Baker, 2016-12-05

Sir James Stirling was arguably the greatest British architect of the twentieth century. This book provides the most comprehensive critical survey of Stirling's work to date, charting the development of his ideas from his formative years through his partnership with James Gowan on to his period in practice as sole partner and finally his partnership with Michael Wilford. Using archival material, extensive interviews with his partners and others who worked for him, together with analytical examination of key buildings, this detailed critical examination explains his philosophy, working method and design strategy. In doing so, it sheds new light on the atelier structure of his office and who did what on his major buildings. Geoffrey Baker is the first to analyse in depth the articulation systems used in major projects undertaken by Stirling. He confirms that the Staatsgalerie complex at Stuttgart does not demonstrate Stirling's interest in post modernism but rather an enhanced sensitivity towards context informed by his growing allegiance to the classical canon. Baker explains how this important development in his work, powerfully influenced by Karl Friedrich Schinkel, is consummated in perhaps the finest of Stirling's uncompleted works, the extension to London's National Gallery. In a discussion of his mature works, Baker explains how Stirling's work can be understood in terms of several interconnected ideas. These include surrealism, historicism, myth and metaphor, inconsistency and ambiguity, bilateral symmetry, the garden, rusticity and arcadia, and the archetype seen as the repository of the collective architectural memory. As well as discussing his interests and those who influenced Stirling, the book compares his oeuvre with that of the pioneers of modern architecture: Mies van der Rohe, Frank Lloyd Wright, Alvar Aalto and Le Corbusier. This book charts a remarkable career and offers invaluable insights not only into the masterly, timeless architecture but also into the man himself: charismatic, irreverent, courageous, serious, sometimes rude, often stubborn, belligerent yet gentle. He was endlessly inventive and deeply dedicated to his art, producing buildings that reflect all of the above: buildings that are magnificent and ultimately humane.

Parody Margaret A. Rose, 1993-09-09. In this definitive work, Margaret Rose presents an analysis and history of theories and uses of parody from ancient to contemporary times and offers a new approach to the analysis and classification of modern, late modern and post modern theories of the subject. The author's Parody: Meta Fiction (1979) was influential in broadening awareness of parody as a double-coded device which could be used for more than mere ridicule. In the present study, she both expands and revises the introductory section of her 1979 text and adds substantial new sections on modern and post modern theories and uses of parody and pastiche, which also discuss the work of theorists and writers including the Russian formalists Mikhail Bakhtin, Hans Robert Jauss, Wolfgang Iser, Julia Kristeva, Roland Barthes, Michel Foucault, Jacques Derrida, Ihab Hassan, Jean Baudrillard, Fredric Jameson, A. S. Byatt, Martin Amis.

James-Chakraborty, 2018-01-15 After World War II West Germans and West Berliners found ways of communicating both their recent sufferings and aspirations for stable communities through buildings that fused the ruins of historicist structures with new constructions rooted in the modernism of the 1910s and 20s As Modernism as Memory illustrates these postwar practices undergird the approaches later taken in influential structures created or renovated in Berlin following the fall of the Wall including the Jewish Museum and the Reichstag the New Museum and the Topography of Terror While others have characterized contemporary Berlin's museums and memorials as postmodern Kathleen James Chakraborty argues that these environments are examples of an architecture of modern memory that is much older more complex and historically contingent She reveals that churches and museums repaired and designed before 1989 in D ren Hanover Munich Neviges Pforzheim Stuttgart and Weil am Rhein contributed to a modernist precedent for the relationship between German identity and the past developed since then in the Ruhr region and in Berlin Modernism as Memory demonstrates that how one remembers can be detached from what one remembers contrasting ruins with recollections of modernism to commemorate German suffering the Holocaust and the industrial revolution as well as new spaces for Islam in the country Key Modern
