Territorial Spatial Evolution Process and Its Ecological Resilience, volume II Xiao Ouyang, Juergen Pilz, Xue-Chao Wang, Salvador García-Ayllón Veintimilla, 2025-04-25 This Research Topic is Volume II of a series The previous volume can be found here Territorial Spatial Evolution Process and its Ecological Resilience The evolution of land space demonstrates the shift of land use types from natural and semi natural land e.g forest land and cropland to built up land altering ecosystem cycling patterns and leading to degradation of ecosystem services in terms of regulation provisioning and support At the same time production and living space crowding out ecological space brings high potential threats such as soil erosion forest productivity decline and habitat fragmentation Accordingly in response to the problems of imbalanced territorial space development inefficient resource utilization and ecological environment degradation how to improve the diversity stability and sustainability of ecosystems is an urgent issue to promote modernization and green development in the new era of territorial space evolution High resolution remote sensing images are commonly used to monitor the characteristics of national land space and ecological environment This Research Topic welcome spatial studies that use field survey remote sensing monitoring model simulation and other technologies This Research Topic aims to systematically investigate the evolutionary process of territorial space and ecological resilience to clarify the dynamic trend of ecological resilience under the action of nature and human The Research Topic also focuses on the establishment of a territorial space simulation model for enhancing ecological resilience to enhance the stability and sustainability of the ecosystem and promote the modernization of the harmonious coexistence of human beings and nature Current Catalog National Library of

Sage, 2009-09-30 Systems Engineering and Management for Sustainable Development is a component of Encyclopedia of Technology Information and Systems Management Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias This theme discusses basic principles of systems engineering and management for sustainable development including cost effectiveness assessment decision assessment tradeoffs conflict resolution and negotiation research and development policy industrial ecology and risk management strategies for sustainability The emphasis throughout will be upon the development of appropriate life cycles for processes that assist in the attainment of sustainable development and in the use of appropriate policies and systems management approaches to ensure successful application of these processes The general objectives of these chapters is to illustrate the way in which one specific issue such as the need to bring about sustainable development necessarily grows in scope such that it becomes only feasible to consider the engineering and architecting of appropriate systems when the specific issue is imbedded into a wealth of other issues The discussions provide an illustration of the many attributes and needs associated with the important task of utilizing information and knowledge enabled through systems engineering and management to engineer systems involving humans organizations and technology in the support of sustainability These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs

Recent Advances in Polyphenol Research, Volume 7 Jess Reed, Victor de Freitas, Stéphane Quideau, 2021-04-13 RECENT ADVANCES IN POLYPHENOL RESEARCH Plant polyphenols are secondary metabolites that constitute one of the most common and widespread groups of natural products They are essential plant components for adaptation to the environment and possess a large and diverse range of biological functions that provide many benefits to both plants and humans Polyphenols from their structurally simplest forms to their oligo polymeric versions i e tannin and lignin are phytoestrogens plant pigments antioxidants and structural components of the plant cell wall The interaction between tannins and proteins is involved in plant defense against predation cause astringency in foods and beverages and affect the nutritional and health properties of human and animal food plants This seventh volume of the highly regarded Recent Advances in Polyphenol Research series is edited by Jess Dreher Reed Victor Armando Pereira de Freitas and Stéphane Quideau and brings together chapters written by some of the leading experts working in the polyphenol sciences today Topics covered include Chemistry and physicochemistry Biosynthesis genetics and metabolic engineering Roles in plants and ecosystems Food nutrition and health Applied polyphenols Distilling the most recent and illuminating data available this new volume is an invaluable resource for chemists biochemists plant scientists pharmacognosists and pharmacologists biologists ecologists food scientists and nutritionists

Degradation, Ecological Restoration and Adaptive Management of Estuarine Wetlands under Intensifying Global Changes, volume II Tian Xie, Milko Alberto Jorquera, Laibin Huang, Junhong Bai, 2024-07-03 Estuarine wetlands play important roles in providing various ecosystem services such as providing habitat for living organisms preventing seawater intrusion conserving biodiversity regulating microclimate and promoting nutrient cycling and carbon sequestration Estuaries are home to many mega cities such as New York San Francisco Shanghai and Tokyo accompanied by frequent human activities These human induced disturbances have rapidly altered the structure and function of estuarine ecosystems through land reclamation pollution overfishing and altered flows Moreover estuarine wetlands have been greatly threatened by intensifying global climate changes particularly more frequent tsunamis sea level rise and large scale biological invasions which will not only affect primary and secondary productivity community composition and distribution and biodiversity but also natural ecohydrological and biogeochemical processes and will ultimately disrupt ecosystem services To mitigate such negative impacts a growing number of estuarine wetland restoration projects have been undertaken in recent years These projects aim to re-establish a variety of ecological attributes including community structure species diversity and habitat and ecological processes energy flow and nutrient cycling which implies increased resilience and resistance of estuarine ecosystems to abiotic and biotic stressors However ecological restoration practices are not always satisfactory in the face of uncertainties from intensifying global changes and socioeconomic variation Ecologists biologists environmentalists have been working on finding more effective solutions to restore degraded estuarine wetland ecosystems on a global scale The concepts of nature based solutions adaptive management or ecological networks seem to offer better prospects and are now being used to reframe estuarine restoration on critical uncertainties reduction climate change adaptation and mitigation strategies As the world enters the United Nations Decade of Ecosystem Restoration 2021 2030 countries and organizations around the world will pay greater attention to the innovation of ecological restoration underpinnings to ensure that estuarine restoration achieves its full potential in delivering social and ecological coordination and ultimately sustainable development Therefore it is important to discuss how anthropogenic disturbances and climate change affect estuarine wetlands and how the latest restoration framework can guide future practices towards conserving and restoring the biodiversity of estuarine wetlands

