

ETHNIC RELIGIONS

Ethnic religions are those that are specific to certain ethnic groups and often originate from the culture or beliefs of that particular group.

EXPLANATION

Ethnic religions are deeply rooted and exclusive to particular ethnic or racial communities. They consider the culture, customs, convictions, and ideals of a specified group to create an incomparable faith system that reflects their identity. They practice localized rituals handed down through generations.

EXAMPLE

Shinto: Shinto is Japan's ancient religion involving belief in numerous kami (spirits) representing natural forces that inhabit mountains, rivers, rocks, etc. Shinto practices focus on ritual purity relating to food offerings at shrines called o-Mairi, where individuals can make prayers for success related to health, family, and so on (Köck et al., 2021).

Religion and the Creation of Race and Ethnicity Craig R Prentiss, 2003-06-01 The original essays in this collection shed light on the role religion and myth have played in the creation of race and ethnic categories When scholars approach religion and race they tend to focus on such issues as how African Americans have expressed Christianity or how Japanese or Mexicans have lived religiously This volume meant specifically for those new to the field offers a different perspective Prominent scholars illuminate the role religious myths have played in shaping those very social boundaries that we call races and ethnicities It asks what part did Christianity play in creating Blackness To what extent was Japanese or Mexican identity itself the product of religious life The text comprised of all original material introduces readers to the social construction of race and ethnicity and the ways in which these concepts are shaped by religious narratives It offers examples from both the U S and around the world exploring these themes in the context of places as diverse as Bosnia India Japan Mexico Zimbabwe and the Middle East The volume helps make the case that any account of the social construction of race and ethnicity will be incomplete if it fails to consider the influence of religious traditions and myths This Side of Heaven Robert J.

introduces readers to the social construction of race and ethnicity and the ways in which these concepts are shaped by religious narratives. It offers examples from both the U S and around the world exploring these themes in the context of places as diverse as Bosnia India Japan Mexico Zimbabwe and the Middle East. The volume helps make the case that any account of the social construction of race and ethnicity will be incomplete if it fails to consider the influence of religious traditions and myths. Religion Ethnicity and Transnational Migration between West Africa and Europe focuses on the West African migrants presence in Europe and the way they negotiate religion and ethnicity in a new context. Special attention is given to the diversity of religious background of the migrants and to exploration of interreligious especially Christian Muslim relations. These dimensions of transnational migration have not been widely researched yet. After introducing the new African religious diaspora the situation of the Senegalese Ghanaian and Fulbe migrants both Christian and Muslim in France Spain the Netherlands Germany and Switzerland is analysed. The impact the migrants make on their communities of origin in Africa is also taken into account. Attridge, Dale B. Martin, 2007. What is a Galilean? What were the criteria of defining a person as a Galilean archaeologically or with respect to literary sources such as Josephus or the rabbis? What role did religion play in the process of identity formation? Twenty two articles based on papers read at conferences at Cambridge Wuppertal and Yale by experts from 7 countries shed light on a complex region the pivotal geographic and cultural context of both earliest Christianity and rabbinic Judaism. In these papers ancient Galilee emerges as a dynamic region of continuous change in which religion ethnicity and identity were not static monoliths but had to be negotiated in the context of a multiform environment subject to different influences. Religion, Ethnicity and Xenophobia in the Bible Brian Rainey, 2018-11-21. Religion Ethnicity and Xenophobia in the Bible looks at some of the Bible's most hostile and violent anti foreigner texts and raises critical questions about how students of the Bible and ancient Near East should grapple with ethnicity and foreignness conceptually hermeneutically and theologically. The author uses insights from social psychology cognitive psychology anthropology sociology and ethnic studies to develop his own perspective on ethnicity and foreignness. Starting with legends about Mesopotamian kings from the third millennium BCE then navigating the Deuteronomistic and Holiness traditions of the Hebrew Bible and finally turning to Deuterocanonicals and the Apostle Paul the book assesses the diverse and often inconsistent portrayals of foreigners in these ancient texts. This examination of the negative portrayal of foreigners in biblical and Mesopotamian texts also leads to a broader discussion about how to theorize ethnicity in biblical studies ancient studies and the humanities. This volume will be invaluable to students of ethnicity and society in the Bible at all levels. Ethnicity and Religion Joseph Ruane, Jennifer Todd, 2014-06-11 Religion has regained political prominence in the twenty first century and not least for the manner in which it intersects with ethnicity Many ethnic conflicts have a strong religious dimension and religion appears as a powerful force for mobilisation solidarity and violence Religion and ethnicity can each act as a powerful base of identity group formation and communal conflict They can also overlap with ethnic and religious boundaries coinciding partially or completely internally nested or intersecting This volume maps the different forms of intersection cases where religion is prioritised in private life and ethnicity in public where each coexists in tension in political life and where the distinctions reinforce each other with dynamic effects It maps the different patterns with case studies and comparisons from Ireland Northern Ireland France Zimbabwe Ghana and Malaysia It shows how ordinary people construct their solidarities and identities using both ethnic and religious resources This opens up analysis of the socially transformative as well as politically antagonistic potential of religion in situations of ethnic division This book was published as a special issue of Ethnopolitics

Religion, Ethnicity and Social Change L. Fawcett, 2000-03-02 In Religion Ethnicity and Social Change the author argues that the recent focus on religious fundamentalism in ethnic conflict has obscured the ambiguous role of mainstream Western religion The book examines the relationship between the religious and secular spheres at a time of rapid transition in South Africa and Northern Ireland

This Side of Heaven : Race, Ethnicity, and Christian Faith PhD Program in Intercultural Studies Trinity Evangelical Divinity School Robert J. Priest Director, Illinois Alvaro L. Nieves Professor of Sociology Wheaton College, 2006-11-10 In recent years Christian scholars have become increasingly aware of their responsibility to recognize and respond to the challenges posed by ethnic and racial diversity Similarly historically white Christian colleges universities seminaries and congregations are struggling to transform themselves into communities that are welcoming to minorities and sensitive to their needs This collection of all new essays is meant to enable those who are engaged in these initiatives to understand the historical linkage of race ethnicity and Christianity and to explore the ways in which constructive change can be achieved The volume is the product of a long term study funded by the Wabash Center for Teaching and Learning in Theology In the course of this study it emerged that many Christian institutions now offer courses on race and ethnicity but that there is very little relevant literature written from the standpoint of rigorous Christian scholarship This book is intended to fill that gap The authors address such questions as What has been the history of Christian churches and leaders in relation to slavery segregation and apartheid Which biblical texts and doctrines have historically been employed on behalf of racial projects and which are relevant to the racial and ethnic crises of our day How have religious leaders constructively engaged such crises How do congregations shape the values civic commitments understandings and sensitivities of their membership How can local congregations be sites for racial reconciliation and justice initiatives Are there positive models for how churches and other religious institutions have helped to bring healing to racial and ethnic tensions and divides How might Christians in the professions work to bring justice to business education government and other areas of society When good intentions fail to accomplish desired ends how do we analyze what went wrong Written by an interracial and interethnic team of scholars representing diverse disciplines this book will meet a pressing need and set a new standard for the discussion of race and ethnicity in the Christian context Ethnicity, Race, Religion Katherine M.
