Values, Human Rights and Religious Education Jeff Astley,Leslie J. Francis,David W. Lankshear,2018 This

volume brings together three key and contested areas facing educationalists within schools colleges and universities values education religious education and human rights education Challenges and opportunities within each of these three areas may be illuminated and explored by bringing them into creative dialogue These core constructs were explored in a recent seminar convened by the International Seminar on Religious Education and Values the leading international association for religious educators and values educators across the world This volume presents twenty one key contributions made to the seminar spanning both conceptual and empirical perspectives and rooted in both religious and secular traditions It draws together a unique collection of international perspectives on the interlocking themes of values human rights and religious education

Values in Education Eva Burman,Maxine Cooper,Lorraine Ling,Joan Stephenson,Joan

Stephenson*Nfa,2005-06-22 Based upon an empirical study involving training and practising teachers from seven countries this book investigates the various attitudes and practices towards the teaching of values and their place in the curriculum Countries covered include Australia Eire Israel Slovenia Switzerland UK and USA The findings of each of the countries are compared and contrasted in the light of the diverse cultural conditions which are apparent This book brings together various approaches currently taken in values education and also suggests a theoretical foundation for decision making The book culminates in practical examples drawn from the evidence of the research project which teachers can adapt for use with their own pupils This book provides a challenging and imaginative perspective on values in education and comes at a time when educators face a new era which demands dynamic transformative and reflective approaches

Values

Special Religious Education in Australia and its Value to Contemporary Society Zehavit Gross,Suzanne D. Rutland,2021-02-22 This book explores the advantages of and challenges concerning Special Religious Education SRE in multicultural Australia and argues for the need for General Religious Education GRE as well. Through the lens of the most recent scholarship and drawing on an in depth qualitative study and specific case studies the book examines the current debate on the role of religious education within government schools. It addresses key concepts of values education spirituality health and wellbeing and cultural and religious identity. It analyses why it is important to retain SRE together with GRE as government policy. It explores highly relevant controversial and contested issues regarding SRE including the 30% of Australia's population who declare themselves as having no religion and brings fresh insights to the table. While secularization has increased in both the national and international spheres there has also been an increase in fundamentalism within religious beliefs. Events such as the September 11 terror attacks and the more recent mass shootings by white supremacists and eco fascists in Christchurch New Zealand and Pittsburgh and San Diego in the USA are reminders that religion is still a major actor in the twenty first century. This poses new challenges for the relationship between church and state and demonstrates the need to revisit the role of religious education within government schools. While the importance of GRE is generally acknowledged SRE has increasingly come under attack by some researchers and teacher and parent bodies as being inappropriate and contradictory to the values of the postmodern world. On the other hand the key stakeholders from all the faith traditions in Australia wish to retain the SRE classes in government schools. The book addresses this burning issue and shows that it is relevant not only for Australia but also globally.

Value education and human rights R. P. Shukla, 2004 International Handbook of the Religious, Moral and Spiritual Dimensions in Education Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Kathleen Engebretson, Robert Jackson, Andrew McGrady, 2007-06-04

In today's pluralistic world many cultures feel a shift in the relationship of people with religious traditions. A corresponding movement is a resurgence of interest in human spirituality. This Handbook presents the views of education scholars who engage these concepts every day in a collection of essays reflecting the international state of the discipline. Out of these rises a vision for the emergence of a just and peaceful world.

The Routledge International Handbook of Education, Religion and Values James Arthur, Terence Lovat, 2013-08-21

The academic fields of religion and values have become the focus of renewed interest in contemporary thinking about human activity and its motivations. The Routledge International Handbook of Education Religion and Values explores and expands upon a range of international research related to this revival. The book provides an authoritative overview of global issues in religion and values surveying the state of the academic area in contributions covering a wide range of topics. It includes emerging controversial and cutting edge contributions as well as investigations into more established areas. International authorities Arthur and Lovat have brought together experts from across the world to examine the complexity of the field of study. The handbook is organised around four key topics which focus on both the importance of religion and values as broad fields of human enquiry as well as in their application to education inter agency work and cross cultural endeavours. The Conceptual World of Religion and