ECONOMICS INTERACTIONS WITH OTHER DISCIPLINES - Volume

II John M. Gowdy ,2009-10-14 Economics Interactions with Other Disciplines is the component of Encyclopedia of Development and Economic Sciences in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Economics Interactions with Other Disciplines reflects the new interdisciplinary approach of economists focusing on the issues of health and the environment The chapters range from standard applications of economic theory to more radical approaches These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers NGOs and GOs Next Generation Biomonitoring: Part 1 ,2018-02-15 NEXT GENERATION BIOMONITORING Part 1 Volume 58 the latest release in the Advances in Ecological Research series is the firstpart of a thematic on ecological biomonitoring including specific chapters that cover Aquatic volatile metabolomics using trace gases to examine ecological processes Next generation approaches to rapid monitoring Bio aerosol and the link between human health and environmental microbiology NGB in Canadian wetlands Monitoring the biodiversity and functioning of terrestrial systems via high resolution trace gas fluxes and Computational approaches to gathering biomonitoring data from social media platforms a superior solution to next generation biomonitoring challenges Provides information that relates to a thorough understanding of the field Deals with topical and important reviews on the physiology populations and communities of plants and animals WELFARE ECONOMICS AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT - Volume II Yew-Kwang Ng,Ian Wills,2009-11-17 Welfare Economics and Sustainable Development theme is a component of Encyclopedia of Development and Economic Sciences in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias This theme introduces welfare economics and sustainable development in four topics dealing with four important issues to be considered in implementing sustainable development These are the use of ethics and discounting and economic growth models in balancing the interests of future generations against those of the present the advantages and limitations of national accounting methodologies as means of evaluating sustainability the international dimensions of sustainable development arising out of environmental and economic linkages among nations and the nature of institutions required to promote sustainable development These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs Systems Science and Cybernetics - Volume II Francisco Parra-Luna,2009-10-30 The subject Systems sciences and cybernetics is the outcome of the convergence of a number of trends in a larger current of thought devoted to the growing complexity of primarily social objects and arising in response to the need for globalized treatment of such objects This has been magnified by the proliferation and publication of all manner of quantitative scientific data on such objects advances in the theories on their inter relations the enormous computational capacity provided by IT hardware and software and the critical revisiting of subject object interaction not to mention the urgent need to control the efficiency of complex systems where efficiency is understood to mean the ability to find a solution to many social problems including those posed on a planetary scale The result has been the forging of a new academically consolidated scientific trend going by the name of Systems Theory and Cybernetics with a comprehensive multi disciplinary focus and therefore apt for understanding realities still regarded to be inescapably chaotic This subject entry is subdivided into four sections The first an introduction to systemic theories addresses the historic development of the most commonly used systemic approaches from new concepts such as the so called geometry of thinking or the systemic treatment of non systemic identities to the taxonomic entropic axiological and ethical problems deriving from a general systemic cybernetic conceit Hence the focus in this section is on the historic and philosophical aspects of the subject Moreover it may be asserted today that beyond a shadow of a doubt problems in particular problems deriving from human interaction but in general any problem regardless of its nature must be posed from a systemic perspective for otherwise the obstacles to their solution are insurmountable Reaching such a perspective requires taking at least the following well known steps a statement of the problem from the determinant variables or phenomena b adoption of theoretical models showing the interrelationships among such variables c use of the maximum amount of wherever possible quantitative information available on each d placement of the set of variables in an environment that inevitably pre determines the problem That epistemology would explain the substantial development of the systemic cybernetic approach in recent decades The articles in the second section deal in particular with the different methodological approaches developed when confronting real problems from issues that affect humanity as a whole to minor but specific questions arising in human organizations Certain sub themes are discussed by the various authors always from a didactic vantage including problem discovery and diagnosis and development of the respective critical theory the design of ad hoc strategies and methodologies the implementation of both qualitative soft system methodologies and formal and quantitative such as the General System Problem Solver or the axiological operational perspective approaches cross disciplinary integration and suitable methods for broaching psychological cultural and socio political dynamisms The third section is devoted to cybernetics in the present dual meaning of the term on the one hand control of the effectiveness of communication and actions and on the other the processes of self production of knowledge through reflection and the relationship between the observing subject and the observed object when the latter is also observer and the former observed Known as second order cybernetics this provides an avenue for rethinking the validity of knowledge such as for instance when viewed through what is known as bipolar feedback processes through which interactions create novelty complexity and diversity Finally the fourth section centres around artificial and computational intelligence addressing sub themes such as neural networks the simulated annealing that ranges from statistical thermodynamics to combinatorial problem solving such as in the explanation of the role of adaptive systems or when discussing the relationship between biological and computational intelligence
