Renaissance Women Writers:

Women Writers of the Renaissance and Reformation Katharina M. Wilson, 1987 The dawn of humanism in the Renaissance presented privileged women with great opportunities for personal and intellectual growth Sexual and social roles still determined the extent to which a woman could pursue education and intellectual accomplishment but it was possible through the composition of poetry or prose to temporarily offset hierarchies of gender to become equal to men in the act of creation Edited by Katharina M Wilson this anthology introduces the works of twenty five women writers of the Renaissance and Reformation among them Marie Denton a Swiss evangelical reformer whose writings were so successful they were banned during her lifetime Gaspara Stampa a cultivated courtesan of Venetian aristocratic circles who wrote lyric poetry that has earned her comparisons to Michelangelo and Tasso H Lisenne de Crenne a French aristocrat who embodied the true spirit of the Renaissance feminist writing both as novelist and as champion of her sex Helene Kottanner Austrian chambermaid to Queen Elizabeth of Hungary whose memoirs recall her daring theft of the Holy Crown of Saint Stephen for her esteemed mistress and Lady Mary Sidney Wroth the first Englishwoman known to write a full length work of fiction and compose a significant body of secular poetry Offering a seldom seen counterpoint to literature written by men Women Writers of the Renaissance and Reformation presents prose and poetry that have never before appeared in English as well as writings that have rarely been available to the nonspecialist The women whose writings are included here are united by a keen awareness of the social limitations placed upon their creative potential of the strained relationship between their gender and their work This concern invests their writings with a distinctive voice one that carries the echoes of a male aesthetic while boldly declaring battle against it

Women Writers of the English Renaissance Kim Walker, 1996 Did women have a Renaissance Over the last decade much of the most eminent and significant scholarship in Renaissance studies has attempted to answer this question Kim Walker's Women Writers of the English Renaissance takes a commanding lead among the responses In a careful current and wide ranging survey of Renaissance women writers Walker examines the social educational economic and ideological constraints under which women wrote their attempts to move from the margin to the center of literary production and their establishment of careers as professional writers Both major and minor writers poets diarists letter writers romance writers playwrights and biographers are discussed here in revealing reliable and provocative ways Major writers including Mary Sidney Elizabeth Cary and Mary Wroth are presented in a new more broad perspective Walker's synthesis of cultural history and literary criticism makes this volume a significant accomplishment that should be read by every scholar and student of the culture and literature of Tudor and Stuart England

Redeeming Eve Elaine V. Beilin, 2014-07-14 An introduction to women writers of the English Renaissance which takes up 44 works many as thumbnail sketches shows how women's writing was hampered by the assumption that poets were male by restriction to pious subject matter by the doctrine that only silent women are virtuous by criticism that praised women as patrons or muses and ignored their writing and above all by crippling educational theories Originally published in 1987 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Evans, Anne C. Little, 1995 This volume offers diverse perspectives on the recently published Memorandum of Martha Moulsworth a fascinating woman who in 1632 wrote one of the first autobiographical poems in the English language Moulsworth's poem which issues a startlingly early and radical call for educational equality provides one of our best inside views of the life of a Renaissance woman and the poem is also one of the few writings about widowhood written by an early modern widow Yet the poem is also highly sophisticated as a work of art and it has already proven its appeal to a wide variety of readers including both beginning students and noted scholars and critics The present book builds on the first edition of Moulsworth's poem My Name Was Martha A Renaissance Woman's Autobiographical Poem Locust Hill 1993 The new volume offers extensive additional biographical information about Moulsworth herself and it also presents readings of the poem as a poem and as a piece of autobiography The book also considers such broader issues as the myth of the muses the role of education in the Renaissance the status of wives and widows and the ideals and realities of early modern marriage Moulsworth's poem emerges as an even richer work when viewed from so many different perspectives Moulsworth however is hardly the only Renaissance woman writer examined in this volume Many essayists use Moulsworth as a touchstone for discussing numerous other authors including such figures as Roger Ascham Anne Bradstreet Margaret Cavendish the Duchess of Newcastle Lady Anne Clifford An Collins Queen Elizabeth I Elizabeth Grymston Lady Elizabeth Langham Aemilia Lanyer Bathsua Makin Elizabeth Melville Richard Mulcaster Katherine Philips Mary Sidney the Countess of Pembroke Rachel Speght Hester Wiat and Lady Mary Wroth to name a few
