Renoir And His Contemporaries:

Renoir and His Contemporaries Franz Wunderlich, 1989 Alfredo Boulton and His Contemporaries Ariel Jiménez, 2008 Alfredo Boulton 1908 1995 was Venezuela's foremost cultural and aesthetic observer of the 20th century. An art critic, cultural historian, and photographer, he was highly influential in the development of modernist art and discourse and of cultural self-definition in Venezuela and the surrounding region. Boulton's diverse contributions serve as a point of departure in this remarkable selection of art historical and critical texts by many of the prominent Latin American thinkers of this period, figures whose works and ideas helped to shape the face of contemporary Venezuela. Through the manifestos, correspondences, and critical writings of these notable voices of the day, this anthology traces Venezuela's struggle toward modernity and toward a successful autonomous identity on the international cultural scene. In addition to historical writings, the volume includes newly written critical and explanatory essays by contemporary scholars providing context and insight to these significant texts that have become constant reference points for generations of artists, critics, and art historians.

Queer Thing, Painting - Forty Years in the World of Art Walter Pach, 2013-05-31 Walter Pach was an artist, critic, lecturer, art adviser, and art historian who wrote extensively about modern art and championed the cause of modern art. Through his numerous books, articles, and translations of European art texts, Pach brought the emerging modernist viewpoint to the American public. Pach's fluency in French, German, and Spanish made it possible for him to understand and interpret the avant garde ideas developing in Europe and translate them for the English speaking audience. He was able to communicate personally with many noted artists in Europe and Mexico and mediate between gallery dealers and museum curators on their behalf. This is an interesting look at the American art scene and a little peek at the Parisian scene and how Americans especially appreciated art in the late nineteenth and early 20th century.

The main themes and aims of this book are understanding aesthetics, contemporary art, and the end of the avant garde, not from the traditional viewpoint of the metaphysics of the beautiful and the sublime but rather through close connection to the techno-genesis of virtual worlds. This book tackles problems in contemporary art theory such as the body in space and time of digital technologies along with other issues in visual studies and image science. Further intentions exhibit the fundamental reasons for the disappearance of the picture in the era of virtual reality, starting from the notion of contemporary art as realized iconoclasm: art has no world for its image. The author argues that the iconoclasm of contemporary art has severe consequences. This text appeals to philosophers of art and those interested in contemporary art theory. Exhibition of French Paintings, 1936 Philadelphia John Lukacs, 2017-07-05. An unorthodox historian known and respected for his work on the grand conflicts of nations and civilizations, John Lukacs has peopled a smaller canvas in this volume with seven colourful figures who flourished in Philadelphia before 1950. Their stories are framed by chapters that describe the city in 1900 and in 1950. The Philadelphians selected are a political boss, Boies Penrose, a magazine mogul, Edward Bok, an elegant writer, Agnes Repplier, an impetuous diplomat, William C. Bullitt, a lawyer, George Wharton Pepper, a prophet of decline, Owen Wister, and a great art collector, Albert C. Barnes. The political boss was perhaps the most monumental political figure of his age. The magazine mogul was the most famous embodiment of the American success story during his lifetime. The now almost forgotten writer was the Jane Austen of the essay. The diplomat was the most brilliant of ambassadors. The terrible tempered collector was a radical proponent of his unusual theory of art. Through these seven portraits, Lukacs paints a picture of Philadelphia that is like all living things, having the power to change out of recognition.
