Methods of Private Religious Living Henry Nelson Wieman, 1929 The Christian Century, 1928 Christian Education, 1928 The Transition, Initiated by Copernicus and Galileo, from Religion to Science Lawrence Wood, 2017-07-06 Have you ever wondered Why two diametrically opposite explanations of ourselves Religion and Science coexist As this book explains the reason is one explanation began before the other The first explanations development began thousands of years ago when our gradually evolving brains and minds awoke to an unknown possibly threatening environment Unfortunately attempts to explain this strange environment were frustrated by illusions such as the apparent motion of the sun moon and stars around the earth which clouded our limited observational capability such as our inability detect constant motion thwarting the developing human minds ability to correctly explain observations These limitations ultimately led to a totally incorrect explanation we reside in a very small young unchanging universe revolving about us created by a supernatural being God a belief system termed Religion About 500 years ago the formulation of the second explanation was initiated when astute investigators such as Copernicus and Galileo using improved new observation instruments such as the telescope and microscope began to realize the existing illusion based religious explanations could not possibly be correct Author Lawrence Wood introduces the brilliant investigators who resolved the illusions by developing radically new explanations of the illusions an explanation system termed Science many still cannot accept hence the coexistence of religion and science If you are one of those trying to bridge the gulf between your religious beliefs which have become increasingly difficult to accept and the strange new world of science this book will help you immeasurably

International Journal of Religious Education, 1926 Religious Experience and Scientific Method Henry Nelson Wieman, 1926 Religion and the Philosophy of Life Gavin Flood, 2019-02-14 Religion and the Philosophy of Life considers how religion as the source of civilization transforms the fundamental bio sociology of humans through language and the somatic exploration of religious ritual and prayer Gavin Flood offers an integrative account of the nature of the human based on what contemporary scientists tell us especially evolutionary science and social neuroscience as well as through the history of civilizations Part one contemplates fundamental questions and assumptions what the current state of knowledge is concerning life itself what the philosophical issues are in that understanding and how we can explain religion as the driving force of civilizations in the context of human development within an evolutionary perspective It also addresses the question of the emergence of religion and presents a related study of sacrifice as fundamental to religions views about life and its transformation Part two offers a reading of religions in three civilizational blocks India China and Europe the Middle East particularly as they came to formation in the medieval period It traces the history of how these civilizations have thematised the idea of life itself Part three then takes up the idea of a life force in part three and traces the theme of the philosophy of life through to modern times On the one hand the book presents a narrative account of life itself through the history of civilizations and on the other presents an explanation of that narrative in terms of life

Teaching New Religious Movements David G. Bromley, 2007-05-25

Since its inception around 1970, the study of New Religious Movements (NRMs) has evolved into an established multidisciplinary field. At the same time, both the movements and the scholars who study them have been the subjects of intense controversy. In this volume, a group of senior NRM scholars who have been instrumental in the development of the field will offer pivotal essays that present the basics of NRM scholarship along with guidance for teachers on classroom use. The book is organized topically around subjects that are both central to the study of NRMs and likely to be useful to non-specialists. Part I contains examinations of the definitional boundaries of the area of study, varying disciplinary perspectives on NRMs, unique methodological and ethical problems encountered in the study of NRMs, and the controversies that have confronted scholars studying NRMs and the movements themselves. Part II examines a series of topics central to teaching about NRMs: the larger sociocultural significance of the movements, their distinctive symbolic and organizational features, the interrelated processes of joining and leaving NRMs, the organization of gender roles in NRMs, media and popular culture portrayals of the movements, the occurrence of corruption and abuse within movements, and violence by and against NRMs. Part III provides informational resources for teaching about NRMs, which are particularly important in a field where knowing the biases of sources is crucial. With its interdisciplinary approach, the volume provides comprehensive, accessible information and perspectives on NRMs. It is an invaluable guide for instructors navigating this scholarly minefield.
