programs Unfortunately while there is a burgeoning interest in the subject matter findings have been reported in a diverse number of journals and most of the methodological and statistical approaches were developed in research on human personality The proposed volume seeks to gather submissions from a variety of specialists in research on individual differences in primate temperament personality or behavioral syndromes We anticipate that chapters will cover several areas The first part of this edited volume will focus on methodological considerations including the advantages and disadvantages of different means of assessing these constructs in primates and introduce some statistical approaches that have typically been the domain of human personality research Another part of this edited volume will focus on present findings including the physiological and genetic bases of personality dimensions in primates the relationship between personality and age how personality may moderate or impact various outcomes including behavior health and well being in captive and non captive environments For the third part of the volume we hope to obtain summaries of the existing work of the authors on the evolutionary important of personality dimensions and guideposts for future directions in this new and exciting area of research

Women and Men As Friends Michael Monsour,2001-10 This book examines the friendships of women and men of all ages and studies how these friendships influence the self concepts of the friends The volume is appropriate for scholars and students in personal relationships interpersonal comm gender studie Teen Brain David Gillespie,2019-03-26 With their labile and rapidly developing brains adolescents are particularly susceptible to addiction and addiction leads to anxiety and depression What few parents will know is that what we think of as the most typical addictions and problematic teen behaviours smoking drinking drug taking sex leading to teenage pregnancy are on the decline The bad news is that a whole raft of addictions has taken their place Whereas once the dopamine hungry brain of a teenager got its fix from smoking a joint or sculling a Bundy and coke it is now turning to electronic devices for the pleasure jolt that typically comes from online playing games and engaging with social media What is doubly troubling is that unlike drugs alcohol and cigarettes electronic devices are not illicit Quite the contrary They are liberally distributed by schools and parents with few restrictions placed on their use And to add fuel to the fire emerging research shows that if addictive pathways are activated during the teen years they are there for life and that what starts as a screen addiction can lead to major substance abuse later in life

Students at Risk of School Failure José Jesús Gázquez,José Carlos Núñez,2018-10-18 The main objective of this Research Topic is to determine the conditions that place students at risk of school failure identifying student and context variables In spite of the fact that there is currently little doubt about how one learns and how to teach in some countries of the developed world there is still there is a high rate of school failure Although the term school failure is a very complex construct insofar as its causes consequences and development from the field of educational psychology the construct student engagement has recently gained special interest in an attempt to deal with the serious problem of school failure School engagement builds on the anatomy of the students involvement in school and describes their feelings behaviors and thoughts about their school experiences So engagement is an important component of students school experience with a close relationship to achievement and school failure Children who self set academic goals attend school regularly and on time behave well in class complete their homework and study at home are likely to interact adequately with the school social and physical environments and perform well in school In contrast children who miss school are more likely to display disruptive behaviors in class miss homework frequently exhibit violent behaviors on the playground fail subjects be retained and if the behaviors persist quit school Moreover engagement should also be considered as an important school outcome eliciting more or less supportive reactions from educators For example children who display school engaged behaviors are likely to receive motivational and instructional support from their teachers The opposite may also be true But what makes student engage more or less The relevant literature indicates that personal variables e g sensory motor neurodevelopmental cognitive motivational emotional behavior problems learning difficulties addictions social and or cultural variables e g negative family conditions child abuse cultural deprivation ethnic conditions immigration or school variables e g coexistence at school bullying cyberbullying may concurrently hinder engagement preventing the student from acquiring the learnings in the same conditions as the rest of the classmates
